House OKs tough bill on abortion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives have approved a tough new abortion bill making physicians criminally liable for taking the life of a fetus alive at the time of birth.

The vote Wednesday was 76-20 after more than three hours of debate that included quotations from the Bible and charges that the Catholic Church was attempting "to impose its dictates and will on the populace."

In other action during a marathon day and night floor session, the House voted 76-12 to give a tax break to owners of property used for recreational purposes. It added an amendment, however, that denies the break to country club operators and others who discriminate on the basis of sex, race, religion, or national origin.

The tax proposal, which would go before voters in the November election, would authorize assessment of land used exclusively for outdoor recreation on the basis of its current use. Presently, the assessments are on the basis of market value.

House sponsors said the proposal would be a companion of one already on the ballot that gives the same lower assessment to lands used exclusively for farming. In both instances, the forgiven taxes would be recovered on sale of the land or its conversion to another use.

The recreational lands resolution now returns to the Senate for consideration of the discrimination amendment.

House Judiciary Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, sponsored the abortion bill, which he said resulted from recommendations of the Catholic Conference of Ohio and three months of deliberations in the Judiciary Committee.

Wilkowski said since records are not now required, "Wholesale slaughter could be taking place around the state."

Some opponents claimed the measure cannot meet court tests.

Others—including Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights—said the bill would create a dilemma among judges seeking to interpret such language as "a fetus born alive."

Rep. Frank H. Mayfield Jr., R-65 Cincinnati, was of 10 Republicans who opposed the bill, charged that its "Catholic sponsors" were opposed to abortion for any reason. He asserted it is wrong "for one church to seek to impose its dictates and will upon the populace."

Mayfield was ruled out of order by the speaker after shouts of protests around the chamber.

Rep. M. Joan Douglass, R-61 Mansfield, offered an unsuccessful amendment that would have made the fathers of children lost through abortions liable to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine, or both.

In other business, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

—Revise the reserve requirements of building and loan associations.

—Allow game protectors to make arrests on Division of Wildlife lands and making other revisions in wildlife laws, including an increase from $5 to

Beef ceilings off Sept. 12; fuel controls ordered

Phase 4 program means higher food prices

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are facing significantly higher food prices now that President Nixon has lifted the price freeze from the food industry as part of his Phase 4 anti-inflation program.

Only beef remains subject to strict price ceilings, and then only until Sept. 12. Lifting the freeze from the food industry was Nixon's first move into his new Phase 4 wage and price controls system.

Non-food items will remain under the provisions of the 60-day freeze announced June 13 by Nixon, until its expiration Aug. 12. At that time non-food goods will become subject to Phase 4 regulations.

There will be price ceilings for gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel under Phase 4, and big business will be required to absorb some of its increased costs by cutting down on profit margins.

The President said in a statement issued Wednesday: "There is no way, with or without controls, to prevent substantial rise of food prices."

"The evidence is becoming overwhelming that only if a rise of food prices is permitted how can we avoid shortages and still higher prices later," he said.

Prices are likely to increase the most in the next few days for poultry and pork products, and fresh fruits and vegetables, all of which were reported to be severely pinched by the price freeze.

The President said he would do "everything in my power" to end wage and price controls by the end of the year, but said he did not think it wise to set a specific date for lifting controls.

Palestine terrorist frees 15 hostages

ATHENS (AP) — An armed Palestinian gunmen held 15 persons hostage in an Athens hotel for more than four hours today, then released them and was driven to Athens Airport with three Middle East ambassadors.

The gunman held the hostages at a hotel after failing to smash his way into the local offices of the Israeli airline.

Late this afternoon he walked out of the hotel in the company of the Iraqi, Libyan and Egyptian ambassadors. All four entered the Iraqi's car and drove off toward the airport.

The gunman had demanded safe passage out of Greece. At first he had asked to be accompanied to the airport by Deputy Premier Stylianos Patakos, threatening to kill the hostages if his demand was not met.

Patakos refused, according to a police official who quoted the deputy premier as saying: "I won't negotiate with every bum around.'"

By then the Libyan and Egyptian ambassadors had arrived at the luxury Amalia Hotel to talk to the gunman. He spoke only Arabic.

The hostages included American guests in the hotel, two Greek policemen, a priest, some children and hotel employes. The Palestinian took 40 persons hostage at the hotel initially, but released all but 15 of them.

The terrorist, who appeared to be in his late 20s, was armed with a submachine gun, two hand grenades and two revolvers. He fired a burst from his submachine gun, splattering the walls of the hotel lobby, but hit no one.

"I am not afraid to die," the terrorist told Associated Press correspondent Philip Dopoulos. "I have no desire to live. After I shoot these people, I will pull the pin out of my hand grenade and kill myself and everyone else around.

"Get me Patakos or else."

The man said he came from "occupied Palestine" but did not give his name.

He appeared first at the glass front doors of the local office of El Al, the Israeli airline, located on Constitution Square, the busy center of the Greek capital.

As he swung open the outer doors, a security guard inside spotted his submachine gun and tripped the automatic lock on the inner doors.

Scores of police rushed to the square, roped off the area, diverted traffic and began a search of the buildings in the area.

Nixon plan: tight money, budget

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's economic policy now consists of tight money, a tight budget and tight wageprice controls.

The question is whether the three together will cool off the booming economy and head the nation into a recession next year or do what Nixon wants: halt the inflationary spiral and lead to steady economic growth with a low unemployment rate.

In his effort to take the steam out of the boom in price increases that began early this year, Nixon has clamped down harder on businesses with tougher price controls and has trimmed the federal budget to the point that he withheld billions of dollars appropriated by Congress.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board has tightened monetary policy so much that interest rates are at some of their highest levels ever.

Although price rises will be allowed, the President structured the system to prevent another big price bulge such as the one that occurred after Phase 2 controls were removed.

To strike another blow at inflation, he announced that he will try to trim several billion dollars from federal spending this fiscal year to balance federal budgets for the first time in years.

"The budget policy is a return to that old-time religion: balance the budget," Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz told reporters.

There may be some economists who believe that Nixon is overdoing it and the combination of tight money, tight budget and tight controls will trigger a 1974 recession.

But the President remained confident. He said in a statement the American economy is strong, employment is up and so is production. "There is every prospect for further increases of output, employment and incomes."

Although Phase 4 will be tough, Nixon said it is designed so that wage-price controls can be eliminated, thereby returning to a free economy.

The President said moving back to a free economy immediately "would most likely turn into a detour, back into a swamp of even more lasting controls."

Nixon said he would do everything in his power to lift the restrictions by the end of the year.

The controls system is the most complex of all those Nixon has put into effect. There are separate price rules in the food industry, the petroleum industry, the insurance industry, the health industry, the construction industry and the rest of the economy.

House passes bill to limit war powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has ignored a veto threat by President Nixon and approved a bill that would require presidents to halt within four months any war commitments they make unless Congress grants approval.

The bill was passed 244 to 170 after Nixon served notice by telegram that "I am unalterably opposed to and must veto any bill containing the dangerous and unconstitutional restrictions" in it.

Nixon's telegram was read to the House by Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, who objected to the bill saying it would let Congress force a war halt in 120 days by "twiddling our thumbs" and doing nothing.

"If we don't want a conflict continued the Congress should have the courage and the guts to stand up and vote against it," Ford said.

The bill also came under fire from the House's most outspoken war critics, who contended it would give presidents authority to wage war on their own for 120 days.

"I think there are enough loopholes in this bill to fly sorties of B52s through," said Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y.

Nixon specifically cited the bill's two major features as the "dangerous and constitutional restraints" he said he would have to veto.

The first would require presidents to pull back any U.S. combat force commitments or force enlargements they made on their own in 120 days, unless Congress approved the commitments by then.

The second provides that Congress can order the war action halted any time during the 120 days with a House-Senate concurrent resolution that presidents could not veto.

Ohio Senate acts on major items

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bills setting up a statewide skin cancer detection program and providing for the issuance of temporary watercraft and outboard motor permits were up for floor consideration in the Ohio Senate today.

Sunday horse racing in Ohio got final Senate approval, 23-9, Wednesday and was sent to Gov. John J. Gilligan. An aide to the governor said he had indicated earlier he would sign the measure into law.

Senators approved a number of bills Wednesday, then broke into debate on an unsuccessful resolution asking that lethal experiments on beagle puppies be halted at Wright Patterson Air Force Base.

Toledo Sen. Marigene Valiquette D-11, Toledo, offered the resolution, saying state humane societies had been unable to take action against the experiment, because it is being conducted at a federal installation.

Base officials have confirmed about 250 puppies are being exposed to toxic gases to test exposure limits. The animals' vocal cords are cut to prevent them from barking, they said.

Sen. Robert O'Shaughnessey D-15, Columbus, said the experiments "cannot be equated with experiments to further human life. They obviously further the cause of warfare to destroy human life."

But several Republicans argued that base officials should be allowed to present their side of the story before lawmakers voted.

Also approved and sent to the governor for his consideration were bills expanding the duties of the Secretary of State to cover automatic voting equipment, and bringing office terms of local school superintendents into line with those of county and city superintendents.

The bill was passed and sent to the House that would raise the monetary jurisdiction of municipal courts from $5,000 to $10,000. The measure is expected to decrease the case loads in common pleas courts, sponsors said.

Senators also approved bills requiring the use of motor vehicle headlights in fog, rain, or snow, and authorizing pay increases for police and firemen for their educational achievements.

Other bills approved would:

—Give $6.6 million for operating costs and capital improvements for medical education at Wright State University.

—Require a judge to appoint an interpreter for persons with a speech or hearing defects.

—Allow counties to adopt building regulations by posting a notice.

—Reduce from six to five the number of paid holidays for non-teaching employes who work less than ten months.

—Exempt churches and nonpublic schools from delinquent taxes, penalties and interest accrued by failure to apply for tax exemption.

Aides contradict Mitchell testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pair of John N. Mitchell's key denials conflict with sworn testimony by two former associates.

Mitchell, former attorney general and President Nixon's campaign director, denied approving the Watergate wiretapping or assisting actively in the cover-up.

But his friend and former campaign associate Frederick C. LaRue told the Senate Watergate committee Wednesday he couldn't substantiate Mitchell's claim to have rejected the wiretapping.

And LaRue sided with former campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder in accusing Mitchell of suggesting the destruction of incriminating wiretap files after the Watergate bugging crew was caught last year.

Mitchell hinted in his testimony that he expected LaRue to back up his denials. That would have left Magruder, who accused Mitchell of approving the wiretapping, odd man out.

But, when LaRue testified, it was the other way around.

In contrast to Mitchell's denials, LaRue and Magruder have admitted their own active roles in the cover-up. LaRue already has pleaded guilty to a single count of conspiracy to obstruct justice, and Magruder said he reached a similar bargain with federal prosecutors.

Here is what the three have said:

WIRETAP APPROVAL— Magruder said Mitchell and LaRue, at a March 30, 1972, meeting in Key Biscayne, Fla., both reluctantly agreed to approve a $250,000 plan to wiretap the Democrats. "Mr. Mitchell agreed to the project," Magruder said. "It was specifically approval for initial entry into the Democratic National Committee headquarters."

Mitchell denied it and said he actually disapproved the plan as he had done to two earlier wiretap proposals. He said his veto was unmistakeable: "This again. We don't need this. Out. I am tired of hearing about it. Let's not discuss it any further."

LaRue's story was different from either Mitchell's or Magruder's. LaRue said he argued against the plan as not being worth the risk. And he said he didn't hear Mitchell approve or disapprove the plan. Rather, he quoted Mitchell as saying "Well, this is not something that will have to be decided at this meeting."

LaRue said Magruder left an hour after that and he didn't recall any time when Mitchell might have given Magruder a veto or an approval out of LaRue's hearing.

Watergate probers hear more testimony on payoffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Nixon campaign aide Frederick C. LaRue testified today that he, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III were all aware of a "grand cover-up scheme" to hide the facts behind the Watergate wiretapping.

LaRue told the Senate Watergate committee that when he sought Mitchell's advice in March of this year whether to make a $75,000 payment to one of the Watergate lawyers, Mitchell knew the money was part of the cover-up.

Under questioning by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, the bespectacled Mississippian continued to peel back, dollar by dollar, the story of the payoffs in the Watergate cover-up.

LaRue also said that the $12,000 he took from White House and campaign funds didn't completely cover his own personal expenses in carrying cover-up cash.

Inouye asked LaRue what Dean knew about the $75,000 payment. "He knew it was part of a grand cover-up scheme?" Inouye asked.

"I think that would be a safe assumption," LaRue said.

Q. Were you aware?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was Mitchell aware this was part of the grand cover-up scheme?

A. I would say, Senator, that that is a correct assumption.

The $75,000 payment was the last one LaRue said he made. He said he gave it to William O. Bittman, lawyer for Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt, shortly before Hunt was sentenced on March 23 for his part in the break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

LaRue said Dean, who had helped direct earlier payments to Bittman and others, refused to authorize the final $75,000 and suggested he contact Mitchell. LaRue said he told Mitchell the money was for legal fees, and that Mitchell advised LaRue to go ahead and make the payment.

In another development today, special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox conferred with Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who chaired closed hearings of the Senate Armed Services Committee into an alleged administration effort to involve the Central Intelligence Agency in the Watergate cover-up.

Meanwhile, the committee waited for President Nixon to announce whether he will voluntarily surrender copies of tape-recorded conversations he had with several of the principal figures in the Watergate affair.

And, it was reported that the White House has obtained two sworn statements that President Lyndon B. Johnson installed hidden microphones and telephone taping devices in the White House.

"My hopes are great, my expectations are small," Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., told reporters Wednesday when asked about the expected reply from Nixon.

"I don't know when my patience will run out," Ervin said. "I have a sweet disposition."

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., the vice chairman, was asked the same question and replied: "Not only hasn't the mountain moved, it hasn't quivered."

LaRue testified that he could not back up former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell's claim to have vetoed plans for electronic surveillance of the Democratic National Committee offices in the Watergate.

And LaRue, a friend, staff adviser and campaign associate of the President, said that shortly after the Watergate arrests on June 17, 1972, he had heard Mitchell tell campaign aide Jeb Stewart Magruder he burned incriminating files.

But most of LaRue's afternoon of testimony concerned the payments he

Phase 4 program

—The price freeze is lifted immediately for all food, except beef, permitting the passing on to consumers of increased costs for raw agricultural products that have occurred since June 8. Raw agricultural products remain exempt from controls.

—It will be a mandatory program, requiring advance 30-day notification of price increases by businesses with annual sales of more than $100 million.

—Small businesses employing 60 persons or less will be exempt. So will the lumber industry, public utilities, rents, interest rates and long-term contracts for coal deliveries.

—The guidelines for wage increases will be kept at 5.5 per cent, plus a seven-tenths of one per cent hike in fringe benefits, the same guidelines in effect during the Phase 2 and Phase 3 programs.

—The Health service industry—hospitals and institutions—will be exempted from the freeze at once and returned to the mandatory controls that existed specifically for the health industry under Phase 3. It was not immediately clear how doctors and dentists would be affected.

—The insurance and construction industries will have special regulations.

The objective of Phase 4 was stated as "to moderate the rate of inflation existing during the first six months of 1973 with a minimum adverse effect on supply."

Inflation was increasing at an annual rate of about 9.2 per cent a year at the time the freeze was imposed June 13, with food prices increasing at the virtually unprecedented rate of 22.4 per cent.

Shultz told newsmen the administration would make no new forecast for inflation or the increase in food prices.

"We have not tried to make a precise estimate. Our record in trying to forecast food prices leaves you a little humble," he said, drawing laughter from reporters.

Nixon said in his statement that the increase in prices should be less in the second half of this year than in the first half, and that by next year, "we should be able to achieve a much more moderate rate of inflation."

The President also said he will aim for a balanced budget of $268.7 billion in fiscal 1974. To meet this goal, he said, a number of civilian government empoyes will have to be cut from the federal payroll.

Watergate case

channeled last fall and winter to the lawyers and families of the seven men charged in the watergate break-in.

LaRue inherited the job after Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, found it so distasteful that he asked to be relieved of it, according to testimony.

Using the code name, "Mr. Baker," LaRue said he continued the payments, drawing in part on a $350,000 White House fund.

LaRue has pleaded guilty to one count of conspiracy to obstruct justice and in a prepared statement he told the committee: "I am fully aware now that what I did was wrong, both morally and legally."

He also testified that G. Gordon Liddy, the campaign aide who organized the Watergate bugging team, offered to lay down his life if necessary to prevent the uncovering of the operation and the damage that it might cause to Nixon's re-election campaign.

LaRue said, "Mr. Liddy assured us he would never reveal any information about this in the course of any investigation, even if it led to him, but if we were not satisfied with that assurance, that even though he was personally or morally opposed to suicide, that if we would instruct him to be on any street corner at any time we could have him assassinated."

Liddy's offer to permit himself to be murdered was never taken seriously, LaRue testified.

However, Liddy, who was convicted in the Watergate trial and is now in prison, has never told his Watergate story to investigators.

LaRue testified that he was aware that others were constructing false stories to minimize the political damage of the break-in arrests.

But most of his testimony was about money.

A commitment had been made to pay for the legal and living expenses of the defendants and LaRue said he eventually helped meet that commitment. But he said he did so with no knowledge of who made it in the first place.

"You made assumptions and paid out hundreds of thousands of dollars on the basis of some vague commitment?" asked Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga. "I am trying to find out the source of that commitment."

"I understand that," LaRue replied. "But I do not know the source of that commitment."

Earlier, Kalmbach testified he got his orders to pay out the money from John W. Dean III, who was then counsel to the President. He said John D. Ehrlichman, at the time the No. 2 man on Nixon's staff, had assured him the undertaking was legal and proper.

In other developments, Dean, the ousted presidential counsel, was to go before the House subcommittee investigating the so-called White House "plumbers" unit set up to plug leaks of security information.

Wednesday, David Young, one of the aides who worked with that unit, invoked the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

A similar refusal was made Tuesday by Egil Krogh Jr. who headed the plumbers unit.

Meanwhile, Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., said that 84 persons formerly employed by the Committee for the Re-election of the President, the White House or other executive offices have gone to work for independent government regulatory agencies since last Oct. 1.

Congress approved the death penalty for peacetime espionage Sept. 3, 1954.

Telephone strike problems widen

MARION, Ohio (AP) — More telephone outages and dialing problems were reported today by the General Telephone Co. of Ohio as a strike by 2,800 employes entered its fourth day.

A company spokesman said a federal mediator had not scheduled any negotiation sessions between the firm and the Communication Workers of America.

The spokesman said telephone service was disrupted in at least nine areas of the 70 Ohio counties the company serves.

At Athens, four supervisors were "evacuated" from a repair dispatching center Wednesday night after a group of persons pelted stones at the building, a spokesman said. Athens County sheriff deputies escorted the quartet from the building.

Certain long distance telephone service was also disrupted when a cable at Athens was cut connecting a toll center with a microwave dish which transmits long distance phone conversations.

Service was expected to be restored later today.

A company spokesman said cables were also cut and service crippled at Morrow, Marion, La Rue and West Portsmouth.

The strike began Monday after nearly four months of contract talks failed to bring an agreement between the two sides.

The union is looking for more than the company's seven per cent wage and benefit increase offer for the next two years, a union official said.

Some cloudy weather is scheduled to move into Ohio Thursday and Thursday night with some showers breaking out Friday, the National Weather Service reports.

The morning weather map showed high pressure continuing over the state and moving slowly eastward, to be replaced by a weak cold front moving southeastward from the upper lakes. This is the front which will bring cloudiness.

At daylight Thursday temperatures were mainly in the 60s, but with the usual exceptions. One of these was Youngstown with a 55-degree reading.

A chance of showers and thundershowers Saturday, ending Sunday. Warm. Highs in the low 80s and lows in the upper 50s and low 60s.

Stock list goes down

NEW YORK (AP) — After bidding up prices Wednesday in anticipation of Phase 4, investors appeared to get cold feet today on learning the Phase 4 details. Prices on the stock market were lower in moderate trading.

The noon Dow Jones industrial average of 30 industrials was down 6.54 at 898.86. Declining issues held a 7-to-5 lead over advancing stocks, after Wednesday's broad advance.

In the aftermath of Phase 4, investors seemed worried about a continuation of the price freeze until Aug. 12 as well as an expected pinch on corporate profits during the second half.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 at 22.99 at noon. Volume leader, Kenton Corp., was down ⅛ to 1¼. John H. Harland, off ⅛ to 23¼, and United Foods, up 3.8 to 2⅜, also were active.

Seek rights for retarded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Groups concerned with mentally retarded Ohioans have threatened a lawsuit if state lawmakers do not approve a bill defining the rights of mentally retarded persons.

The Ohio Association for Retarded Children and eight other groups said Wednesday they will file a court suit if a bill reforming the state's mental institutional system is not approved by adjournment, or Aug. 3.

"Right now the conditions violate constitutional rights and basic human dignity of the people. If legislators fail to remedy the conditions, they must be remedied through the courts," said Dr. James Gardner, chairman of the committee on Constitutional Care.

He said the bill, currently in committee, would upgrade conditions in the institutions and protect "human and legal rights" of mentally retarded persons under state care.

Other groups backing the legislation include: The Ohio Council of Churches, Ohio Association for the Deaf, Ohio Coalition for the Education of Handicapped Children, Central Ohio Psychological Association, National Center for Law and the Handicapped and the Ohio chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Unity march is blocked

CAIRO (AP) — The proposed marriage of Egypt and Libya faced new strains today as Cairo barred thousands of Libyan "unity marchers" from the country.

Cairo Radio said Hafez Ghonem, secretary-general of Egypt's ruling Arab Socialist Union, had visited Col. Muammar Khadafy, the leader of the Libyan government, on Wednesday. It said Ghonem had arranged for the long procession to stop today at Mersa Matruh, on the Libyan-Egyptian border west of Alexandria.

A delegation of 100 was was to go on to Cairo with a message to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat written in blood and calling for early realization of the planned merger of the two neighboring Arab states.

The Libyans set out Tuesday for the Egyptian capital, and more than 2,000 vehicles were reported in the motorcade by the time it reached Benghazi, on the northeast coast of Libya.

See Moscow, Peking pushing Vietnam peace

SAIGON (AP) — The departing chief of Canada's peacekeeping delegation in Vietnam said today he is optimistic that Moscow and Peking will exert their influence for peace in Vietnam to improve their relations with Washington.

Ambassador Michel Gauvin left for Canada 12 days before his government pulls out of the International Commission of Control and Supervision. He said he is more optimistic about the prospects of peace in Vietnam than he was a month ago.

"This optimism is based on a number of assumptions which may prove wrong in the end," said the 53-year-old diplomat. "However, I am inclined to believe the key to peace in Vietnam is in the hands of Moscow and Peking, who are both interested in bettering their relations with the United States.

He criticized the two Communist members of the peace commission — Hungary and Poland — for refusing to condemn publicly the Viet Cong or the North Vietnamese for cease-fire violations.

"They say to us, 'but you understand, it is impossible for us, it would not be understood in the Communist bloc countries,'" Gauvin reported.

Gauvin is returning to his previous post, Canada's ambassador to Greece. He had postponed his departure for two weeks because the Viet Cong were holding two Canadian officers captured in Communist territory. They were released last Sunday.

The President's illness

That was a troubling news picture of President Nixon as he appeared not long before entering the hospital for treatment of a case of viral pneumonia.

His lined face was suggestive of deep fatigue, which may have played a part in his contracting the disease.

The impact was all the greater because Mr. Nixon has enjoyed excellent health for some years, and reportedly does not even suffer from such ordinary complaints as headaches. Let us hope that the present unaccustomed illness will soon pass.

We join millions of our fellow Americans in wishing the President a speedy recovery.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

HCL depleting government ranks

WASHINGTON — That old devil inflation hovers over the bureaucracy as it does over the citizenry across the country, and it has a lot to do with excellence in government and the drain of brain power.

The report, still kept confidential, of a high-level commission recommends a 25 per cent across-the-board increase for the executive branch of government, the judiciary and Congress.

This comes at a moment when by every index bureaucrats and politicans are less respected than at any time in this century. With the burgeoning scandals at all levels it would seem the wrong time to go after a pay raise.

Yet the commission, required by law to report to the President every four years, compiled extensive data to show that many top administrators are opting out, and these are the best and the brightest. They have had no increase in pay since 1969 and during that time the cost of living has jumped 25 per cent.

BUT WHAT about members of Congress? This is the large fly in the ointment. The last pay raise for Congress came on March 1, 1969, when senators and representatives went from $30,000 a year to $42,500.

With perquisities that is substantially increased. A member of Congress does not have to refund his postal allowance over the above what he actually needs. Free trips back to the state, free long-distance calls, staff pay — all these add up to a big plus for the incumbent. In terms of income it puts most members of Congress above $50,000.

To vote yourself a raise of $10,000 a year will not be popular back in the district. That is more than the income of millions of Americans. For families on relief it looks like the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

If the President fails to act on the recommendation of the commission and it goes over into 1974 — an election year when Congress would never vote a pay raise — then the whole matter can be postponed until 1977. By then the cost of living may have jumped to 35 per cent over 1969.

A measure has passed the Senate and will likely pass the House requiring the commission to make recommendations every two years instead of every four. Should that pass, a proposed pay increase could come in a supplementary budget, with action by Congress by early fall.

While all this may sound like mere bureaucratese touching only the slothful tax eaters, it gets down to the efficient direction of government. Civil servants at the top level of government are leaving to take pensions which include, unlike their salaries, a 6½ per cent increase geared to the cost of living.

Then they are free to take jobs in private business at $20,000 or $25,000 a year, and many are doing just that with business eager to get brainy men and women knowledgeable in the ways of government.

THE MAKE-WORK types stay on. More and more this is true. In the foreign service the number of early retirements by men of wide experience and ability is shocking. With the dollar devalued and costs going up they simply cannot afford to stay.

President Nixon's indignation at the Senate Foreign Relations Committee over the refusal to comfirm G. McMurtrie Godley as an Assistant Secretary of State is understandable. But he has sapped the morale of the State Department by putting ambassadorships on the political auction block, and not just the big posts but some fairly far down.

These are the conspicuous examples. When an able specialist on the Civil Service Commission or in the Office of Management and Budget takes a walk it makes no splash. But it leaves a hole in the structure of government not easily filled. The way is opened for appointments and promotions based on political favoritism.

Good government is no longer the concern of a few idealists. In this fantastically complex society it is essential to every citizen. And only able and committed men and women can effectively move the machinery of government.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Some kind words for dirty politics

A veteran of the ferocious clan wars which have enlivened Massachusetts politics since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary was reminiscing on Watergate.

"The thing I can't forgive those boyos," he said, "is how they're giving dirty politics a bad name."

A the risk of excommunicationby the League of Women Voters and excoriation by Common Cause, I confess I share his grievance. By the time the reformers get through, politics will be sanitized — and also, I fear anesthetized.

An election will resemble a religious service.

"HONEST" DIRTY POLITICS is as different from the CREEP modus operandi as night from day. For one thing, you never hired spies to plant in the other fellow's camp — there were always volunteers. There were plenty of dirty tricks, but you didn't involve the law-enforcement agencies of the government in the act.

And there was a geniality that went along with it — once the election was over, the contestants would sit around over drinks and delight in their various coups. The mongoose mentality — that "get the snakes" attitude which CREEP exuded — was missing.

Sure, things got rough on occasion, but there was always a recognition that your opponents were human beings to be licked, not things to be destroyed.

I got my first experience in "honest" dirty politics in Haverford, Pa., 25 years ago. A little background is in order.

Under Pennsylvania law, there had to be a minority inspector in each precinct who verified the election returns, challenged questionable voters, and the like.

The majority party, in this case the Republicans, had a vested interest in peace and quiet in the election hall and for years had packed the Democratic registration roll in order to control the primary (where precinct leaders and the minority inspector were elected). that is, the Republican boss simply told a hundred or so of his faithful to register Democratic.

To make a long story short, my wife and I and some friends organized to retrieve the Democratic Party from Republican control. We worked like beavers and narrowly won the next Democratic primary. When the votes were finally counted, the Republican boss came over to us and said:"You really turned your troops out. Congratulations and how about a drink?"

HOWEVER, he didn't give up. Two years later I got the new registration lists and immediately noticed that we had another hundred Democratic recruits. A quick check indicated that they were township employees and their families.

So "Sharkey" Brennan was mounting another raid, was he? Well, this time I was prepared. I went to see him and told him that the judge of elections, really a very decent fellow, was a potential jailbird. I had discovered he worked for the township emptying parking meters and it was an offense for any public employe to be a judge of elections.

However, I pointed out we thought highly of the man in question, he had been fair to us, and I saw no reason to go further with my case — if Brennan would stop raiding "my" primaries.

"You get around," he said. "How about a drink?" And that was the end of the primary raiding.

FOR THE REAL devotee, however, there is nothing to match the insertion of a third candidate who will hopefully split the opposition vote in an election. Margaret Truman describes how neatly her father's friends pulled this one off in 1940.

And the counter-stroke — which has become fashionable in New York mayoralty elections — of a fourth candidate. Or take the double primary raid, which is common in states like Wisconsin that have "open" primaries — that is, you can walk in on primary day and vote in either party's contest.

If, as in 1972, the Republican nomineee has no strong opponent, the state's Republicans can be deployed to vote in the Democratic primary — to help the saddest sack from the GOP viewpoint (in that case, Sen. McGovern).

The only way to counter this strategy is to try to find a Republican who can made enough trouble on the other side of the hill so the Rebublican voters will stay with their own primary ballot. Of course, if it is a quiet year on the Democratic hustings, Democrats can drop by to help pick the weakest Republican.

Will Watergate end all this fun? I hope not — life is boring enough already; taking the politics out of politics will make it intolerable.

"HOW'S THAT AGAIN, YOUNG LADY?"

Hal Boyle . . . Life with a terrarium

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Enjoy the beauty of plants without the worry," read the advertisement. "Needs no watering or care. Buy a terrarium."

Hah!

There are umpteen different kinds of terrariums — terraria? Some are easy to eliminate. They cost too much — up to $85 for a big glass bowl and a handful of dirt.

Having narrowed the price range I discovered other problems. Did I want a spherical terrarium or an egg-shaped one? How big an air hole should there be at the top? What kind of drainage stones should there be at the bottom?

The problem was solved by the discovery of a kit that contained everything from dirt to seeds — a major factor since most of the terrariums did not include any sort of plants.

Unfortunately, the six-page instruction booklet belied the claims of simplicity. One kind of seed had to be soaked for 24 hours before planting; the soil had to be prepared with exactly the right amount of water at exactly the right temperature. The seeds, none of which was bigger than a pin prick, had to be pressed into the soil just so, then covered with another layer of dirt — not too thick, mind you — and resprinkled.

After scurrying about for measuring cup, thermometer and plenty of paper towel to clean up the mess I was sure to make, I approached the terrarium bowl with the care of a surgeon. I doled out two cups of 80-degree water, pressed the seeds carefully into the soil, discovering in the process that it's very difficult to tell a seed from a piece of dirt.

Finally the terrarium was planted and placed on the windowsill. But wait. The instruction booklet said the temperature had to be at least 70 to 80 degrees. Out came the thermometer which registered 88 — uncomfortable for me, but at least the seeds should be happy.

I watched and waited. The instructions said ungerminated seeds should be watered with one tablespoon of 80-degree water. It didn't say how often, but every other day seemed to be a good compromise.

When I woke up in the morning, I'd rush to peer at the terrarium. Coming home in the evening, I'd scurry to see if I could spot anything growing.

Exactly eight days after my initial foray into gardening, patience was rewarded. Two tiny green sprouts appeared. Triumph!

But would they grow? Did they need fertilizer? Were they getting too much sun? Should they be rewatered?

The sprouts haven't died yet. Of course they haven't grown very much either. But I think I've spotted a little bit of green on my thumb.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Mom should start a 'get tough' policy

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 34. He has a shaky marriage and two fine children, ages 10 and 12. He has changed jobs frequently and is always in debt.

We like his wife. My husband and I have pulled them out of debt several times. It has cost us a total of $3,000. They have never mentioned paying us back.

The problem: Our son has won a trip to Hawaii on his job, but if he wants to take his wife he will have to pay her way. He doesn't have the few hundred dollars it would cost to take her, so naturally he is sort of looking in our direction for it.

They have never taken a trip together. (No money.) I think the trip might help their marriage and have told my husband how I feel, but he says I am a soft touch.

What should I do?

GOOD OLD MOM

DEAR MOM: Offer to lend him the money on a business basis. Ask him to sign a promissory note with a date set for repayment. And this time insist that he live up to his boligation.

And don't lend him more than the few hundred he needs. Good Old Mom has to be Tough Old Mom if she wants her son to be a real man.

DEAR ABBY: My sister, who is 62, and my brother-in-law, who is 57, have been happily married for 28 years.

Because of health reasons, my brother in law is contemplating retiring and will in time be collecting social security. Since my sister will also be eligible to collect social security, my brother-in-law suggested that my sister get her birth certificate. This is frightening my sister as she has never told her husband that she is five years older than he is. (He thinks they're the same age.) She was afriad if she told him her real age, when they first met, he wouldn't marry her.

Now my sister is afraid of repercussions as she has always been completely honest with her husband.

Do you thinks she should tell him now?

MINNIE

DEAR MINNIE: After 28 years of marriage, I doubt that your sister's husband would hold it against her for having knocked off five years of her age. I think she should tell him and get it over with. A 62-year-old woman who can pass for 57 needn't be ashamed.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Pam, was invited to be a brides maid. She was thrilled because she had never been in a wedding party before. The bride's mother invited all the girls in the wedding party to plan a shower for the bride.

We have a nice large finished basement party room, so Pam offered to have the shower at our house. The bride's mother said: "Oh, no, I want it at the '———' " (and she named an expensive restaurant.) The girls just looked at each other in amazement. Pam then asked the mother if she planned to help them financially, and she said: "Emphatically no, you girls are supposed to give this shower!"

The girls agreed to have it at a restaurant, to please the mother, but they chose a less expensive one. The next day the bride called my daughter and coldly said: "Pam, if you couldn't afford to be in my wedding party, why did you accept the invitation? I think it's best if you drop out, so I'm sending you the $20 deposit you put on the bridesmaid's gown, and I'm asking someone else instead. Goodby."

My daughter couldn't believe her ears.

Now, listen to his. This girl had the gall to send Pam an invitation to her wedding.

If you were she, what would you send her?

MOM

DEAR MOM: My regrets!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedy creator Bernard Slade has been at the plate 14 times in nine years and is batting .500.

Seven of his creations became series — including "The Partridge Family," "Bridget loves Bernie," "The Flying Nun," "Love on a Rooftop" and, upcoming on NBC, "The Girl with Something Extra."

There also was "Dr. Deeds Goes to Town" and the Bobby Sherman Show.

Slade, 43, is under contract to Screen Gems to turn out three pilot scripts a year. He also writes movies and plays.

Most creators stay with the show as producer or consultant, but Slade is one of the few who constantly is on to something new.

He admits he is not happy with what has happened to some of his ideas. He did not like the way "Bridget Loves Bernie" went and said he was not upset when CBS canceled the show in its first year.

Born in Canada and raised in England, Slade wrote his first professional script in 1957 when he was an actor. The play sold, and he became a full-time writer.

He wrote dramatic plays in the dying days of live television and switched to comedy when his first assignment on arriving in Hollywood in 1964 was for "Bewitched." He wrote 19 shows for that series, was story consultant on "My Living Doll" for a year and then was on his way to creating series with "Love on a Rooftop."

His newest show, "The Girl with Something Extra," stars Sally Field as a wife who can read the mind of her husband, played by John Davidson.

Slade says he doesn't see it as a gimmick show but as a study in attitudes. "If he has a childish emotion, he can't hide it from her," he said. "It's a challenge to see if a marriage can hold together with that honesty."

Milk marketing proposals slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Farmers Union says it will prepare specific proposals for changing the system of federal milk marketing orders to reflect goals cited in a research report ordered more than two years ago by the Agriculture Department.

The report, ordered by then Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, was published this week by the University of Wisconsin. It was written by Profs. Truman F. Graf, University of Wisconsin, and Robert E. Jacobson, Ohio State University.

Hardin initiated the two-year project at the request of the National Farmers Union to help find ways of absorbing larger amounts of fluid milk — Grade A. for bottling — into the nation's markets as farmers convert from the production of Grade B or manufacturing-grade milk.

The report, a 77-page detailed account of the problems and possible alternatives, listed a number of ways the conversion might be undertaken. It said substantial volumes of Grade B milk are potentially available for conversion to Grade A as marketing opportunities arise. In 1971, about 24 per cent of all U.S. milk was Grade B.

A basic problem is that as producers switch to Grade A, more milk will be competing for fluid markets and the additional supply could mean sharp price problems for producers.

Milk producers already suffer because the demand for milk has not kept pace with Grade A supply, the report said.

"Producer pay prices in the upper midwest suffer because of this lower utilization," the report said. "For example while 1972 blend price (combination of Grades A and B) in the 11 federal order markets in the west northcentral northern area averaged $5.64 per hundredweight, the average for all federal order markets was $6.31 and for the five South Atlantic order markets, $7.40 per hundredweight."

State anti-trust program pushed

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William J. Brown says his office plans to crack down on anti-trust violations as part of his program to protect Ohio consumers.

"This is something an attorney general never has done before, even though state law gives him specific authority," Brown said.

Brown said when he came into office in 1971, there was only one man working part time on anti-trust cases. The section now has a staff of 22, headed by C. Raymond Marvin, an assistant who helped Brown establish the enforcement machinery for the state's environmental protection laws.

The youthful attorney general, 33 a week ago today, said violations of anti-trust laws in Ohio are numerous and go untouched by federal anti-trust laws which generally involve only the major corporations.

"When you walk into a supermarket, and you see different brands of a product that are the same size, and they all cost the same, you have to know that this is not an accident," he said.

"Or if you go into a store to buy something that costs $500— not a luxury item but a necessity—and all the prices are the same, and then you find it cost only $60 to produce it, that has to tell you something," he added.

Brown indicated he was unhappy with the legislature for cutting his budget for the 1973-1975 biennium, and said the $200,000 cut means he won't be able to do some of the things he wants to do.

"But we won't cut antitrust— that'sone of the top priorities," he said.

He said the action by the legislature "may mean that they don't want an active attorney general. For years, the attorney general never did anything, he was just sort of a court jester. He would just sit around until the governor left or quit."

Besides environmental and anti-trust enforcement, Brown said, he also gives top priority to continued expansion of the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation as an aid to local law enforcement officials.

He said the bureau helped investigate 6,000 cases in 1970, 11,000 in 1972, "and at the rate we are going, we'll have 15,000 this year."

Brown also noted that instead of having just one laboratory at London, Ohio, the bureau now has additional police labs at Fremont, Cambridge, and Richfield, just outside of Akron.

Clarksburg plans annual Field Day Aug. 2

CLARKSBURG — Clarksburg's 58th annual Field Day will be held Thursday, Aug. 2, under sponsorship of the Clarksburg United Methodist Church.

Many attractions have been planned for the all-day and evening event to be held in the Clarksburg Field Day Grounds on Ohio 138, a half mile east of the village.

The Kingsmen, "Diplomats of Song" from North Carolina, will highlight the evening program. They have been singing professionally for 15 years and have traveled 125,000 miles each year singing and performing before large audiences carrying the good-will message of the city of Asheville and state of North Carolina.

They have rendered many civic services, state and nationwide, singing in churches, prisons, retirement homes, juveniles centers and for civic organizations. They were recently honored by the North Carolina State Legislature on "Kingsmen Appreciation Night". They will appear from 8 to 9:30 on the program.

Three bands have been scheduled for the event. The Adelphi Band will present both afternoon and evening concerts and the Senior Citizens Kitchen Band, of Chillicothe, and the Adena High School Band will give concerts in the afternoon.

There will also be music by the Ross County Jamboree following The Kingsmen Gospel Singers. A stereo record concert of country and Western music is scheduled from 6 to 7.

Other entertainment includes trap shooting, horseshoe pitching, pony rides, contests for boys and girls. A garden tractor pull will be held at 5 p.m.

Lunch will be served during the day and evening at refreshment stands and a fish and chicken dinner will be served beginning at 4:30 p.m.

St. Regis Paper Co. resumes production

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Preparations were being made today to resume production at the St. Regis Paper Co. here after members of the United Paper Workers Union ratified a new three-year contract for the second time.

Workers had approved the pact Saturday, seemingly ending a three-week strike. But a second vote was necessitated Wednesday, apparently because of a dispute with the international union.

Perry Club has meeting

The Perry Ingenuity Club of Atlanta met recently when Mrs. Rose Hobble read the poem, "Begin with Wind and Prayer." Mrs. Frances Mills led devotions and minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Zelma Donhoe. Thirteen members answered roll call, and three guests were present, Mrs. Lois Spears, Mrs. Ann Schmitt and Mrs. Sonia Puffinbarger.

Mrs. Goldie Speakman was winner of the name quilt.

The club voted to purchase postage stamps and members agreed to make jelly for gifts for neighbors for Christmas. The group also agreed to sell the chair canning on hand to Mrs. Leora Sayre, since the club had enough folding chairs for their own use.

It was announced that since 1967 when the club organized, the group has donated $3,865 to the Atlanta Methodist Church and have $1,000 interest at the New Holland Bank to be used for restoring the steeple that was damaged by wind several years ago. The last rummage sale held in the Mills garage netted the club $25.45.

There are three golden wedding anniversaries to be observed in August by members.

Mrs. Sayre, who is with the Pickaway County program of Brooks Yates School, which operates in four facets in school workshop program of mental retardation, showed slides of the work.

During the social hour, "Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. Betty Lahrmer and Mrs. Vera Brown. Mrs. Zelma Donohoe baked and decorated a birthday cake.

Life in India is described

Two guest speakers presented a program for the women of the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church at the home of Mrs. Harry Craig.

Mrs. Gerald Wheat, chairman of the Chillicothe area of Scioto Valley Presbyterial Society of United Presbyterian Women, discussed the reasons for continuing the women's organization. She also suggested possible alternatives to the conventional pattern of meeting and study.

Mrs. Orville Mickle presented devotions and presided at the business meeting. The members decided to hold an auction again this September, of which Mrs. Robert Engle and Mrs. Harry Craig are co-chairmen.

The group voted to give a contribution to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hammond, missionaries in Colombia, South America. This is in addition to their obligations to Presbyterian missions.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Alice Cory, Mrs. Mary Foster, Mrs. Becky Cordes and Miss Becky Sollars, served refreshments to the 20 women present.

PERSONALS

After spending several days the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B.E. Kelley while here making additional study of the ancient iron furnaces in this part of Ohio, Dr. Clyde Keeler of Milledgeville, Ga., returned home by plane Monday afternoon. While here Dr. Keeler, noted archaeologist and Viking authority, assisted in advancing the study of various phases of the ancient iron makers, and is deeply interested in obtaining proof that iron was being smelted in Ohio as early at 2,000 years ago, and that the Vikings or Norsemen were in America around 1,000 years ago as revealed by many runestones, one of which was found in West Virginia bearing date of 1,000 A.D. This was Dr. Keeler's seventh visit here in assisting The Fayette County Historical Society which is fathering the work and the Museum here is the official depository of ancient iron and other material from the several ancient iron furnaces, tow of which were in the southeastern part of Washington C.H.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Perrill, 329 Gregg St., were in Columbus Wednesday evening where they paid respect at the Weir-Arend Funeral Home, N. High St., to the Earl Cleland family, well-known archichect who died Tuesday.

Harper home is festive for golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Harper, 123 W. Circle Ave., were guests of honor at a very lovely reception, in honor of their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sagar and daughters, Bambi, Dianne, Katherine, and Lynn, the Harper's son-in-law and daughter and grandchildren, were hosts for the occasion. There were 100 guests who attended.

The dining room table, pretty with gold tapers, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. At each end of the table were the coffee and tea service. Miss Bambi Sagar presided at the serving of the cake, following the first piece-cutting by Mr. and Mrs. Harper, and the Misses Dianne and Lynn Sagar presided at the silver coffee and tea service. Mints and nuts were also on the table. Miss Katherine Sagar presided at the guest registry.

The many floral arrangements in focal points throughout the home, were gifts and remembrances from friends.

Invited guests came from Mexico, Montreal, Canada, Tecumseh, Mich., Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Wilmington, Columbus, and Washington C. H.

Mrs. Leedy guest speaker for BPW Club meeting

The Business and Professional Women's Club dinner-meeting was held at the Washington Country Club, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Glen Johson led the Pledge of Allegiance and Mrs. Mark gave the invocation.

Jill Williams gave an enthusiastic report of her experiences at Buckeye Girls' State, held at Capital University, Columbus.

The meeting was under the direction of the personal development committee with Mrs. Gayle Kelly, chairman. Members of the committee are Mrs. Patricia Hart, Mrs. Glenn Johnnson, Mrs. Mark King, Mrs. Homer Sanders, Miss Drusilla Rogers and Mrs. Richard Ware.

Mrs. Emily L. Leedy, Director of Women's Services Division, Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, was guest speaker. She began with the statement, "We've come along way-maybe." She told of many changes taking place and that a quiet revolution was going. There is a changing pattern in women's role. With the lifespan increasing, women are now 40 per cent of the work force, with the average woman worker 39 years old, and married. About 30 million women in this country are now working, with two out of five workers-women, three of them married women. While the role is changing, equal employment wage gap is continuing to increase. Mrs. Leedy quoted many startling statistics to show discrimination between men and women workers.

She also stated that future jobs do not require a four year college degree, and that 80 per cent of jobs will be in the technical and service areas.

About 265,000 families are headed by women, who are the sole bread winners for families with small children. The average man's wage is $11,500, while women's average is only $6,500.

Almost two-thirds of working women are doing so out of economic need. Ohio is far behind most states in legislation affecting women. Most of her rights are protected by federal laws. Women need to stick together for needed legislation - for equal rights and civil rights acts. Some now being considered in Ohio legislature are having a rough time - minimum wage law, adding sex to Civil Rights Act, Protective Labor Laws and Equal Rights Bill.

A hot line has been established and is toll free - 1800-282-0253. Women are urged to use it to express feelings about these important bills.

Senior Citizens, about 60 per cent women are in need of financial assistance and all need to work for legislation in that area.

Mrs. Leedy quoted inclosing, "New doors and windows are opening to all and women need to be the ones to follow through.

Mrs. Lee Cruea conducted the brief business session, when reports were presented.

It was announced that the Blood Bank will be sponsored by BPW Aug. 24 at First Christian Church, and the yard sale is planned at the home of Mrs. Emmett Backenstoe Sept. 8.

Strawberries star in dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's an American adaptation of a dessert from England. It's Strawberry Trifle and its main ingredients are the luscious red berries, ladyfingers and whipped cream. We made our own ladyfingers for this dessert, but if you want to sav time and energy you can use the packaged ones. Either way it's a delightful dessert worth serving as the sweet ending for a dinner party.

STRAWBERRY TRIFLE

Sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dash of salt
½ pint heavy cream
¼ cup port or sherry
Red food coloring
1 package (3 ounces) ladyfingers (about 12 whole separated into halves) or an equal number of homemade ladyfingers

Wash and hull strawberries. Reserve half a dozen whole strawberries for garnish. Puree half of remaining berries in electric blender; set aside. Slice remaining berries and sweeten with ¼ cup sugar; set aside.

In a midium saucepan thoroughly mix together 6 tablespoons sugar, the cornstarch, lemon juice and salt. Stir in pureed strawberries. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and clear. Cool.

Whip ½ cup of the cream. Fold the whipped cream, 2 tablespoons of the port and a few drops of red food color into cooled strawberry mixture.

Line the bottom and sides of a glass bowl (holding about 6 cups and preferably with straight sides) with halved ladyfingers. Sprinkle with the remaining 2 tablespoons port. Spoon half the sliced strawberries on top of ladyfingers; spoon half the strawberry-cream mixture over sliced strawberries. Repeat the two layers with remaining sliced strawberries and strawberry-cream mixture. Chill for several hours or longer.

Shortly before serving, whip remaining cream. Garnish trifle with 6 whipped cream and reserved whole strawberries.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

After you take a roast out of the oven let stand at room temperature for 15 to 20 minutes before carving.

How to make peach marmalade

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The old-fashioned art of "putting up" fruits in jam and jelly form is interesting cooks once again now that food products made without artificial preservatives have come to the fore. So if you want to have a large batch of pure Peach Marmalade at hand to use at home and to give as gifts, here is a reliable recipe.

PEACH MARMALADE

8 pounds fresh peaches
3 large oranges
4 large lemons
6 pounds sugar (13½ cups or 5 pounds and 2¼ cups)
1 tablespoon allspice

Peel peaches, remove pits and knife-chop finely. Cut oranges and lemons in quarters and remove seeds; put through coarse blade of food chopper. There should be 3 quarts chopped peaches and about 6 cups ground oranges and lemons.

Place peaches and ground fruit in a large kettle; add sugar and allspice. Over moderate heat, bring slowly to a boil, stirring often. Boil gently for 45 minutes, stirring often, until fruit is transulucent and the mixture sheets from a metal spoon. Remove from heat.

Skim off foam and ladle at once into hot-wide mouth jars. Fill to within ⅛ inch of top; add caps and screw on bands evenly and tightly. Invert for a few seconds and stand jars upright to cool.

Makes twenty 8-ounce jars.

Note: To make the sheet test to determine whether marmalade is ready, dip a cold metal spoon into the boiling mixture. When two drops form together and sheet off the spoon, the marmalade should be done.

Peaches star in dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When you want to serve fresh peaches for a company dessert, consider offering them with Zabaglione. This is the warm foamy mixture that comes from Italian cruisine. The following version of it is an American adaptation.

Because egg yolks are used in Zabaglione, you'll have egg whites leftover. Put the whites in baby-food jars — one or two to a jar — and store in the freezer. Then when a recipe calls for egg whites only, you'll have them on hand. They thaw in a short time.

PEACH ZABALIONE

5 egg yolks
1 whole egg
¼ cup sugar
½ cup white wine
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
½ teaspoon ginger
8 fresh peaches, peeled and sliced

In a medium mixing bowl beat yolks and whole egg with electric beater until thickened; gradually beat in sugar. Continue to beat, if necessary, until tripled in bulk. Gradually beat in wine, lemon juice and ginger.

Pour mixture into top of double boiler, place over simmering water and beat until frothy and the consistency of whipped cream — about 8 minutes. Pour over sliced peaches in dessert dishes and serve at once.

Makes 8 servings.

ON CRUISE — Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Foster, 954 Old Chillicothe Rd., are celebrating their third wedding anniversary aboard the M-S Song of Norway on the Caribbean. Ports of call are San Juan, Puerto Rico, Nassau, Bahamas, and St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

Personal relationships under something of a cloud. Be especially tactful in family discussions lest emotional tensions build up.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Good aspects. Late afternoon could bring unexpectedly gratifying support from superiors and associates, which should boost morale considerably.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Financial matters somewhat adverse. Keep a tight grip on your wallet and curb tendencies toward extravagance.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Day should prove stimulating in many ways, many areas. One of your more casual interests will now take an added importance.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Solar influences now stimulate your originality. With your fine gift of salesmanship, you should be able to package your wares — AND your ideas — very attractively.

Curb your innate aggressiveness now. You can attain your objectives, even the "impossible" ones, by using subtle tactics.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

New prospects highlighted. What you consider an "obstacle" to your plans is only an illusion. Proceed with confidence.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Keep all senses alert. Someone who has been somewhat mystifying, given to unusual moods, may actually be trying to tell you something.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Don't let false pride hinder your progress. If you feel stymied in a certain area, don't hesitate to ask advice. Even a "lesser light" could prove helpful.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Don't let a tricky situation dismay you. Your innate intuition, which often borders on real inspiration, will see you through.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great artistry, a fine mind and a willingness to work hard to reach your goals. You are a person of high ideals, with built-in magnetism and a strong feeling for tradition. You can be swayed by kindness and reason, but one has little success in trying to push you without valid cause. You can achieve notable success as an entertainer, designer, painter, writer or physician.

Opening lead - eight of clubs.

You can't play bridge by rote. Situations occur where it is much more important to sense what's going on than to apply dry technical knowledge.

Consider this deal from the match between France and the United States in the 1971 world championship. Goldman and Lawrence, of the Dallas Aces, got to four hearts and West led the eight of clubs.

Lawrence eyed the lead with deep suspicion. Ordinarily, with this club combination, a finesse would be considered obligatory, but he asked himself whether it was really likely that West would select a club as his opening salvo if he had the king.

Lawrence came to the conclusion that, in view of the bidding, any lead but a club would have appeared more attractive to West if he had the king. Accordingly, he rose with the ace.

Then he led the jack of trumps from dummy, East following low, and continued with a trump, won by East with the ace. East played the king and another club, ruffed by West, but that was the end of the road for the defense, declarer discarding his spade loser on dummy's fourth club.

But declarer would have gone down two had he elected to finesse the opening club lead. East would win with the king and return a high club for West to ruff. West would exist with a spade, and the defenders would subsequently score a spade, a trump and another club ruff. Declarer would likewise have failed had East returned a low club instead of the king.

Thus it would be fair to say that the contract was made because declarer knew what was going on and the defenders didn't — which is at times the way of the world.

"We believe that solar energy systems and equipment offer attractive new business opportunities for advanced technology companies," Bearinger said. "Commercial solar heating and cooling of buildings can be accomplished within the current decade."

Dimes disappear; investors blamed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — It's been only eight years since the United States stopped minting silver dimes, quarters and half-dollars, yet most of these coins are out of circulation.

What's happened to those hundreds of millions of dollars in pre-1965 coins? According to the Pacific Coast Coin Exchange here, more than $500 million is held by private investors. A 55-pound bag of silver coins with face value of $1,000 currently is worth more than $1,800.

Heavy rain, hail falls in Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms dumped heavy rains into parts of the midcontinent today and hit scattered sections with high winds and large hail.

Four to 5 inches of rain drenched some parts of Kansas from late Wednesday to early today. Over an inch fell in a one-hour period at Topeka.

Thunderstorms produced 60 mile-per-hour winds at Norfolk, Neb., and 1.75-inch hail at Chatfield, southeast of Rochester, Minn.

Other thunderstorms were widely scattered over the Great Basin, the central and southern Rockies, western Texas and the Gulf coast.

Elsewhere, most of the nation enjoyed fair skies. However, hazy skies and some fog shrouded areas from Michigan and Illinois to Alabama and settled over the Appalachians and along the Pacific coast.

Cincy man reunited with family

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Shoemaker William Bartels is scheduled to meet his brother and sister in Germany today after a 45-year separation.

Bartels, 66, left his home in Scharrel, Germany, for America because, "There was no opportunity to get ahead over there."

He expects to be met at the airport in Bremen, Germany, by his brother Lucas, 75, and sister Ges, 70. Lucas owns a blacksmith and repair shop in Scharrel and Ges lives there on a farm.

Bartels says Scharrel "was a farming town when I left. But now they tell me it has industry and a lot more changes."

Bartels came to Cincinnati because he had relatives here. He opened a shoe repair shop in 1930. His American-born wife, Dorothy, helps him at work.

Bartels planned a trip home just before Hitler came to power, but decided against it for fear he would be drafted into the German Army.

Fayette County municipalities get gas money

Municipalities in Fayette County received $9,431 this month in gasoline tax revenues, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. A total of $8,882,722 was distributed to Ohio's counties, townships, cities and villages.

Each of the 88 counties received $30,000 for a grand total of $2,640,000, while the 1,320 townships received payments of $1,200 each for a township total of $1,584,000, the Auditor said.

Some 964 cities and villages shared in a total of $4,658,722 on the basis of $1 per motor vehicle registered within their boundaries.

Gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes, Ferguson said.

The breakdown of the $9,431 by municipalities follows: Washington C. H., $8,153; Bloomingburg, $564; Jeffersonville, $550; Milledgeville, $114; New Holland, $28, and Octa, $22.

Police activity up 33 per cent

The number of incidents requiring action by police officers during June showed an increase of nearly 33 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Traffic arrests and other criminal arrests also showed a large increase over the previous year according to the monthly activity report released by Police Chief Rodman Scott.

"It's a vicious circle," Scott commented, pointing out that the more incidents or arrests his officers made the more paper work is required. "We often have officers working on reports or booking prisoners when they are really needed on the streets, especially on weekends."

"We have been operating one man short for the past two months and this along with regularly scheduled vacations stretches our men thin," he added.

OF THE 53 criminal offenses known to the department during the month there were 12 burglaries, 24 larcenies, one auto theft, one fraud investigation, two incidents involving drugs, an indecent exposure case, 10 destruction of property complaints, an obscene phone call investigation and an arson investigation.

There were a total of 71 traffic accidents in the city during the past month, an increase of 15 over the same period a year ago. A total of 12 persons were injured in the accidents which caused $19,068 in damage, or an average of $272 per accident. There were 30 arrests made in connection with the mishaps.

A total of 122 arrests, 78 traffic and 44 criminal, were made in June as compared with 93 in June of 1972. There were four arrests for possession of marijuana.

THE 915 CALLS requiring police action included, 12 assaults, 51 aided persons, 26 burglary complaints, a death investigation, 21 destruction of property complaints, 76 disturbance complaints, 38 dog or animal complaints, 57 domestic incidents, 38 reports of open doors or windows, 8 drug incidents, 13 funeral escorts, 13 fights, 22 fires, one gambling investigation, 2 indecent exposure incidents, 16 reports of sick or injured persons;

Ten intoxicated persons, 41 theft complaints, 22 lost or found articles, 3 mental complaints, 11 missing persons reports, 10 obscene phone call reports, 39 reports of prowlers, 2 sex offenses, 4 soliciting complaints, 4 suicide attempts, 86 suspicious car or person complaints, 4 reports of person with firearms, 37 traffic complaints, checks for 13 wanted persons, 78 miscellaneous calls and a total of 78 incidents involving juveniles.

City officers also made 74 appearances in court and handled 19 juvenile arrests.

There was 2,300 phone calls received by dispatchers and 4,475 radio messages originated. Dispatchers also sent 1,053 messages over the LEADS computer system.

Value of property stolen during the month totaled $3,088.87. Property recovered was valued at $1,777.47.

Driver charged after crash

One driver was cited by city police after one of three minor accidents investigated in the area Wednesday.

Officers said Nona C. Ford, 40, Sabina, was cited for changing lanes without safety following a collision at the intersection of Court and Main streets Wednesday morning.

Her car was eastbound in the curb lane and collided with another eastbound car driven by Gale May, 48, Rt. 1, as she attempted to change to the center lane.

There was moderate damage in the crash.

A boat was heavily damaged in an accident on Ohio 207, just north of Post Road, Wednesday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said the tongue on a boat trailer being towed behind a truck driven by Orlie E. May, 29, Orient, apparently broke from the trailer frame. The trailer went off the right side and collided with a guardrail. The impact threw the boat from the trailer over the guardrail and down a 50 foot embankment.

Officers said the 16 foot boat was heavily damaged.

Cars driven by Freddie Penwell, 20, of 716 E. Market St., and William D. Roe, 16, Rt. 2, were involved in a collision at the intersection of Court and Fayette streets at 12:25 p.m. Damage was moderate.

Relief subsidy funds received

Fayette County received $2,647.27 as its share of $3,876,909.30 distributed in June to Ohio's 88 counties as a general relief subsidy, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The subsidy program is financed entirely from state funds and is for the purpose of helping defray the administrative and general relief costs of the individual county welfare operations. It is in addition to the federal-state financed assistance programs, such as Aid for Dependent Children, Aged, Disabled and Blind.

The amounts received by area counties were: Clinton, $11,595.35; Greene, $76,684.11; Highland, $10,477.62; Madison $3,442.09; Pickaway, $5,309.06, and Ross, $12,422.26.

Fraud, theft cases listed

A failure-to-pay incident and theft of a camera were investigated by police and sheriff's departments Wednesday.

Sheriff's deputies said two men who left the Pure Plaza Restaurant, U.S. 35 and I-71, early Wednesday without paying for their meal were apprehended and later returned to the restaurant to settle their bill.

The pair was nabbed at the I-71 and U.S. 56 interchange after a waitress managed to obtain the license number of the car as they drove from the restaurant. They were released after paying $2.66 for the meals.

Mrs. Royce Kellenberger, 1010 Millwood Ave., reported the theft of a Polaroid camera and a lawn chair from her home. The camera was removed from a dresser and the chair from the lawn sometime after Sunday. Loss was set at $43.

Short circuit blamed for dairy store fire

A short circuit in an electric wire was blamed for a blaze at the Sagar Dairy Depot, 1304 N. North St., at 8:09 p.m. Wednesday

Firemen said the blaze caused minor damaged to a pop cooler. Firemen were on the scene about 20 minutes.

Firemen also were dispatched to a reported blaze in a truck at the rear of 320 Sycamore St. but when they arrived they could find no fire.

Economic questions being asked

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You are aware, of course, that in matters economic there is no gospel. The lamentable experiences of the past few years have taught the vainest of theorists that they might be wrong and that they must question.

Here are some of the questions being asked today:

—Now that limits on savings account interest have been raised, will customers be drawn away from the U.S. Savings Bond program?

The bond program has been thriving in the past few years because it offered not only a competitive 5.5 per cent interest rate but the convenience of payroll deduction, some tax benefits and the highest degree of security.

But now some banks will be offering a much higher return. Four-year certificates of deposit may pay 7.5 per cent or more if held to maturity.

In contrast, a savings bond yields 5.5 per cent only if held to maturity in 5 years, 10 months. If redeemed before then, the rate is considerably smaller.

While Treasury officials have expressed little public concern, prior experience demonstrates that small savers don't let patriotism stand in the way of a couple of percentage points.

—Why are corporations complaining about low stock market prices, especially for their own shares, when officers who manage corporate pension funds are sitting on their hands bemoaning the lack of market leadership?

Some companies manage their own funds, some delegate management authority to banks and others. In either case, the corporation is in a position to exert the market leadership it says is lacking.

Some pension funds are believed to hold cash ratios of 10 to 15 per cent or more of assets, suggesting they are waiting for the market to give indications of forward movement before committing themselves.

—Did the Agriculture Department overestimate the 1973 harvest?

If it did, then Phase 4 is going to be a lot more hectic than it might have been. And food prices could rise like leavened bread.

The department, whose record on forecasting food prices is poor, estimates that there will be record crops of soybeans and corn, essential foods for the production of meat, milk and eggs.

It foresees a harvest of 1.5 billion bushels of soybeans, compared with 1.28 million bushels last year. The corn crop is estimated at 5.9 billion bushels, topping by far the record of 5.64 billion set in 1971.

Contracts awarded for Air Force tires

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Air Force officials at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base announced Wednesday the awarding of contracts totaling more than $5 million to the Goodyear and Uniroyal companies for aircraft tires.

Goodyear in Akron got three contracts totaling $4.7 million to make tires for fighter-bombers and other planes. Uniroyal of Detroit was awarded a $1.1 million contract to make tires for the T-37 and T-38 jet planes.

Blaze damage heavy

DELTA, Ohio (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin caused an estimated $125,000 damage Wednesday to the C. C. Mitchell Machine Shop here. The company rebuilds factory equipment.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Do-Nothing-Ism

In some modern minds, the legendary Confucian advice to "see no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil" has been translated into one simple rule: "Don't get involved." Do nothing, says this rule, and you won't get into trouble.

To a considerable degree, do-nothing-ism has been sanctioned by the common law. Traditionally we have been reluctant to impose any legal penalty for the mere failure to be helpful.

For example, courts have turned down damage claims against the following individuals:

1) A man who watched impassively while a young woman drowned, even though he could easily have gone to her aid;

2) A man who called no warning to a neighbor's child whom he saw hammering on a tube of gunpowder;

3) A man who failed to remove a rock from the roadway, even though he knew it was a menace to traffic.

In each case the moral duty was plain enough. But the courts all agreed that moral duties were a matter of conscience, not law.

IN RECENT YEARS, however, the law has been requiring people to lend a hand in an increasing number of situations — notably, when there is a special relationship between the parties.

Thus, courts have imposed an affirmative duty on a host toward his guest, on a store toward its customer, on a hotel toward its patron, on a railroad toward its passengers.

Legislators, too, may create a duty to act in specific circumstances. Under hit-and-run statutes, for instance, a motorist may be required to give aid to accident victims regardless of whether he was legally to blame for the accident.

This kind of responsibility is based neither on fault nor on any special relationship. Rather, it is based on a humanitarian feeling that when the moral duty is so clear, the law ought to put muscle behind it.

BancOhio board posts dividend

COLUMBUS — The board of directors of BancOhio Corp. Wednesday declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per common share payable Sept. 14, to shareholders of record Aug. 31, Philip F. Searle, president and chief executive officer of BancOhio, announces.

Shareholders of BancOhio stock may have these cash dividends reinvested in additional shares of the corporation's common stock through the automatic dividend reinvestment service. If shareholders, who are not currently enrolled, sign the agreement prior to Aug. 31, the September dividend would be reinvested in full or fractional shares which would begin to earn dividends immediately.

BancOhio Corp., Ohio's largest multi-bank holding company since its incorporation in 1929, reported 36 affiliate banks which operate 177 banking offices on June 30. On that same date, BancOhio showed total consolidated assets in excess of $2.7 billion.

The First National Bank of Washington C.H. is affiliated with BancOhio.

3 motorcycle club members arraigned in dynamite case

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Arraignment for three members of the Outlaws Motorcycle Club was set for today in Hamilton County Criminal Court.

The three were apprehended early Wednesday when police stopped a truck belonging to club president Thor Hansen. Hansen is sought in connection with three dynamite bombings of a rival gang.

Glen McPhee, 22, Bay City, Mich.; Allen Wolfe, 26, Youngstown, Ohio and William Hoecker, 24, New Baltimore, were charged with carrying concealed firearms.

Mrs. Donahey to run again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Treasurer Gertrude W. Donahey Wednesday turned down nomination for a post on the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. saying she will run for re-election next year.

Mrs. Donahey made her decision known to Sen. Robert A. Taft Jr., R-Ohio, who had nominated her.

"Since I am the first woman elected to a state executive office in this state, I feel it incumbent upon me to place my record before the voters for their opinion of the service I have rendered," she said.

Speaking of Your Health...

Fire Prevention Is Essential

One of the most gratifying experiences in my total practice of medicine occurred the other day.

I received a letter form a family who said that they owed their lives to a suggestion I had made in one of my columns.

Apparently they had followed my advice that fire drills in the home are as essential as fire drills in schools, factories or office buildings.

The most complex medical and surgical advances are devoted to saving the life of a single child.

It is such a paradox, therefore, that there still remains such a wanton waste of lives because of fires.

This waste can be eliminated by concentration on the preventable causes of fire. Even with such effort, fires do occur. In such situations, proper fire drills can at least spare the lives of children and adults.

It is absolutely essential that everyone in the home be prepared for a fire emergency. National and local fire prevention agencies have for years had educational campaigns designed to save lives in the home, the school, in office buildings and factories.

There is no need to terrify anyone during fire drills. Children in the home can in fact learn the life-saving program almost as a game to insure their understanding of the need for protection.

As children grow older, their obligation to younger children in the family gives them new responsibilities.

A good deal of information is available in pamphlets and booklets provided by your local Fire Dpeartment. Your family will then know the importance of closing doors in certain situations, and how to curtail the spread of an early smoldering fire.

Smoke is one of the greatest hazards in fire situations. In fact, smoke may be responsible for more deaths than fire itself.

Instruction of the do's and don'ts during fire are very exact and can readily be taught to children.

Prevention of fires and the methods by which small fires can be extinguished are all part of this planned anti-fire program.

A vast amount of money is spent on hospitals, medicines, and physicians in an effort to restore the health of a single member of the family.

It is a paradox, therefore, that these families can rarely be induced to ferret out the danger spots and fire hazards that lie within the so-called "safety" of their homes.

It may be just a small town, but it's all his

LOTTS CREEK, Iowa (AP) — Realtor Oliver Carlson has bought himself the near-ghost town of Lotts Creek for $4,400 and plans to pump some life into it and into his pocketbook.

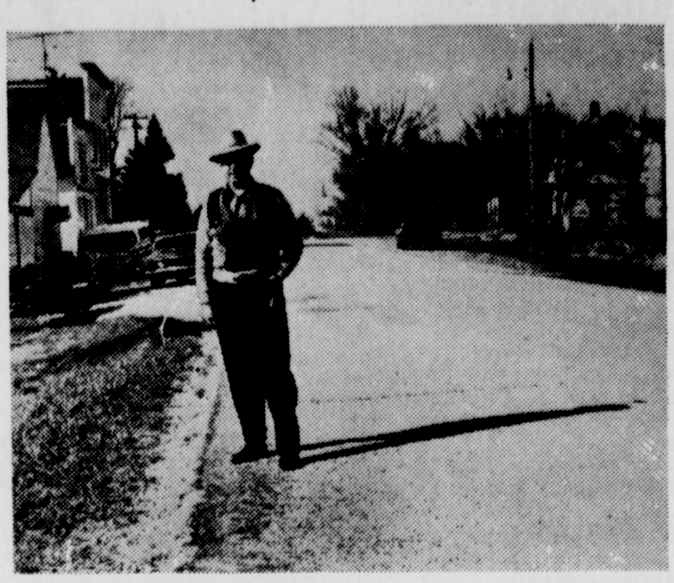
The decision came when the Algona, Iowa, man was having coffee with a fellow realtor who suggested, "Why don't you buy Lotts Creek."

That was in August 1971. Carlson bought one side of the street then and recently completed purchase of the other side of the block-long "downtown" area of this town near the Minnesota Border.

His six buildings include a former general store, hardware store, locker plant, feed store, creamery turned into a cheese factory, and what once was a buttermaker's residence.

Carlson, who allows that some folks "think I'm a little eccentric," says he also owns Oak Lake near Algona along with four other persons. It's a 100-acre sports oasis for snowmobiling and skiing if you like being towed, and "minor league" fishermen can go after bullheads.

At Lotts Creek, Carlson would like to convert the general store and hardware store into vintage museums and antique sales shops.



TOWN OWNER--Realtor Oliver Carlson of Algona, Iowa, stands on the street of Lotts Creek, Iowa, which he recently purchased. The village has six old commercial buildings and a residence.

HE'D OFFER the brick creamery to a small business, explaining, "I'd like to see one that would employ a dozen or 15 people. We need small industries so our young people don't have to go somewhere else."

Right now, Lotts Creek has a population of three in the heart of town — Carl Pijahn, 63, who's lived there since 1919, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pijohn. They own their own place.

If you want to stretch the boundaries half a mile north, you could take n a couple of farms, a church and vacant church school building, plus three other residences.

Carlson, a talkative 49-year-old, would like to restore buildings on both sides the streets much like they were in the 1800s. He has a photograph to work from.

"WE HAVE to preserve some old landmarks or there won't be any left to preserve," said Carlson, who says he has his eyes on a couple of upcoming celebrations with which to coordinate his ideas for rural restoration.

One is the centennial of Lotts Creek Lutheran Church in 1975.

The other is the U.S. bicentennial in 1976, and Carlson is convinced the itch for antique buying among many Americans will increase through that time.

Lotts Creek also has some Indian-settlers lore. Heny Lott reportedly was the first white settler in the area. He clashed with Indians after some of them invaded his place, so the story goes, and slew Chief Sidominduta, a Sisseton Sioux and others in the redman's family.

That brought Indian revenge against white settlers which some historical accounts call the Spirit Lake massacre.

Nutrition gets buyer attention

NEW YORK (AP) — Nutrition ranks second only to price as a food-buying consideration, according to an in-depth study of homemaker attitudes conducted by Hoffmann-La Roche Inc.

The study also indicated that the homemaker believes that breakfast is the most important meal — and the meal that most needs nutritional improvement.

The research was based on a series of panel discussions involving women whose ages, educations and incomes varied widely.

"The study focused on the homemaker because she purchases about 90 per cent of the food products, and is chiefly responsible for preparing and distributing food to her family," said John W. Gage, food nutrition marketing manager.

Fat and fast

CONWAY, Wales (AP) — Scientists at a government experimental station here have discovered that oysters have moods.

The scientists have found by monitoring the heartbeat of the crustaceans that they grow plumper and faster when they are happy.

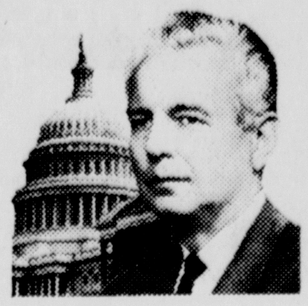
WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio



WASHINGTON — Just before the July 4 recess, Congress approved a 5.6 per cent increase in Social Security benefits effective the month of June 1974. This increase is a full six months ahead of the first scheduled automatic increase adjustment which Congress provided for last year.

The reason for the early increase is that prices rose so rapidly this year — much faster than anticipated when Congress first approved the automatic cost-of-living increase schedule for Social Security benefits.

With prices jumping a full 5.6 per cent, it became obvious that those living on fixed incomes, particularly those depending on their Social Security benefits, would be extremely hard pressed to make ends meet until the first regularly scheduled increase was made.

Essentially, this latest legislation allows the Social Security beneficiaries to receive a portion of this first automatic benefit increase in their checks for June of next year.

In addition, it raises the maximum a Social Security recipient can earn without loss of benefits from $2,100 a year to $2,400, effective Jan. 1, 1974.

This change in the retirement test will provide for additional benefits of $200 million for 1974 for approximately one-and-a-half-million beneficiaries.

THE LAW also increases the Social Security taxable wage base to $12,600 next Jan. 1 to help pay for the new benefits, thus boosting the maximum tax in 1974 from $702 to $738.

Finally, the new law raises the federal welfare guarantees for the aged, blind and disabled from $130 to $140 a month for single persons and from $195 a month to $210 for couples, effective next July 1, and requires the states to make up the difference if their welfare payments are higher than the federal guarantees.

With all of these changes, the average monthly Social Security pensions will go up from $161 to $170 for an individual and from $277 to $293 for a couple.

During the debate in the House on these increases. however, the question of how this Social Security raise would affect beneficiaries also receiving veterans' pensions was discussed at length. Last year, with the 20 per cent Social Security increase, many such individuals either lost their veterans' pensions altogether or saw them reduced because their Social Security benefits were included in the VA income limitation category.

THIS IS a matter over which I am deeply concerned, and I have introduced legislation to correct the problem.

Members of the Veterans Affairs Committee, which deals with this matter, explained that they are now in the process of investigating ways to alleviate this situation, and it is possible that by next year remedial legislation could be enacted to protect veterans' pensions inadvertently lowered by Social Security increases.

It is important to note, however, that the new 5.6 per cent Social Security increase would not become effective until June 1, 1974. Under the veterans' law, because of the end-of-the-year rule, no pensioner under the VA programs would be required to report or count the additional Social Security increase until January 1975.

Therefore, even though the Social Security recipients would begin to receive their increased benefits on July 3, 1974, their VA pensions would not be affected by the increase until the following January.

Before any such pension reductions are made, however, I am hopeful that legislation can be enacted to prevent this. We must insure that all Social Security and VA pension recipients receive the full benefits to which they are justly entitled.

County is low in per-pupil school costs

Fayette County is in the lower 35 per cent of Ohio counties in the per pupil cost of operating public schools.

The average per-pupil cost here is estimated at $622 compared with an average of $818 throughout the state, according to the Ohio Public Expenditure Council.

Within the county, the rates, according to the Council, are $615 per pupil for the Miami Trace District, and $632 for city schools. Of the 620 school districts in the state, Miami Trace is 20th from the bottom in the per pupil total cost.

In the city district, the $632 includes $304 per pupil in State Foundation Program Aid and estimated property taxes of $328. In the county system, the $615 figures include $238 in Foundation aid and $377 in property taxes.

School taxes in Fayette County average $24.37 per $1,000 of taxable value. The county rate is $21.95 and the city rate is $29.25. The levies for operation of the schools are $20.25 for county schools, and $24.55 in the city for a county average of $21.68. The state average is $30.59 for operation and $34.87 for operation and building programs.

According to the Council there are 3,826 students in the Miami Trace system and 2,655 in the city schools.

Kosco stars as Reds win

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Reserve outfielder Andy Kosco of Cincinnati says a new attitude helps him believe he can "hit anyone."

Wednesday night, he tried his positive thinking on Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton and liked the results.

Kosco, making one of his rare starts, drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a double to lead the Reds to a 7-3 victory over Philadelphia.

"About 90 per cent of this game is mental," said Kosco, who nearly quit baseball this spring when shipped to the minor leagues.

Cincinnati acquired Kosco and Phil Gagliano from Boston this spring for pitcher Mel Behney, Kosco was assigned to the Reds' farm team at Indianapolis.

"After you've been in the big leagues for six or seven years, you get spoiled," said Kosco. "I went home for four or five days to think about it. I wasn't sure what I wanted to do."

A series of trades last month left the Reds looking for depth and Kosco was called up to join the seventh major league club of his 14-year career.

One of the best tips Kosco received after his promotion came last week from a former Philadelphia second baseman who often had problems with a bat.

His name was Sparky Anderson, who in 1959 had a career-low batting of .218 with the Phils.

Anderson told Kosco he was moving his body into a pitch too fast to get power in his swing. Kosco responded during his next at-bat with a homer.

"Sparky told me he didn't care how many times I struck out as long as I was swinging the bat hard," he said.

Batting instructor Ted Kluzewski also detected a flaw.

"Most batting instructors try to change everything. Klu was simple and changed just one thing. It really helped me and I don't think I'll stop hitting for some time," Kosco said.

"Now I don't believe anyone can get me out," said Kosco, who had only a .100 batting average a week ago.

Carlton was cruising along with a 1-0 lead after five innings when the Reds broke through with three straight doubles by Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and Dave Concepcion. An intentional walk to Johnny Bench backfired when Kosco hit his homer to deal Carlton his 10th loss of the season. Carlton has nine wins.

Left Tom Hall upped his record to 6-4 with a 10-strikeout performance that produced Cincinnati's 14th win against five losses in July. The victory allowed the Reds to finish their season play against the Phils with an 8-4 mark.

The Reds, who reached the million mark in attendance for the fourth consecutive year, open a four-game series with Montreal tonight. Ross Grimsley, 9-5, will oppose Bill Stoneman, 4-5.

Padres stop fading Cubs, 8-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I've always believed that August and September are the crucial months of the season," says Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell. Whitey Lockman of the Chicago Cubs isn't even thinking that far ahead.

"Losing six in a row is not what I consider real adversity," Lockman said Wednesday after his Cubs lost 8-5 to San Diego in Chicago and nearly handed their first-place berth in the National League East to St. Louis. "The Cardinals are hot, but by the time we play them here the last weekend of July, we might be six or seven games ahead of them."

In the rest of the National League, Pittsburgh downed Los Angeles 3-2, the New York Mets lambasted Atlanta 12-2, Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 7-3 and Montreal edged Houston 3-2 in 10 innings.

Giants 8, Cardinals 3

The Cards were victimized by San Francisco's 14-hit attack. Gary Matthews led it with a two-run homer and a run-scoring double and Tito Fuentes kicked in with a pair of RBI singles in the Giants' 8-3 victory.

But St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst was hardly pessimistic after failing to take over first place, recalling that the Cards tried and failed four times before finally getting to the .500 break-even point.

Pirates 3, Dodgers 2

Stargell's 27th home run of the season in the sixth inning snapped a tie, gave Pittsburgh a 3-2 decision and halted Los Angeles' winning streak at seven games.

He had a perfect four-for-four night with two singles, a double and the home run.

Mets 12, Braves 2

Rusty Staub led the Mets' 15-hit, 12-2 stampeding of the Braves with five runs batted in on a pair of homers, his ninth and 10th of the season, and a bases-loaded walk.

Reds 7, Phillies 3

Andy Kosco had a hand in both of the rallies that carried Cincinnati past the Steve Carlton and the Phillies 7-3. Successive doubles by Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and Dave Concepcion gave the Reds two quick runs in the sixth inning and, after a walk, Kosco gave them three more with his second home run.

Expos 3, Astros 2

The Expos' Ron Hunt, who has a habit of getting hit by pitches, did it again—for the 22nd time this year and the (ouch!) 225th time of his black-and-blue career. It happened leading off the 10th inning against Houston's Cecil Upshaw.

Upshaw wasn't around long enough to get upset. Juan Pizarro took the mound immediately—and a few minutes later, with Hunt on third, unleashed a wild pitch that let Hunt come home with the decisive run.

JUST FOR KICKS — George Blanda, veteran Oakland Raider quarterback, was unsuccessful with this kick. The aging star tried to boot a football across a river in Chicago, but the banks were too far apart.

LL stars win, 5-4

Washington C.H.'s Little League all-stars, with a sparkling defensive performance, edged Dayton View 5-4 Wednesday night in Dayton to take the first step in the district tournament.

Washington C.H., by virtue of the victory, will host Fairborn American at 3 p.m. Saturday at Wilson Field. Fairborn American was the winner of its opening round game Wednesday.

Ronnie West was the winning pitcher as Washington C.H. scored the victory. The tall hurler fanned 11 while permitting just four Dayton View hits.

Playing as the home team, Washington C.H. scored two runs in its half of the first inning on two hits, and held on to the lead the rest of the way.

In the second inning, manager Chuck Howard's team came up with two hits but couldn't score. Washington C.H. wrapped up the triumph in the fifth frame, scoring three times on two hits.

Joe Smith led the WCH offensive thrust with a single and a double. Adding singles were Fred Jones, Glen Cobb, Marty Huffman and Ron West.

Although Washington C.H. benefited from good pitching and timely hitting, the key to the victory was slick fielding. Several players turned in fine plays.

Royal Blue wins twice

Royal Blue won two games Wednesday in Jeffersonville Little League play, one of them the completion of a game stopped earlier in the season. In the completed game, Royal Blue edged Fayette County Bank 5-4. In the regular game, it was 16-9. The Merchants dumped Dinkler Plastics 7-0 in the other game.

Darrell Williams was the winning pitcher in the suspended game, while Kevin Anderson took the loss. Tony Knox singled twice and Williams had a double for Royal Blue, while Anderson tripled and homered and Tom Valentine singled twice for the Bank.

In the regular game, Kirk McDonald was the winning pitcher and had a double. Tim Glispie singled and doubled and Knox had two singles for Royal Blue, while Anderson had a double and two singles for the Bank. Dale Jordan was the losing pitcher.

Do Do Time wins Scioto Downs race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Do Do Time came on strong in the stretch to win the featured race at Scioto Downs by three-quarters of a length Wednesday night and returned $12.40, $5.60 and $3.40.

Slick Time paid $9 and $5.40 for second and Principal, $3 for show.

Old Blue and Hideaway Butch combined for a 2-6 daily double payoff of $29. The 3-4 quinella was worth $24.30.

Lee pitches Red Sox to win over Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As American League pitchers go, Bill Lee and Jim Colborn are not exactly household names.

Both were named to the American League All-Star team earlier this week, however, and Wednesday they showed why.

Lee, rumored to be on Boston's trading block this spring, pitched the Red Sox to a 6-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox, scattering eight hits. The victory moved Boston 1½ games behind the first-place New York Yankees in the AL East.

Tommy Harper provided the batting support for Lee against the White Sox, belting a three-run home run — his fourth homer in the past week.

Colborn, meanwhile, hurled a five-hitter—despite having his disagreements with home plate umpire Joe Brinkman—as the Milwaukee Brewers posted a 3-0 win over the Texas Rangers.

"He made me fight all the way tonight," noted Colborn.

"I understand he later called me a crybaby. It's a good thing I didn't hear him say that, or I would have been kicked out of the game."

Dave May cracked a two-run homer to back Colborn up.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Minnesota Twins blanked the New York Yankees 3-0, the Detroit Tigers routed the Kansas City Royals 14-4, the Baltimore Orioles stopped the Oakland A's 5-2 and the Cleveland Indians beat the California Angels 10-8 in 11 innings.

Twins 3, Yankees 0

Veteran Jim Kaat scattered six hits and designated hitter Tony Oliva smacked a two-run homer, leading the Twins to a 3-0 decision over New York at Yankee Stadium.

"I had my best stuff today, even better than when I pitched a one-hitter at California earlier this month," Kaat said.

Tigers 14, Royals 4

The Tigers tied their season highs for runs and hits, routing the Royals 14-4 with an 18-hit barrage highlighted by three-run homers by Gates Brown and Dick McAuliffe.

Micky Stanley and Duke Sims also homered for Detroit, while little Freddie Patek homered for Kansas City.

Orioles 5, A's 2

Merv Rettenmund led off the game with a homer, then added a two-run blast in the second inning, sending the Orioles on their way to a 5-2 decision over the Oakland A's.

Jim Palmer, 10-6, fired a six-hitter for Baltimore. Oakland's runs came on a two-run homer by Gene Tenace in the second inning, his 17th of the season.

Indians 10, Angels 8

John Ellis' two-out, two-run homer in the 11th inning lifted the Indians to a 10-8 decision over the Angels.

California had jumped out to an 8-3 lead on the strength of a five-run second inning. But Cleveland chipped away at the lead, tying the score with two runs in the ninth on singles by Buddy Bell and Oscar Gamble, a wild pitch and a single by Charlie Spikes.

Lilly's grid future uncertain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All-Pro defensive tackle Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys has canceled a news conference today in Dallas at which he had been expected to announce his retirement from the National Football League.

A team spokesman said late Wednesday night that the unhappy Lilly will fly back today to Thousand Oaks, Calif., where the team is training, with Tex Schramm, the club's general manager.

The spokesman, said, however, that Lilly has not reached a firm decision on whether to play another season in the NFL. An associate said the 33-year-old Lilly's decision to retire was caused by "a combination of a lot of things. There are a lot of unhappy players in camp."

If Lilly does not yield the Schramm's entreaties, he would become one of a long line of Cowboys who have retired since the end of last season. Center Dave Manders retired Tuesday, while off-season exits included such Cowboy stars as Lance Alworth, Chuck Howley, Mike Ditka and George Andrea.

Quarterback Craig Morton has also absented himself from the Cowboy camp because of a contract hassle.

While departures were worrying the Cowboy coaching staff, it was the return of running back Duane Thomas that was creating a stir in the training camp of the San Diego Chargers.

Coach Harland Svare lifted the suspension he had placed on the moody former Dallas Cowboy star when he failed to report on time Sunday. Svare said, however, that an undisclosed fine would stick despite Thomas' return. Svare said Thomas phoned him Tuesday night and asked to come to camp.

Teammates are still waiting to welcome Larry Brown who is trying something that is a new first in the bizarre world of contract negotiations.

The 1972 NFL most valuable player has not reported to the Wasington Redskins training camp at Carlisle, Pa. because he said he wants an agreement on a multi-year contract, beginning with 1974, after his current three-year pact ends.

In effect, what Brown is doing is holding out a year in advance, and Edward Bennett Williams, Redskins president, is having none of it.

Dennis Homan announced that he was retiring from pro football, after three years at Dallas and two at Kansas City. The pass catcher was sidelined much of last season with a hamstring injury.

Veteran running back Greg Jones left the San Francisco 49er camp, apparently ending his football career, while the 49ers placed eight other players on waivers.

The Dolphins announced that Larry Csonka had pulled a thigh muscle during a training camp workout and might miss the July 27 game against the College All-Stars in Chicago. Coach Don Shula said the injury will sideline Csonka for seven to 10 days.

The Philadelphia Eagles suffered their second major injury of the preseason when 260-pound rookie tackle Branislav Keser tore ligaments in his leg.

Dixie 500 time trials start today

HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) — It will be David Pearson in his Wood brothers' Mercury against Bobby Allison and Cale Yarborough in fast Chevrolets today in the race for the pole position of Sunday's Dixie 500 stock car race.

Pearson, winner of eight of his last nine races in the Mercury and about to become only the second million dollar winner in the racing sport, tops the list of driving aces shooting for the initial 12 spots in the starting field of 40.

Twelve other positions will be filled in time trials Friday and the final 16 spots on Saturday. The $102,880 race, a 500-mile test over the 1.52-mile, high-banked Atlanta International Raceway asphalt oval, is slated for 1:30 p.m., EDT, Sunday.

Pearson, 38, in his 14th year on the Grand National circuit, has earned $970,500. Sunday's race is worth $16,000 to the winner.

Kennedy to retire from NBA when pact runs out in 1975

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Kennedy, who has announced his retirement as National Basketball Association commissioner when his contract expires on June 1, 1975, says he has no intention of being a "lame-duck" czar in the next two years.

"I won't be a lame-duck, nor will I be a dead duck," the affable Kennedy said at a news conference Wednesday in disclosing his future plans. "I hope to be a live goose."

Kennedy, commissioner since Sept. 1, 1963, will help choose his successor in addition to tending to his duties as commissioner for the next two years. He and Ned Irish, president of the New York Knicks and a founder of the league since its inception in 1946 as the Basketball Association of America, have been named by the league's owners as members of the screening committee to find a successor to the outgoing commissioner.

Kennedy, who will be 62 when he retires, emphasized there was no pressure on him to relinquish his position, despite two published reports in the past two months that he would be fired.

"I owe it to my family (his wife, three children and two grandchildren) to devote more time to them, to do more traveling, which I enjoy, and to do more work for the public service organizations of which I am a member," he said.

However, when he relinquishes his post as commissioner, the devoted Kennedy will not completely sever his ties with the NBA. He will be a consultant for the league, at a salary in excess of $500,000 for 10 years.

Irish also said that the League's Board of Governors, at its meeting in Beverly Hills, Calif., late last month, had offered Kennedy an extension of his present five-year contract, but he rejected it.

Trevino sets busy summer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lee Trevino is back on his old, hardworking routine, a schedule that made him pro golf's fastest millionaire and an almost instant superstar.

"I'm going to play at least eight weeks in a row," Trevino said before teeing off today in the first round of the $210,000 St. Louis Childrens' Hospital Classic.

Earlier this year, Trevino experimented by taking time off to prepare for the big events— skipping competition in weeks prior to the American and British Opens. He didn't win either tourney.

In fact, he hasn't won since early in March, has only two triumphs this year and has collected only some $30,000 in the past three months.

3 rookie running backs look good to Brown

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals coach Paul Brown Wednesday tabbed three rookie running backs who are giving the veterans a run for their money—and their jobs.

Brown said Charles Clark of Bethune-Cookman, Bob McCall of Arizona and Joe Wilson of Holy Cross have definite possibilities.

NEW SCOREBOARD — Workmen completed installation of the new football scoreboard at Gardner Park Stadium Tuesday. The board was purchased by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. for about $2,200. The main feature of the new facility is a digital clock, replacing the often-confusing circular model. The old scoreboard was in use about 15 years.

Cook determined to play or quit

"I'll quit before I sit on the bench," said the Cincinnati Bengals quarterback as he attempts a comeback after three years out of football.

"I've never been No. 2 and I don't plan to be now," said Cook, who was touted as a blond Joe Namath after his sensational rookie season in 1969.

Cook, who turns 27 in August, is trying to shake off the effects of three major operations on his shoulder.

"I'm still not back to what I can be or will," the trim, floppy-haired Cook says confidently. "All I need to do though is throw, throw, throw."

"It's been a lot of hills and valleys, but mostly one big valley," said Cook of his forced retirement.

"It's been a big void being away from football," he said as the Bengals work out in preparation for their Aug. 4 exhibition opener against World Champion Miami.

Cook, whose passing helped produce a 4-9-1 record in 1969— best mark ever by a second-year expansion club — says the difference between the Bengals four years ago and now "is like night and day. On paper we have an excellent team.

"We're so much better off now. We've got so much more experience and better people per position," said Cook, who passed for 1,854 yards and 15 touchdowns in his initial season.

The 6-foot-4, 212-pound former University of Cincinnati passing standout was considered one of football's bright young prospects after leading the Bengals to three major upsets in 1969.

"We're not pressing him," Brown said. "He gets exasperated with himself. He knows what he was before and keeps thinking about it."

Jeff, Willis score wins in BR play

Willis Insurance and Jeffersonville posted wins Wednesday in Fayette Babe Ruth League play, keeping them both in the thick of the pennant scramble with 8-4 records. Willis rolled over the Medics 13-0 at Roszmann Field while Jeffersonville bopped visiting Bloomingburg 8-4.

Willis banged 12 hits in the abbreviated contest, with Stackhouse and Wilson belting three apiece. Doug Maddux drove in four runs, with English and Wilson knocking in three apiece.

Willis plated four runs in the second inning, three in the third and six in the fourth.

Foster, Jones and Ackley pitched for the Medics.

Jeffersonville erupted for seven runs in the first inning and coasted on to its win over Bloomingburg.

Smith cracked a pair of doubles and Spears had a double and a single to lead Jeffersonville's eight-hit attack.

Bobbitt was the winning pitcher, with four strikeouts. He yielded four hits.

Connors took the loss for Bloomingburg. He fanned seven.

3 Dodgers chosen for NL all-stars

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cincinnati Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson, has shown his respect for the Los Angeles pitching staff in making his selections for a pitching staff for the National League All-Star team.

Starters Claude Osteen, 11-6, and Don Sutton, 12-5, and reliever Jim Brewer were among the eight pitchers Anderson selected for the National League All-Star team that will face the American League next Tuesday night in Kansas City.

Anderson's other All-Star pitchers will be Jack Billingham of the Reds, Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, Wayne Twitchell of Philadelphia, Rick Wise of St. Louis and Dave Giusti of Piitsburgh.

Seaver was picked to play in the midsummer baseball classic a seventh straight year. Osteen and Sutton are the only other 1973 selections who have seen All-Star Game action.

Anderson chose six righthanders and just two lefties— Osteen and Brewer.

Anderson will announce the remainder of the National League squad Friday. League batting leader Manny Mota of the Dodgers is among the players hoping for admission to the team then.

Mixed reaction to Phase 4 in Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation reacted to President Nixon's new Phase 4 price rules Wednesday with general approval and predictions of fast-rising food prices.

But a supermarket chain condemned the regulations as more "artificial restraints" and a labor leader predicted the effects of the program would be disastrous.

C. William Swank of the Farm Bureau said that under Phase 4, the nation's food supplies and prices should get back to normal.

"However, I don't think food prices will ever get back to as low as they were before," he added.

Swank said he didn't feel food prices should be lowered to previous standards because "food prices are just now starting to catch up with the rest of the economy."

He predicted food prices would rise 15 or 20 per cent "as soon as it is legally possible," and then level off about 10 per cent over current prices by October.

Swank said meat prices would depend on the cost of grain. "If grain prices rise, farmers will sell grain rather than livestock," he said.

Swank had one criticism of the new price rules.

"I don't understand the continued price freeze on beef. It only means that the public will be without beef for that much longer," he said.

He said Americans would have to give up other luxuries now because they will have to bid with the rest of the world for food.

Under Phase 4, price increases will be permitted only when they reflect an actual dollar-for-dollar increase in the cost of raw agricultural products since June 8.

Beef prices will remain frozen until Sept. 12, when manufacturers and processors will be allowed to pass on all cost increases on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

The freeze will remain on other sectors of the economy until Aug. 12, when increases can only reflect actual cost hikes.

The 5.5 per cent guideline on wages continues.

The Kroger Co., headquartered in Cincinnati, predicted that the "artificial restraints" will cause some products to disappear from store shelves.

The company said those restraints would also prolong price increases which it said will be necessary if supermarkets are to stay in business.

A spokesman for the company said the supermarket industry is already under stress because it is the only industry which has been consistently under strict controls and unable to pass along all its increased costs since August, 1971.

"With industry profits already at an all-time low of six-tenths of one penny per dollar of sales, there is no leeway to absorb continued increases in operating costs, for example taxes, wages and fuels," Kroger said.

Frank King, president of the Ohio AFL-CIO, said Phase 4 will be a disaster.

"It's another one of those hit and miss deals—they always hit the working man and miss the other guy," he said.

King said the real "hooker" in the program is the provision for allowing price increases.

"Who determines what their costs are?" he asked. "How can the working man know what their costs are?"

Carl Fazio, chairman of the board of the Fisher-Fazio-Costa supermarket chain in Cleveland, said increased costs for food at his stores will be passed on to the consumer dollar-for-dollar, with nothing added for more profits.

"We will cooperate fully with the government as we have always done," Fazio continued. "The free economy system is best for the country. Hopefully we will get back to the free enterprise system where prices are determined by supply and demand."

Arthur Genshaft, president of Superior's Barn Meats, Inc. in Massillon, said he'll rehire the 100 employes he laid off a week ago as soon as prices stabilize and "we can come out alive.

"If producers are holding back, and enough supplies come in, prices might level off quickly," Genshaft noted. "We are at the mercy of livestock producers."

A representative of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. said the President's message "removes what might have been a major barrier to the increase we need." The phone company is currently seeking a $98 million rate increase from the Ohio Public Utilities Commission.

Spokesmen for Standard Oil of Ohio said they don't expect ceilings on gasoline and crude oil to have any big effect on the company because the firm's wholesale price hasn't changed in three years.

Defense offers its testimony in heroin trial

The state rested and the defense opened its case Wednesday in the case of Tommy Lee James, alleged seller of heroin in the Lima area, who was brought here for trial after an Allen County jury failed to reach a verdict.

An official of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs from Cleveland testified that a "white powder" allegedly bought from James was in fact heroin.

The defense opened with the Allen County sheriff and clerk of courts who testified to the background of the state's key witness, Bate LeMaster. They brought documents showing his criminal record which indicated that he had been arrested on numerous occasions, including a conviction for use of heroin a few months prior to the arrest of James.

Four other witnesses appeared for the defense Wednesday. They have been lodged in correctional institutions after pleading guilty to drug charges. All had been arrested during the raid which resulted in James' arrest.

Their testimony was filled with contradiction. One stated she had seen no drugs at the apartment the night of the raid, but during cross-examination admitted that a strip search at the Allen County Jail the night of the raid had disclosed $500 worth of heroin hidden on her person.

Three of the witnesses testified that LeMaster, the alleged buyer and police informer, had come to the apartment, but was told to get out. They said that he asked for drugs, but was told that he could get none there. The Fourth testified that he was in the apartment all day and all night, and that LeMaster never came there at all.

The defense will call two more witnesses before James himself takes the stand later Thursday.

REV. AND MRS. WILEY R. BAKER

New minister named for rural churches

STAUNTON — The Rev. Wiley R. Baker has accepted the pastorate of the Staunton and White Oak Grove churches, following 15 days of retirement from another church. He replaces Rev. Henry Simmons who has left the ministry for health reasons.

He had served in the ministry for 30 years prior to his retirement in June, but 15 days later the district superintendent asked him to serve at Staunton and White Oak. After meeting some members of the congregations, the Rev. Mr. Baker accepted the position.

Mr. Baker had begun his ministry in West Virginia but transferred to the West Ohio Conference in 1960.

The Rev. and Mrs. Baker have moved into the Gardner Retirement Center, 223 W. Circle Ave.

Minimum pay bill passage set; Nixon veto expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans say that unless a bill to raise the minimum wage to $2.20 an hour is scaled down, it faces an almost certain veto by President Nixon.

A final vote on the measure was set for today after the Senate on Wednesday rebuffed attempts to substitute the GOP proposal, generally acceptable to the Nixon administration, for the bill drawn by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

Sponsors of the GOP substitute, turned down 57 to 40, said they are now hoping to amend the bill section by section. They claim the bill will speed inflation unless modified.

The vote against the less-generous substitute came despite cautioning from Republicans that the committee bill would probably be vetoed by President Nixon.

Sens. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., main sponsors of the committee bill, were expected to defend it today against the renewed Republican attacks.

Although the GOP substitute would raise the basic minimum wage to $2.30 an hour by 1977, rather than to $2.20 in 1974, there were major differences involving who would be eligible for the minimum.

The Republican version would extend minimum-wage coverage—but not overtime—to five million federal, state and local government employes. It would not change existing exemptions or create new ones.

The committee bill would extend coverage—with overtime— to the same government employes. In addition, it would bring one million domestic servants under minimum wage, and extend coverage, with overtime, to 562,000 employes of small businesses, and to workers in such small manufacturing-selling operations as bakeries and lumber yards.

The main bill also would repeal exemptions that have denied the minimum wage to migrant and seasonal farm workers.

Backers of the committee bill described it as a humanitarian approach to helping low-income workers. But opponents pictured it as a threat to Nixon's economic-stabilization program.

Williams said his committee rejected the contention that a successful anti-inflation program "depends upon keeping the income of millions of American workers below officially established poverty levels."

Viet bonus plan OKd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A joint conference committee of the Ohio legislature reached agreement today on a constitutional resolution to pay bonuses of up to $500 each to the state's Vietnam war veterans.

The action virtually assured approval by the two chambers. Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, the main sponsor, said the House and Senate probably will vote on the proposal Monday or Tuesday.

It would go before voters in November.

Riffe said the conferees agreed for the bonus to be funded from the general revenue fund in anticipation of proceeds from a state lottery.

Summer activities and out-of-town business prevented any action by the Washington Zoning Board of Appeals at its Wednesday night meeting. Due to a lack of a quorum the meeting was continued.

One member is in Europe, another was out-of-town on business, and a third member was in Dayton with a Little League baseball team.

Two cases are currently pending before the board.

House OKs tough bill on abortion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives have approved a tough new abortion bill making physicians criminally liable for taking the life of a fetus alive at the time of birth.

The vote Wednesday was 76-20 after more than three hours of debate that included quotations from the Bible and charges that the Catholic Church was attempting "to impose its dictates and will on the populace."

In other action during a marathon day and night floor session, the House voted 76-12 to give a tax break to owners of property used for recreational purposes. It added an amendment, however, that denies the break to country club operators and others who discriminate on the basis of sex, race, religion, or national origin.

The tax proposal, which would go before voters in the November election, would authorize assessment of land used exclusively for outdoor recreation on the basis of its current use. Presently, the assessments are on the basis of market value.

House sponsors said the proposal would be a companion of one already on the ballot that gives the same lower assessment to lands used exclusively for farming. In both instances, the forgiven taxes would be recovered on sale of the land or its conversion to another use.

The recreational lands resolution now returns to the Senate for consideration of the discrimination amendment.

House Judiciary Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, sponsored the abortion bill, which he said resulted from recommendations of the Catholic Conference of Ohio and three months of deliberations in the Judiciary Committee.

Wilkowski said since records are not now required, "Wholesale slaughter could be taking place around the state."

Some opponents claimed the measure cannot meet court tests.

Others—including Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights—said the bill would create a dilemma among judges seeking to interpret such language as "a fetus born alive."

Rep. Frank H. Mayfield Jr., R-65 Cincinnati, was of 10 Republicans who opposed the bill, charged that its "Catholic sponsors" were opposed to abortion for any reason. He asserted it is wrong "for one church to seek to impose its dictates and will upon the populace."

Mayfield was ruled out of order by the speaker after shouts of protests around the chamber.

Rep. M. Joan Douglass, R-61 Mansfield, offered an unsuccessful amendment that would have made the fathers of children lost through abortions liable to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine, or both.

In other business, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

—Revise the reserve requirements of building and loan associations.

—Allow game protectors to make arrests on Division of Wildlife lands and making other revisions in wildlife laws, including an increase from $5 to

Phase 4 program means higher food prices

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are facing significantly higher food prices now that President Nixon has lifted the price freeze from the food industry as part of his Phase 4 anti-inflation program.

Only beef remains subject to strict price ceilings, and then only until Sept. 12. Lifting the freeze from the food industry was Nixon's first move into his new Phase 4 wage and price controls system.

Non-food items will remain under the provisions of the 60-day freeze announced June 13 by Nixon, until its expiration Aug. 12. At that time non-food goods will become subject to Phase 4 regulations.

There will be price ceilings for gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel under Phase 4, and big business will be required to absorb some of its increased costs by cutting down on profit margins.

The President said in a statement issued Wednesday: "There is no way, with or without controls, to prevent substantial rise of food prices."

* * * *

"The evidence is becoming overwhelming that only if a rise of food prices is permitted how can we avoid shortages and still higher prices later," he said.

Prices are likely to increase the most in the next few days for poultry and pork products, and fresh fruits and vegetables, all of which were reported to be severely pinched by the price freeze.

The President said he would do "everything in my power" to end wage and price controls by the end of the year, but said he did not think it wise to set a specific date for lifting controls.

Palestine terrorist frees 15 hostages

ATHENS (AP) — An armed Palestinian gunmen held 15 persons hostage in an Athens hotel for more than four hours today, then released them and was driven to Athens Airport with three Middle East ambassadors.

The gunman held the hostages at a hotel after failing to smash his way into the local offices of the Israeli airline.

Late this afternoon he walked out of the hotel in the company of the Iraqi, Libyan and Egyptian ambassadors. All four entered the Iraqi's car and drove off toward the airport.

The gunman had demanded safe passage out of Greece. At first he had asked to be accompanied to the airport by Deputy Premier Stylianos Patakos, threatening to kill the hostages if his demand was not met.

Patakos refused, according to a police official who quoted the deputy premier as saying: "I won't negotiate with every bum around.'"

By then the Libyan and Egyptian ambassadors had arrived at the luxury Amalia Hotel to talk to the gunman. He spoke only Arabic.

The hostages included American guests in the hotel, two Greek policemen, a priest, some children and hotel employes. The Palestinian took 40 persons hostage at the hotel initially, but released all but 15 of them.

The terrorist, who appeared to be in his late 20s, was armed with a submachine gun, two hand grenades and two revolvers. He fired a burst from his submachine gun, splattering the walls of the hotel lobby, but hit no one.

"I am not afraid to die," the terrorist told Associated Press correspondent Philip Dopoulos. "I have no desire to live. After I shoot these people, I will pull the pin out of my hand grenade and kill myself and everyone else around.

"Get me Patakos or else."

The man said he came from "occupied Palestine" but did not give his name.

He appeared first at the glass front doors of the local office of El Al, the Israeli airline, located on Constitution Square, the busy center of the Greek capital.

As he swung open the outer doors, a security guard inside spotted his submachine gun and tripped the automatic lock on the inner doors.

Scores of police rushed to the square, roped off the area, diverted traffic and began a search of the buildings in the area.

Nixon plan: tight money, budget

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's economic policy now consists of tight money, a tight budget and tight wageprice controls.

The question is whether the three together will cool off the booming economy and head the nation into a recession next year or do what Nixon wants: halt the inflationary spiral and lead to steady economic growth with a low unemployment rate.

In his effort to take the steam out of the boom in price increases that began early this year, Nixon has clamped down harder on businesses with tougher price controls and has trimmed the federal budget to the point that he withheld billions of dollars appropriated by Congress.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board has tightened monetary policy so much that interest rates are at some of their highest levels ever.

Although price rises will be allowed, the President structured the system to prevent another big price bulge such as the one that occurred after Phase 2 controls were removed.

To strike another blow at inflation, he announced that he will try to trim several billion dollars from federal spending this fiscal year to balance federal budgets for the first time in years.

"The budget policy is a return to that old-time religion: balance the budget," Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz told reporters.

There may be some economists who believe that Nixon is overdoing it and the combination of tight money, tight budget and tight controls will trigger a 1974 recession.

But the President remained confident. He said in a statement the American economy is strong, employment is up and so is production. "There is every prospect for further increases of output, employment and incomes."

Although Phase 4 will be tough, Nixon said it is designed so that wage-price controls can be eliminated, thereby returning to a free economy.

The President said moving back to a free economy immediately "would most likely turn into a detour, back into a swamp of even more lasting controls."

Nixon said he would do everything in his power to lift the restrictions by the end of the year.

The controls system is the most complex of all those Nixon has put into effect. There are separate price rules in the food industry, the petroleum industry, the insurance industry, the health industry, the construction industry and the rest of the economy.

House passes bill to limit war powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has ignored a veto threat by President Nixon and approved a bill that would require presidents to halt within four months any war commitments they make unless Congress grants approval.

The bill was passed 244 to 170 after Nixon served notice by telegram that "I am unalterably opposed to and must veto any bill containing the dangerous and unconstitutional restrictions" in it.

Nixon's telegram was read to the House by Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, who objected to the bill saying it would let Congress force a war halt in 120 days by "twiddling our thumbs" and doing nothing.

"If we don't want a conflict continued the Congress should have the courage and the guts to stand up and vote against it," Ford said.

The bill also came under fire from the House's most outspoken war critics, who contended it would give presidents authority to wage war on their own for 120 days.

"I think there are enough loopholes in this bill to fly sorties of B52s through," said Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y.

Nixon specifically cited the bill's two major features as the "dangerous and constitutional restraints" he said he would have to veto.

The first would require presidents to pull back any U.S. combat force commitments or force enlargements they made on their own in 120 days, unless Congress approved the commitments by then.

The second provides that Congress can order the war action halted any time during the 120 days with a House-Senate concurrent resolution that presidents could not veto.

Ohio Senate acts on major items

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bills setting up a statewide skin cancer detection program and providing for the issuance of temporary watercraft and outboard motor permits were up for floor consideration in the Ohio Senate today.

Sunday horse racing in Ohio got final Senate approval, 23-9, Wednesday and was sent to Gov. John J. Gilligan. An aide to the governor said he had indicated earlier he would sign the measure into law.

Senators approved a number of bills Wednesday, then broke into debate on an unsuccessful resolution asking that lethal experiments on beagle puppies be halted at Wright Patterson Air Force Base.

Toledo Sen. Marigene Valiquette D-11, Toledo, offered the resolution, saying state humane societies had been unable to take action against the experiment, because it is being conducted at a federal installation.

Base officials have confirmed about 250 puppies are being exposed to toxic gases to test exposure limits. The animals' vocal cords are cut to prevent them from barking, they said.

Sen. Robert O'Shaughnessey D-15, Columbus, said the experiments "cannot be equated with experiments to further human life. They obviously further the cause of warfare to destroy human life."

But several Republicans argued that base officials should be allowed to present their side of the story before lawmakers voted.

Also approved and sent to the governor for his consideration were bills expanding the duties of the Secretary of State to cover automatic voting equipment, and bringing office terms of local school superintendents into line with those of county and city superintendents.

The bill was passed and sent to the House that would raise the monetary jurisdiction of municipal courts from $5,000 to $10,000. The measure is expected to decrease the case loads in common pleas courts, sponsors said.

Senators also approved bills requiring the use of motor vehicle headlights in fog, rain, or snow, and authorizing pay increases for police and firemen for their educational achievements.

Other bills approved would:

—Give $6.6 million for operating costs and capital improvements for medical education at Wright State University.

—Require a judge to appoint an interpreter for persons with a speech or hearing defects.

—Allow counties to adopt building regulations by posting a notice.

—Reduce from six to five the number of paid holidays for non-teaching employes who work less than ten months.

—Exempt churches and nonpublic schools from delinquent taxes, penalties and interest accrued by failure to apply for tax exemption.

Aides contradict Mitchell testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pair of John N. Mitchell's key denials conflict with sworn testimony by two former associates.

Mitchell, former attorney general and President Nixon's campaign director, denied approving the Watergate wiretapping or assisting actively in the cover-up.

But his friend and former campaign associate Frederick C. LaRue told the Senate Watergate committee Wednesday he couldn't substantiate Mitchell's claim to have rejected the wiretapping.

And LaRue sided with former campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder in accusing Mitchell of suggesting the destruction of incriminating wiretap files after the Watergate bugging crew was caught last year.

Mitchell hinted in his testimony that he expected LaRue to back up his denials. That would have left Magruder, who accused Mitchell of approving the wiretapping, odd man out.

But, when LaRue testified, it was the other way around.

In contrast to Mitchell's denials, LaRue and Magruder have admitted their own active roles in the cover-up. LaRue already has pleaded guilty to a single count of conspiracy to obstruct justice, and Magruder said he reached a similar bargain with federal prosecutors.

Here is what the three have said:

WIRETAP APPROVAL— Magruder said Mitchell and LaRue, at a March 30, 1972, meeting in Key Biscayne, Fla., both reluctantly agreed to approve a $250,000 plan to wiretap the Democrats. "Mr. Mitchell agreed to the project," Magruder said. "It was specifically approval for initial entry into the Democratic National Committee headquarters."

Mitchell denied it and said he actually disapproved the plan as he had done to two earlier wiretap proposals. He said his veto was unmistakeable: "This again. We don't need this. Out. I am tired of hearing about it. Let's not discuss it any further."

LaRue's story was different from either Mitchell's or Magruder's. LaRue said he argued against the plan as not being worth the risk. And he said he didn't hear Mitchell approve or disapprove the plan. Rather, he quoted Mitchell as saying "Well, this is not something that will have to be decided at this meeting."

LaRue said Magruder left an hour after that and he didn't recall any time when Mitchell might have given Magruder a veto or an approval out of LaRue's hearing.

Watergate probers hear more testimony on payoffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Nixon campaign aide Frederick C. LaRue testified today that he, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III were all aware of a "grand cover-up scheme" to hide the facts behind the Watergate wiretapping.

LaRue told the Senate Watergate committee that when he sought Mitchell's advice in March of this year whether to make a $75,000 payment to one of the Watergate lawyers, Mitchell knew the money was part of the cover-up.

Under questioning by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, the bespectacled Mississippian continued to peel back, dollar by dollar, the story of the payoffs in the Watergate cover-up.

LaRue also said that the $12,000 he took from White House and campaign funds didn't completely cover his own personal expenses in carrying cover-up cash.

Inouye asked LaRue what Dean knew about the $75,000 payment. "He knew it was part of a grand cover-up scheme?" Inouye asked.

"I think that would be a safe assumption," LaRue said.

Q. Were you aware?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was Mitchell aware this was part of the grand cover-up scheme?

A. I would say, Senator, that that is a correct assumption.

The $75,000 payment was the last one LaRue said he made. He said he gave it to William O. Bittman, lawyer for Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt, shortly before Hunt was sentenced on March 23 for his part in the break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

LaRue said Dean, who had helped direct earlier payments to Bittman and others, refused to authorize the final $75,000 and suggested he contact Mitchell. LaRue said he told Mitchell the money was for legal fees, and that Mitchell advised LaRue to go ahead and make the payment.

In another development today, special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox conferred with Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who chaired closed hearings of the Senate Armed Services Committee into an alleged administration effort to involve the Central Intelligence Agency in the Watergate cover-up.

Meanwhile, the committee waited for President Nixon to announce whether he will voluntarily surrender copies of tape-recorded conversations he had with several of the principal figures in the Watergate affair.

And, it was reported that the White House has obtained two sworn statements that President Lyndon B. Johnson installed hidden microphones and telephone taping devices in the White House.

"My hopes are great, my expectations are small," Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., told reporters Wednesday when asked about the expected reply from Nixon.

"I don't know when my patience will run out," Ervin said. "I have a sweet disposition."

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., the vice chairman, was asked the same question and replied: "Not only hasn't the mountain moved, it hasn't quivered."

LaRue testified that he could not back up former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell's claim to have vetoed plans for electronic surveillance of the Democratic National Committee offices in the Watergate.

And LaRue, a friend, staff adviser and campaign associate of the President, said that shortly after the Watergate arrests on June 17, 1972, he had heard Mitchell tell campaign aide Jeb Stewart Magruder he burned incriminating files.

But most of LaRue's afternoon of testimony concerned the payments he

Phase 4 program

—The price freeze is lifted immediately for all food, except beef, permitting the passing on to consumers of increased costs for raw agricultural products that have occurred since June 8. Raw agricultural products remain exempt from controls.

—It will be a mandatory program, requiring advance 30-day notification of price increases by businesses with annual sales of more than $100 million.

—Small businesses employing 60 persons or less will be exempt. So will the lumber industry, public utilities, rents, interest rates and long-term contracts for coal deliveries.

—The guidelines for wage increases will be kept at 5.5 per cent, plus a seven-tenths of one per cent hike in fringe benefits, the same guidelines in effect during the Phase 2 and Phase 3 programs.

—The Health service industry—hospitals and institutions—will be exempted from the freeze at once and returned to the mandatory controls that existed specifically for the health industry under Phase 3. It was not immediately clear how doctors and dentists would be affected.

—The insurance and construction industries will have special regulations.

The objective of Phase 4 was stated as "to moderate the rate of inflation existing during the first six months of 1973 with a minimum adverse effect on supply."

Inflation was increasing at an annual rate of about 9.2 per cent a year at the time the freeze was imposed June 13, with food prices increasing at the virtually unprecedented rate of 22.4 per cent.

Shultz told newsmen the administration would make no new forecast for inflation or the increase in food prices.

"We have not tried to make a precise estimate. Our record in trying to forecast food prices leaves you a little humble," he said, drawing laughter from reporters.

Nixon said in his statement that the increase in prices should be less in the second half of this year than in the first half, and that by next year, "we should be able to achieve a much more moderate rate of inflation."

The President also said he will aim for a balanced budget of $268.7 billion in fiscal 1974. To meet this goal, he said, a number of civilian government empoyes will have to be cut from the federal payroll.

channeled last fall and winter to the lawyers and families of the seven men charged in the watergate break-in.

LaRue inherited the job after Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, found it so distasteful that he asked to be relieved of it, according to testimony.

Using the code name, "Mr. Baker," LaRue said he continued the payments, drawing in part on a $350,000 White House fund.

LaRue has pleaded guilty to one count of conspiracy to obstruct justice and in a prepared statement he told the committee: "I am fully aware now that what I did was wrong, both morally and legally."

He also testified that G. Gordon Liddy, the campaign aide who organized the Watergate bugging team, offered to lay down his life if necessary to prevent the uncovering of the operation and the damage that it might cause to Nixon's re-election campaign.

LaRue said, "Mr. Liddy assured us he would never reveal any information about this in the course of any investigation, even if it led to him, but if we were not satisfied with that assurance, that even though he was personally or morally opposed to suicide, that if we would instruct him to be on any street corner at any time we could have him assassinated."

Liddy's offer to permit himself to be murdered was never taken seriously, LaRue testified.

However, Liddy, who was convicted in the Watergate trial and is now in prison, has never told his Watergate story to investigators.

LaRue testified that he was aware that others were constructing false stories to minimize the political damage of the break-in arrests.

But most of his testimony was about money.

A commitment had been made to pay for the legal and living expenses of the defendants and LaRue said he eventually helped meet that commitment. But he said he did so with no knowledge of who made it in the first place.

"You made assumptions and paid out hundreds of thousands of dollars on the basis of some vague commitment?" asked Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga. "I am trying to find out the source of that commitment."

"I understand that," LaRue replied. "But I do not know the source of that commitment."

Earlier, Kalmbach testified he got his orders to pay out the money from John W. Dean III, who was then counsel to the President. He said John D. Ehrlichman, at the time the No. 2 man on Nixon's staff, had assured him the undertaking was legal and proper.

In other developments, Dean, the ousted presidential counsel, was to go before the House subcommittee investigating the so-called White House "plumbers" unit set up to plug leaks of security information.

Wednesday, David Young, one of the aides who worked with that unit, invoked the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

A similar refusal was made Tuesday by Egil Krogh Jr. who headed the plumbers unit.

Meanwhile, Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., said that 84 persons formerly employed by the Committee for the Re-election of the President, the White House or other executive offices have gone to work for independent government regulatory agencies since last Oct. 1.

Congress approved the death penalty for peacetime espionage Sept. 3, 1954.

Telephone strike problems widen

MARION, Ohio (AP) — More telephone outages and dialing problems were reported today by the General Telephone Co. of Ohio as a strike by 2,800 employes entered its fourth day.

A company spokesman said a federal mediator had not scheduled any negotiation sessions between the firm and the Communication Workers of America.

The spokesman said telephone service was disrupted in at least nine areas of the 70 Ohio counties the company serves.

At Athens, four supervisors were "evacuated" from a repair dispatching center Wednesday night after a group of persons pelted stones at the building, a spokesman said. Athens County sheriff deputies escorted the quartet from the building.

Certain long distance telephone service was also disrupted when a cable at Athens was cut connecting a toll center with a microwave dish which transmits long distance phone conversations.

Service was expected to be restored later today.

A company spokesman said cables were also cut and service crippled at Morrow, Marion, La Rue and West Portsmouth.

The strike began Monday after nearly four months of contract talks failed to bring an agreement between the two sides.

The union is looking for more than the company's seven per cent wage and benefit increase offer for the next two years, a union official said.

Stock list goes down

NEW YORK (AP) — After bidding up prices Wednesday in anticipation of Phase 4, investors appeared to get cold feet today on learning the Phase 4 details. Prices on the stock market were lower in moderate trading.

The noon Dow Jones industrial average of 30 industrials was down 6.54 at 898.86. Declining issues held a 7-to-5 lead over advancing stocks, after Wednesday's broad advance.

In the aftermath of Phase 4, investors seemed worried about a continuation of the price freeze until Aug. 12 as well as an expected pinch on corporate profits during the second half.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 at 22.99 at noon. Volume leader, Kenton Corp., was down ⅛ to 1¼. John H. Harland, off ⅛ to 23¼, and United Foods, up 3.8 to 2⅜, also were active.

Seek rights for retarded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Groups concerned with mentally retarded Ohioans have threatened a lawsuit if state lawmakers do not approve a bill defining the rights of mentally retarded persons.

The Ohio Association for Retarded Children and eight other groups said Wednesday they will file a court suit if a bill reforming the state's mental institutional system is not approved by adjournment, or Aug. 3.

"Right now the conditions violate constitutional rights and basic human dignity of the people. If legislators fail to remedy the conditions, they must be remedied through the courts," said Dr. James Gardner, chairman of the committee on Constitutional Care.

He said the bill, currently in committee, would upgrade conditions in the institutions and protect "human and legal rights" of mentally retarded persons under state care.

Other groups backing the legislation include: The Ohio Council of Churches, Ohio Association for the Deaf, Ohio Coalition for the Education of Handicapped Children, Central Ohio Psychological Association, National Center for Law and the Handicapped and the Ohio chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Unity march is blocked

CAIRO (AP) — The proposed marriage of Egypt and Libya faced new strains today as Cairo barred thousands of Libyan "unity marchers" from the country.

Cairo Radio said Hafez Ghonem, secretary-general of Egypt's ruling Arab Socialist Union, had visited Col. Muammar Khadafy, the leader of the Libyan government, on Wednesday. It said Ghonem had arranged for the long procession to stop today at Mersa Matruh, on the Libyan-Egyptian border west of Alexandria.

A delegation of 100 was was to go on to Cairo with a message to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat written in blood and calling for early realization of the planned merger of the two neighboring Arab states.

The Libyans set out Tuesday for the Egyptian capital, and more than 2,000 vehicles were reported in the motorcade by the time it reached Benghazi, on the northeast coast of Libya.

See Moscow, Peking pushing Vietnam peace

SAIGON (AP) — The departing chief of Canada's peacekeeping delegation in Vietnam said today he is optimistic that Moscow and Peking will exert their influence for peace in Vietnam to improve their relations with Washington.

Ambassador Michel Gauvin left for Canada 12 days before his government pulls out of the International Commission of Control and Supervision. He said he is more optimistic about the prospects of peace in Vietnam than he was a month ago.

"This optimism is based on a number of assumptions which may prove wrong in the end," said the 53-year-old diplomat. "However, I am inclined to believe the key to peace in Vietnam is in the hands of Moscow and Peking, who are both interested in bettering their relations with the United States.

He criticized the two Communist members of the peace commission — Hungary and Poland — for refusing to condemn publicly the Viet Cong or the North Vietnamese for cease-fire violations.

"They say to us, 'but you understand, it is impossible for us, it would not be understood in the Communist bloc countries,'" Gauvin reported.

Gauvin is returning to his previous post, Canada's ambassador to Greece. He had postponed his departure for two weeks because the Viet Cong were holding two Canadian officers captured in Communist territory. They were released last Sunday.

The President's illness

That was a troubling news picture of President Nixon as he appeared not long before entering the hospital for treatment of a case of viral pneumonia.

His lined face was suggestive of deep fatigue, which may have played a part in his contracting the disease.

The impact was all the greater because Mr. Nixon has enjoyed excellent health for some years, and reportedly does not even suffer from such ordinary complaints as headaches. Let us hope that the present unaccustomed illness will soon pass.

We join millions of our fellow Americans in wishing the President a speedy recovery.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

HCL depleting government ranks

WASHINGTON — That old devil inflation hovers over the bureaucracy as it does over the citizenry across the country, and it has a lot to do with excellence in government and the drain of brain power.

The report, still kept confidential, of a high-level commission recommends a 25 per cent across-the-board increase for the executive branch of government, the judiciary and Congress.

This comes at a moment when by every index bureaucrats and politicans are less respected than at any time in this century. With the burgeoning scandals at all levels it would seem the wrong time to go after a pay raise.

Yet the commission, required by law to report to the President every four years, compiled extensive data to show that many top administrators are opting out, and these are the best and the brightest. They have had no increase in pay since 1969 and during that time the cost of living has jumped 25 per cent.

BUT WHAT about members of Congress? This is the large fly in the ointment. The last pay raise for Congress came on March 1, 1969, when senators and representatives went from $30,000 a year to $42,500.

With perquisities that is substantially increased. A member of Congress does not have to refund his postal allowance over the above what he actually needs. Free trips back to the state, free long-distance calls, staff pay — all these add up to a big plus for the incumbent. In terms of income it puts most members of Congress above $50,000.

To vote yourself a raise of $10,000 a year will not be popular back in the district. That is more than the income of millions of Americans. For families on relief it looks like the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

If the President fails to act on the recommendation of the commission and it goes over into 1974 — an election year when Congress would never vote a pay raise — then the whole matter can be postponed until 1977. By then the cost of living may have jumped to 35 per cent over 1969.

A measure has passed the Senate and will likely pass the House requiring the commission to make recommendations every two years instead of every four. Should that pass, a proposed pay increase could come in a supplementary budget, with action by Congress by early fall.

While all this may sound like mere bureaucratese touching only the slothful tax eaters, it gets down to the efficient direction of government. Civil servants at the top level of government are leaving to take pensions which include, unlike their salaries, a 6½ per cent increase geared to the cost of living.

Then they are free to take jobs in private business at $20,000 or $25,000 a year, and many are doing just that with business eager to get brainy men and women knowledgeable in the ways of government.

THE MAKE-WORK types stay on. More and more this is true. In the foreign service the number of early retirements by men of wide experience and ability is shocking. With the dollar devalued and costs going up they simply cannot afford to stay.

President Nixon's indignation at the Senate Foreign Relations Committee over the refusal to comfirm G. McMurtrie Godley as an Assistant Secretary of State is understandable. But he has sapped the morale of the State Department by putting ambassadorships on the political auction block, and not just the big posts but some fairly far down.

These are the conspicuous examples. When an able specialist on the Civil Service Commission or in the Office of Management and Budget takes a walk it makes no splash. But it leaves a hole in the structure of government not easily filled. The way is opened for appointments and promotions based on political favoritism.

Good government is no longer the concern of a few idealists. In this fantastically complex society it is essential to every citizen. And only able and committed men and women can effectively move the machinery of government.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Some kind words for dirty politics

A veteran of the ferocious clan wars which have enlivened Massachusetts politics since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary was reminiscing on Watergate.

"The thing I can't forgive those boyos," he said, "is how they're giving dirty politics a bad name."

A the risk of excommunicationby the League of Women Voters and excoriation by Common Cause, I confess I share his grievance. By the time the reformers get through, politics will be sanitized — and also, I fear anesthetized.

An election will resemble a religious service.

"HONEST" DIRTY POLITICS is as different from the CREEP modus operandi as night from day. For one thing, you never hired spies to plant in the other fellow's camp — there were always volunteers. There were plenty of dirty tricks, but you didn't involve the law-enforcement agencies of the government in the act.

And there was a geniality that went along with it — once the election was over, the contestants would sit around over drinks and delight in their various coups. The mongoose mentality — that "get the snakes" attitude which CREEP exuded — was missing.

Sure, things got rough on occasion, but there was always a recognition that your opponents were human beings to be licked, not things to be destroyed.

I got my first experience in "honest" dirty politics in Haverford, Pa., 25 years ago. A little background is in order.

Under Pennsylvania law, there had to be a minority inspector in each precinct who verified the election returns, challenged questionable voters, and the like.

The majority party, in this case the Republicans, had a vested interest in peace and quiet in the election hall and for years had packed the Democratic registration roll in order to control the primary (where precinct leaders and the minority inspector were elected). that is, the Republican boss simply told a hundred or so of his faithful to register Democratic.

To make a long story short, my wife and I and some friends organized to retrieve the Democratic Party from Republican control. We worked like beavers and narrowly won the next Democratic primary. When the votes were finally counted, the Republican boss came over to us and said: "You really turned your troops out. Congratulations and how about a drink?"

HOWEVER, he didn't give up. Two years later I got the new registration lists and immediately noticed that we had another hundred Democratic recruits. A quick check indicated that they were township employees and their families.

So "Sharkey" Brennan was mounting another raid, was he? Well, this time I was prepared. I went to see him and told him that the judge of elections, really a very decent fellow, was a potential jailbird. I had discovered he worked for the township emptying parking meters and it was an offense for any public employe to be a judge of elections.

However, I pointed out we thought highly of the man in question, he had been fair to us, and I saw no reason to go further with my case — if Brennan would stop raiding "my" primaries.

"You get around," he said. "How about a drink?" And that was the end of the primary raiding.

FOR THE REAL devotee, however, there is nothing to match the insertion of a third candidate who will hopefully split the opposition vote in an election. Margaret Truman describes how neatly her father's friends pulled this one off in 1940.

And the counter-stroke — which has become fashionable in New York mayoralty elections — of a fourth candidate. Or take the double primary raid, which is common in states like Wisconsin that have "open" primaries — that is, you can walk in on primary day and vote in either party's contest.

If, as in 1972, the Republican nomineee has no strong opponent, the state's Republicans can be deployed to vote in the Democratic primary — to help the saddest sack from the GOP viewpoint (in that case, Sen. McGovern).

The only way to counter this strategy is to try to find a Republican who can made enough trouble on the other side of the hill so the Rebublican voters will stay with their own primary ballot. Of course, if it is a quiet year on the Democratic hustings, Democrats can drop by to help pick the weakest Republican.

Will Watergate end all this fun? I hope not — life is boring enough already; taking the politics out of politics will make it intolerable.

"HOW'S THAT AGAIN, YOUNG LADY?"

Hal Boyle . . . Life with a terrarium

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Enjoy the beauty of plants without the worry," read the advertisement. "Needs no watering or care. Buy a terrarium."

Hah!

There are umpteen different kinds of terrariums — terraria? Some are easy to eliminate. They cost too much — up to $85 for a big glass bowl and a handful of dirt.

Having narrowed the price range I discovered other problems. Did I want a spherical terrarium or an egg-shaped one? How big an air hole should there be at the top? What kind of drainage stones should there be at the bottom?

The problem was solved by the discovery of a kit that contained everything from dirt to seeds — a major factor since most of the terrariums did not include any sort of plants.

Unfortunately, the six-page instruction booklet belied the claims of simplicity. One kind of seed had to be soaked for 24 hours before planting; the soil had to be prepared with exactly the right amount of water at exactly the right temperature. The seeds, none of which was bigger than a pin prick, had to be pressed into the soil just so, then covered with another layer of dirt — not too thick, mind you — and resprinkled.

After scurrying about for measuring cup, thermometer and plenty of paper towel to clean up the mess I was sure to make, I approached the terrarium bowl with the care of a surgeon. I doled out two cups of 80-degree water, pressed the seeds carefully into the soil, discovering in the process that it's very difficult to tell a seed from a piece of dirt.

Finally the terrarium was planted and placed on the windowsill. But wait. The instruction booklet said the temperature had to be at least 70 to 80 degrees. Out came the thermometer which registered 88 — uncomfortable for me, but at least the seeds should be happy.

I watched and waited. The instructions said ungerminated seeds should be watered with one tablespoon of 80-degree water. It didn't say how often, but every other day seemed to be a good compromise.

When I woke up in the morning, I'd rush to peer at the terrarium. Coming home in the evening, I'd scurry to see if I could spot anything growing.

Exactly eight days after my initial foray into gardening, patience was rewarded. Two tiny green sprouts appeared. Triumph!

But would they grow? Did they need fertilizer? Were they getting too much sun? Should they be rewatered?

The sprouts haven't died yet. Of course they haven't grown very much either. But I think I've spotted a little bit of green on my thumb.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Mom should start a 'get tough' policy

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 34. He has a shaky marriage and two fine children, ages 10 and 12. He has changed jobs frequently and is always in debt.

We like his wife. My husband and I have pulled them out of debt several times. It has cost us a total of $3,000. They have never mentioned paying us back.

The problem: Our son has won a trip to Hawaii on his job, but if he wants to take his wife he will have to pay her way. He doesn't have the few hundred dollars it would cost to take her, so naturally he is sort of looking in our direction for it.

They have never taken a trip together. (No money.) I think the trip might help their marriage and have told my husband how I feel, but he says I am a soft touch.

What should I do?

GOOD OLD MOM

DEAR MOM: Offer to lend him the money on a business basis. Ask him to sign a promissory note with a date set for repayment. And this time insist that he live up to his boligation.

And don't lend him more than the few hundred he needs. Good Old Mom has to be Tough Old Mom if she wants her son to be a real man.

DEAR ABBY: My sister, who is 62, and my brother-in-law, who is 57, have been happily married for 28 years.

Because of health reasons, my brother in law is contemplating retiring and will in time be collecting social security. Since my sister will also be eligible to collect social security, my brother-in-law suggested that my sister get her birth certificate. This is frightening my sister as she has never told her husband that she is five years older than he is. (He thinks they're the same age.) She was afriad if she told him her real age, when they first met, he wouldn't marry her.

Now my sister is afraid of repercussions as she has always been completely honest with her husband.

Do you thinks she should tell him now?

MINNIE

DEAR MINNIE: After 28 years of marriage, I doubt that your sister's husband would hold it against her for having knocked off five years of her age. I think she should tell him and get it over with. A 62-year-old woman who can pass for 57 needn't be ashamed.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Pam, was invited to be a brides maid. She was thrilled because she had never been in a wedding party before. The bride's mother invited all the girls in the wedding party to plan a shower for the bride.

We have a nice large finished basement party room, so Pam offered to have the shower at our house. The bride's mother said: "Oh, no, I want it at the '———' " (and she named an expensive restaurant.) The girls just looked at each other in amazement. Pam then asked the mother if she planned to help them financially, and she said: "Emphatically no, you girls are supposed to give this shower!"

The girls agreed to have it at a restaurant, to please the mother, but they chose a less expensive one. The next day the bride called my daughter and coldly said: "Pam, if you couldn't afford to be in my wedding party, why did you accept the invitation? I think it's best if you drop out, so I'm sending you the $20 deposit you put on the bridesmaid's gown, and I'm asking someone else instead. Goodby."

My daughter couldn't believe her ears.

Now, listen to his. This girl had the gall to send Pam an invitation to her wedding.

If you were she, what would you send her?

MOM

DEAR MOM: My regrets!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedy creator Bernard Slade has been at the plate 14 times in nine years and is batting .500.

Seven of his creations became series — including "The Partridge Family," "Bridget loves Bernie," "The Flying Nun," "Love on a Rooftop" and, upcoming on NBC, "The Girl with Something Extra."

There also was "Dr. Deeds Goes to Town" and the Bobby Sherman Show.

Slade, 43, is under contract to Screen Gems to turn out three pilot scripts a year. He also writes movies and plays.

Most creators stay with the show as producer or consultant, but Slade is one of the few who constantly is on to something new.

He admits he is not happy with what has happened to some of his ideas. He did not like the way "Bridget Loves Bernie" went and said he was not upset when CBS canceled the show in its first year.

Born in Canada and raised in England, Slade wrote his first professional script in 1957 when he was an actor. The play sold, and he became a full-time writer.

He wrote dramatic plays in the dying days of live television and switched to comedy when his first assignment on arriving in Hollywood in 1964 was for "Bewitched." He wrote 19 shows for that series, was story consultant on "My Living Doll" for a year and then was on his way to creating series with "Love on a Rooftop."

His newest show, "The Girl with Something Extra," stars Sally Field as a wife who can read the mind of her husband, played by John Davidson.

Slade says he doesn't see it as a gimmick show but as a study in attitudes. "If he has a childish emotion, he can't hide it from her," he said. "It's a challenge to see if a marriage can hold together with that honesty."

Milk marketing proposals slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Farmers Union says it will prepare specific proposals for changing the system of federal milk marketing orders to reflect goals cited in a research report ordered more than two years ago by the Agriculture Department.

The report, ordered by then Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, was published this week by the University of Wisconsin. It was written by Profs. Truman F. Graf, University of Wisconsin, and Robert E. Jacobson, Ohio State University.

Hardin initiated the two-year project at the request of the National Farmers Union to help find ways of absorbing larger amounts of fluid milk — Grade A. for bottling — into the nation's markets as farmers convert from the production of Grade B or manufacturing-grade milk.

The report, a 77-page detailed account of the problems and possible alternatives, listed a number of ways the conversion might be undertaken. It said substantial volumes of Grade B milk are potentially available for conversion to Grade A as marketing opportunities arise. In 1971, about 24 per cent of all U.S. milk was Grade B.

A basic problem is that as producers switch to Grade A, more milk will be competing for fluid markets and the additional supply could mean sharp price problems for producers.

Milk producers already suffer because the demand for milk has not kept pace with Grade A supply, the report said.

"Producer pay prices in the upper midwest suffer because of this lower utilization," the report said. "For example while 1972 blend price (combination of Grades A and B) in the 11 federal order markets in the west northcentral northern area averaged $5.64 per hundredweight, the average for all federal order markets was $6.31 and for the five South Atlantic order markets, $7.40 per hundredweight."

State anti-trust program pushed

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William J. Brown says his office plans to crack down on anti-trust violations as part of his program to protect Ohio consumers.

"This is something an attorney general never has done before, even though state law gives him specific authority," Brown said.

Brown said when he came into office in 1971, there was only one man working part time on anti-trust cases. The section now has a staff of 22, headed by C. Raymond Marvin, an assistant who helped Brown establish the enforcement machinery for the state's environmental protection laws.

The youthful attorney general, 33 a week ago today, said violations of anti-trust laws in Ohio are numerous and go untouched by federal anti-trust laws which generally involve only the major corporations.

"When you walk into a supermarket, and you see different brands of a product that are the same size, and they all cost the same, you have to know that this is not an accident," he said.

"Or if you go into a store to buy something that costs $500— not a luxury item but a necessity—and all the prices are the same, and then you find it cost only $60 to produce it, that has to tell you something," he added.

Brown indicated he was unhappy with the legislature for cutting his budget for the 1973-1975 biennium, and said the $200,000 cut means he won't be able to do some of the things he wants to do.

"But we won't cut antitrust— that'sone of the top priorities," he said.

He said the action by the legislature "may mean that they don't want an active attorney general. For years, the attorney general never did anything, he was just sort of a court jester. He would just sit around until the governor left or quit."

Besides environmental and anti-trust enforcement, Brown said, he also gives top priority to continued expansion of the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation as an aid to local law enforcement officials.

He said the bureau helped investigate 6,000 cases in 1970, 11,000 in 1972, "and at the rate we are going, we'll have 15,000 this year."

Brown also noted that instead of having just one laboratory at London, Ohio, the bureau now has additional police labs at Fremont, Cambridge, and Richfield, just outside of Akron.

Clarksburg plans annual Field Day Aug. 2

CLARKSBURG — Clarksburg's 58th annual Field Day will be held Thursday, Aug. 2, under sponsorship of the Clarksburg United Methodist Church.

Many attractions have been planned for the all-day and evening event to be held in the Clarksburg Field Day Grounds on Ohio 138, a half mile east of the village.

The Kingsmen, "Diplomats of Song" from North Carolina, will highlight the evening program. They have been singing professionally for 15 years and have traveled 125,000 miles each year singing and performing before large audiences carrying the good-will message of the city of Asheville and state of North Carolina.

They have rendered many civic services, state and nationwide, singing in churches, prisons, retirement homes, juveniles centers and for civic organizations. They were recently honored by the North Carolina State Legislature on "Kingsmen Appreciation Night". They will appear from 8 to 9:30 on the program.

Three bands have been scheduled for the event. The Adelphi Band will present both afternoon and evening concerts and the Senior Citizens Kitchen Band, of Chillicothe, and the Adena High School Band will give concerts in the afternoon.

There will also be music by the Ross County Jamboree following The Kingsmen Gospel Singers. A stereo record concert of country and Western music is scheduled from 6 to 7.

Other entertainment includes trap shooting, horseshoe pitching, pony rides, contests for boys and girls. A garden tractor pull will be held at 5 p.m.

Lunch will be served during the day and evening at refreshment stands and a fish and chicken dinner will be served beginning at 4:30 p.m.

St. Regis Paper Co. resumes production

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Preparations were being made today to resume production at the St. Regis Paper Co. here after members of the United Paper Workers Union ratified a new three-year contract for the second time.

Workers had approved the pact Saturday, seemingly ending a three-week strike. But a second vote was necessitated Wednesday, apparently because of a dispute with the international union.

PERSONALS

After spending several days the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B.E. Kelley while here making additional study of the ancient iron furnaces in this part of Ohio, Dr. Clyde Keeler of Milledgeville, Ga., returned home by plane Monday afternoon. While here Dr. Keeler, noted archaeologist and Viking authority, assisted in advancing the study of various phases of the ancient iron makers, and is deeply interested in obtaining proof that iron was being smelted in Ohio as early at 2,000 years ago, and that the Vikings or Norsemen were in America around 1,000 years ago as revealed by many runestones, one of which was found in West Virginia bearing date of 1,000 A.D. This was Dr. Keeler's seventh visit here in assisting The Fayette County Historical Society which is fathering the work and the Museum here is the official depository of ancient iron and other material from the several ancient iron furnaces, tow of which were in the southeastern part of Washington C.H.

Jill Williams gave an enthusiastic report of her experiences at Buckeye Girls' State, held at Capital University, Columbus.

The meeting was under the direction of the personal development committee with Mrs. Gayle Kelly, chairman. Members of the committee are Mrs. Patricia Hart, Mrs. Glenn Johnnson, Mrs. Mark King, Mrs. Homer Sanders, Miss Drusilla Rogers and Mrs. Richard Ware.

Mrs. Emily L. Leedy, Director of Women's Services Division, Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, was guest speaker. She began with the statement, "We've come along way-maybe." She told of many changes taking place and that a quiet revolution was going. There is a changing pattern in women's role. With the lifespan increasing, women are now 40 per cent of the work force, with the average woman worker 39 years old, and married. About 30 million women in this country are now working, with two out of five workers-women, three of them married women. While the role is changing, equal employment wage gap is continuing to increase. Mrs. Leedy quoted many startling statistics to show discrimination between men and women workers.

She also stated that future jobs do not require a four year college degree, and that 80 per cent of jobs will be in the technical and service areas.

About 265,000 families are headed by women, who are the sole bread winners for families with small children. The average man's wage is $11,500, while women's average is only $6,500.

Almost two-thirds of working women are doing so out of economic need. Ohio is far behind most states in legislation affecting women. Most of her rights are protected by federal laws. Women need to stick together for needed legislation - for equal rights and civil rights acts. Some now being considered in Ohio legislature are having a rough time - minimum wage law, adding sex to Civil Rights Act, Protective Labor Laws and Equal Rights Bill.

A hot line has been established and is toll free - 1800-282-0253. Women are urged to use it to express feelings about these important bills.

Senior Citizens, about 60 per cent women are in need of financial assistance and all need to work for legislation in that area.

Mrs. Leedy quoted inclosing, "New doors and windows are opening to all and women need to be the ones to follow through.

Mrs. Lee Cruea conducted the brief business session, when reports were presented.

It was announced that the Blood Bank will be sponsored by BPW Aug. 24 at First Christian Church, and the yard sale is planned at the home of Mrs. Emmett Backenstoe Sept. 8.

Strawberries star in dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's an American adaptation of a dessert from England. It's Strawberry Trifle and its main ingredients are the luscious red berries, ladyfingers and whipped cream. We made our own ladyfingers for this dessert, but if you want to sav time and energy you can use the packaged ones. Either way it's a delightful dessert worth serving as the sweet ending for a dinner party.

STRAWBERRY TRIFLE

Sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dash of salt
½ pint heavy cream
¼ cup port or sherry
Red food coloring
1 package (3 ounces) ladyfingers (about 12 whole separated into halves) or an equal number of homemade ladyfingers

Wash and hull strawberries. Reserve half a dozen whole strawberries for garnish. Puree half of remaining berries in electric blender; set aside. Slice remaining berries and sweeten with ¼ cup sugar; set aside.

In a midium saucepan thoroughly mix together 6 tablespoons sugar, the cornstarch, lemon juice and salt. Stir in pureed strawberries. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and clear. Cool.

Whip ½ cup of the cream. Fold the whipped cream, 2 tablespoons of the port and a few drops of red food color into cooled strawberry mixture.

Line the bottom and sides of a glass bowl (holding about 6 cups and preferably with straight sides) with halved ladyfingers. Sprinkle with the remaining 2 tablespoons port. Spoon half the sliced strawberries on top of ladyfingers; spoon half the strawberry-cream mixture over sliced strawberries. Repeat the two layers with remaining sliced strawberries and strawberry-cream mixture. Chill for several hours or longer.

Shortly before serving, whip remaining cream. Garnish trifle with 6 whipped cream and reserved whole strawberries.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

After you take a roast out of the oven let stand at room temperature for 15 to 20 minutes before carving.

How to make peach marmalade

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The old-fashioned art of "putting up" fruits in jam and jelly form is interesting cooks once again now that food products made without artificial preservatives have come to the fore. So if you want to have a large batch of pure Peach Marmalade at hand to use at home and to give as gifts, here is a reliable recipe.

PEACH MARMALADE

8 pounds fresh peaches
3 large oranges
4 large lemons
6 pounds sugar (13½ cups or 5 pounds and 2¼ cups)
1 tablespoon allspice

Peel peaches, remove pits and knife-chop finely. Cut oranges and lemons in quarters and remove seeds; put through coarse blade of food chopper. There should be 3 quarts chopped peaches and about 6 cups ground oranges and lemons.

Place peaches and ground fruit in a large kettle; add sugar and allspice. Over moderate heat, bring slowly to a boil, stirring often. Boil gently for 45 minutes, stirring often, until fruit is transulucent and the mixture sheets from a metal spoon. Remove from heat.

Skim off foam and ladle at once into hot-wide mouth jars. Fill to within ⅛ inch of top; add caps and screw on bands evenly and tightly. Invert for a few seconds and stand jars upright to cool.

Makes twenty 8-ounce jars.

Note: To make the sheet test to determine whether marmalade is ready, dip a cold metal spoon into the boiling mixture. When two drops form together and sheet off the spoon, the marmalade should be done.

Peaches star in dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

When you want to serve fresh peaches for a company dessert, consider offering them with Zabaglione. This is the warm foamy mixture that comes from Italian cruisine. The following version of it is an American adaptation.

Because egg yolks are used in Zabaglione, you'll have egg whites leftover. Put the whites in baby-food jars — one or two to a jar — and store in the freezer. Then when a recipe calls for egg whites only, you'll have them on hand. They thaw in a short time.

PEACH ZABALIONE

5 egg yolks
1 whole egg
¼ cup sugar
½ cup white wine
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
½ teaspoon ginger
8 fresh peaches, peeled and sliced

In a medium mixing bowl beat yolks and whole egg with electric beater until thickened; gradually beat in sugar. Continue to beat, if necessary, until tripled in bulk. Gradually beat in wine, lemon juice and ginger.

Pour mixture into top of double boiler, place over simmering water and beat until frothy and the consistency of whipped cream — about 8 minutes. Pour over sliced peaches in dessert dishes and serve at once.

Makes 8 servings.

Opening lead - eight of clubs.

You can't play bridge by rote. Situations occur where it is much more important to sense what's going on than to apply dry technical knowledge.

Consider this deal from the match between France and the United States in the 1971 world championship. Goldman and Lawrence, of the Dallas Aces, got to four hearts and West led the eight of clubs.

Lawrence eyed the lead with deep suspicion. Ordinarily, with this club combination, a finesse would be considered obligatory, but he asked himself whether it was really likely that West would select a club as his opening salvo if he had the king.

Lawrence came to the conclusion that, in view of the bidding, any lead but a club would have appeared more attractive to West if he had the king. Accordingly, he rose with the ace.

Then he led the jack of trumps from dummy, East following low, and continued with a trump, won by East with the ace. East played the king and another club, ruffed by West, but that was the end of the road for the defense, declarer discarding his spade loser on dummy's fourth club.

But declarer would have gone down two had he elected to finesse the opening club lead. East would win with the king and return a high club for West to ruff. West would exist with a spade, and the defenders would subsequently score a spade, a trump and another club ruff. Declarer would likewise have failed had East returned a low club instead of the king.

Thus it would be fair to say that the contract was made because declarer knew what was going on and the defenders didn't — which is at times the way of the world.

Dimes disappear; investors blamed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — It's been only eight years since the United States stopped minting silver dimes, quarters and half-dollars, yet most of these coins are out of circulation.

What's happened to those hundreds of millions of dollars in pre-1965 coins? According to the Pacific Coast Coin Exchange here, more than $500 million is held by private investors. A 55-pound bag of silver coins with face value of $1,000 currently is worth more than $1,800.

Heavy rain, hail falls in Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms dumped heavy rains into parts of the midcontinent today and hit scattered sections with high winds and large hail.

Four to 5 inches of rain drenched some parts of Kansas from late Wednesday to early today. Over an inch fell in a one-hour period at Topeka.

Thunderstorms produced 60 mile-per-hour winds at Norfolk, Neb., and 1.75-inch hail at Chatfield, southeast of Rochester, Minn.

Other thunderstorms were widely scattered over the Great Basin, the central and southern Rockies, western Texas and the Gulf coast.

Elsewhere, most of the nation enjoyed fair skies. However, hazy skies and some fog shrouded areas from Michigan and Illinois to Alabama and settled over the Appalachians and along the Pacific coast.

Cincy man reunited with family

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Shoemaker William Bartels is scheduled to meet his brother and sister in Germany today after a 45-year separation.

He expects to be met at the airport in Bremen, Germany, by his brother Lucas, 75, and sister Ges, 70. Lucas owns a blacksmith and repair shop in Scharrel and Ges lives there on a farm.

Bartels says Scharrel "was a farming town when I left. But now they tell me it has industry and a lot more changes."

Bartels came to Cincinnati because he had relatives here. He opened a shoe repair shop in 1930. His American-born wife, Dorothy, helps him at work.

Bartels planned a trip home just before Hitler came to power, but decided against it for fear he would be drafted into the German Army.

Fayette County municipalities get gas money

Municipalities in Fayette County received $9,431 this month in gasoline tax revenues, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. A total of $8,882,722 was distributed to Ohio's counties, townships, cities and villages.

Each of the 88 counties received $30,000 for a grand total of $2,640,000, while the 1,320 townships received payments of $1,200 each for a township total of $1,584,000, the Auditor said.

Some 964 cities and villages shared in a total of $4,658,722 on the basis of $1 per motor vehicle registered within their boundaries.

Gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes, Ferguson said.

The breakdown of the $9,431 by municipalities follows: Washington C. H., $8,153; Bloomingburg, $564; Jeffersonville, $550; Milledgeville, $114; New Holland, $28, and Octa, $22.

Police activity up 33 per cent

The number of incidents requiring action by police officers during June showed an increase of nearly 33 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Traffic arrests and other criminal arrests also showed a large increase over the previous year according to the monthly activity report released by Police Chief Rodman Scott.

"It's a vicious circle," Scott commented, pointing out that the more incidents or arrests his officers made the more paper work is required. "We often have officers working on reports or booking prisoners when they are really needed on the streets, especially on weekends."

"We have been operating one man short for the past two months and this along with regularly scheduled vacations stretches our men thin," he added.

OF THE 53 criminal offenses known to the department during the month there were 12 burglaries, 24 larcenies, one auto theft, one fraud investigation, two incidents involving drugs, an indecent exposure case, 10 destruction of property complaints, an obscene phone call investigation and an arson investigation.

There were a total of 71 traffic accidents in the city during the past month, an increase of 15 over the same period a year ago. A total of 12 persons were injured in the accidents which caused $19,068 in damage, or an average of $272 per accident. There were 30 arrests made in connection with the mishaps.

A total of 122 arrests, 78 traffic and 44 criminal, were made in June as compared with 93 in June of 1972. There were four arrests for possession of marijuana.

THE 915 CALLS requiring police action included, 12 assaults, 51 aided persons, 26 burglary complaints, a death investigation, 21 destruction of property complaints, 76 disturbance complaints, 38 dog or animal complaints, 57 domestic incidents, 38 reports of open doors or windows, 8 drug incidents, 13 funeral escorts, 13 fights, 22 fires, one gambling investigation, 2 indecent exposure incidents, 16 reports of sick or injured persons;

Ten intoxicated persons, 41 theft complaints, 22 lost or found articles, 3 mental complaints, 11 missing persons reports, 10 obscene phone call reports, 39 reports of prowlers, 2 sex offenses, 4 soliciting complaints, 4 suicide attempts, 86 suspicious car or person complaints, 4 reports of person with firearms, 37 traffic complaints, checks for 13 wanted persons, 78 miscellaneous calls and a total of 78 incidents involving juveniles.

City officers also made 74 appearances in court and handled 19 juvenile arrests.

There was 2,300 phone calls received by dispatchers and 4,475 radio messages originated. Dispatchers also sent 1,053 messages over the LEADS computer system.

Value of property stolen during the month totaled $3,088.87. Property recovered was valued at $1,777.47.

Driver charged after crash

One driver was cited by city police after one of three minor accidents investigated in the area Wednesday.

Officers said Nona C. Ford, 40, Sabina, was cited for changing lanes without safety following a collision at the intersection of Court and Main streets Wednesday morning.

Her car was eastbound in the curb lane and collided with another eastbound car driven by Gale May, 48, Rt. 1, as she attempted to change to the center lane.

There was moderate damage in the crash.

A boat was heavily damaged in an accident on Ohio 207, just north of Post Road, Wednesday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said the tongue on a boat trailer being towed behind a truck driven by Orlie E. May, 29, Orient, apparently broke from the trailer frame. The trailer went off the right side and collided with a guardrail. The impact threw the boat from the trailer over the guardrail and down a 50 foot embankment.

Officers said the 16 foot boat was heavily damaged.

Cars driven by Freddie Penwell, 20, of 716 E. Market St., and William D. Roe, 16, Rt. 2, were involved in a collision at the intersection of Court and Fayette streets at 12:25 p.m. Damage was moderate.

Relief subsidy funds received

Fayette County received $2,647.27 as its share of $3,876,909.30 distributed in June to Ohio's 88 counties as a general relief subsidy, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The subsidy program is financed entirely from state funds and is for the purpose of helping defray the administrative and general relief costs of the individual county welfare operations. It is in addition to the federal-state financed assistance programs, such as Aid for Dependent Children, Aged, Disabled and Blind.

The amounts received by area counties were: Clinton, $11,595.35; Greene, $76,684.11; Highland, $10,477.62; Madison $3,442.09; Pickaway, $5,309.06, and Ross, $12,422.26.

Fraud, theft cases listed

A failure-to-pay incident and theft of a camera were investigated by police and sheriff's departments Wednesday.

Sheriff's deputies said two men who left the Pure Plaza Restaurant, U.S. 35 and I-71, early Wednesday without paying for their meal were apprehended and later returned to the restaurant to settle their bill.

The pair was nabbed at the I-71 and U.S. 56 interchange after a waitress managed to obtain the license number of the car as they drove from the restaurant. They were released after paying $2.66 for the meals.

Mrs. Royce Kellenberger, 1010 Millwood Ave., reported the theft of a Polaroid camera and a lawn chair from her home. The camera was removed from a dresser and the chair from the lawn sometime after Sunday. Loss was set at $43.

Short circuit blamed for dairy store fire

A short circuit in an electric wire was blamed for a blaze at the Sagar Dairy Depot, 1304 N. North St., at 8:09 p.m. Wednesday

Firemen said the blaze caused minor damaged to a pop cooler. Firemen were on the scene about 20 minutes.

Firemen also were dispatched to a reported blaze in a truck at the rear of 320 Sycamore St. but when they arrived they could find no fire.

Economic questions being asked

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You are aware, of course, that in matters economic there is no gospel. The lamentable experiences of the past few years have taught the vainest of theorists that they might be wrong and that they must question.

—Now that limits on savings account interest have been raised, will customers be drawn away from the U.S. Savings Bond program?

The bond program has been thriving in the past few years because it offered not only a competitive 5.5 per cent interest rate but the convenience of payroll deduction, some tax benefits and the highest degree of security.

But now some banks will be offering a much higher return. Four-year certificates of deposit may pay 7.5 per cent or more if held to maturity.

In contrast, a savings bond yields 5.5 per cent only if held to maturity in 5 years, 10 months. If redeemed before then, the rate is considerably smaller.

While Treasury officials have expressed little public concern, prior experience demonstrates that small savers don't let patriotism stand in the way of a couple of percentage points.

—Why are corporations complaining about low stock market prices, especially for their own shares, when officers who manage corporate pension funds are sitting on their hands bemoaning the lack of market leadership?

Some companies manage their own funds, some delegate management authority to banks and others. In either case, the corporation is in a position to exert the market leadership it says is lacking.

Some pension funds are believed to hold cash ratios of 10 to 15 per cent or more of assets, suggesting they are waiting for the market to give indications of forward movement before committing themselves.

—Did the Agriculture Department overestimate the 1973 harvest?

If it did, then Phase 4 is going to be a lot more hectic than it might have been. And food prices could rise like leavened bread.

The department, whose record on forecasting food prices is poor, estimates that there will be record crops of soybeans and corn, essential foods for the production of meat, milk and eggs.

It foresees a harvest of 1.5 billion bushels of soybeans, compared with 1.28 million bushels last year. The corn crop is estimated at 5.9 billion bushels, topping by far the record of 5.64 billion set in 1971.

Contracts awarded for Air Force tires

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Air Force officials at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base announced Wednesday the awarding of contracts totaling more than $5 million to the Goodyear and Uniroyal companies for aircraft tires.

Goodyear in Akron got three contracts totaling $4.7 million to make tires for fighter-bombers and other planes. Uniroyal of Detroit was awarded a $1.1 million contract to make tires for the T-37 and T-38 jet planes.

Blaze damage heavy

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Do-Nothing-Ism

In some modern minds, the legendary Confucian advice to "see no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil" has been translated into one simple rule: "Don't get involved." Do nothing, says this rule, and you won't get into trouble.

To a considerable degree, do-nothing-ism has been sanctioned by the common law. Traditionally we have been reluctant to impose any legal penalty for the mere failure to be helpful.

For example, courts have turned down damage claims against the following individuals:

1) A man who watched impassively while a young woman drowned, even though he could easily have gone to her aid;

2) A man who called no warning to a neighbor's child whom he saw hammering on a tube of gunpowder;

3) A man who failed to remove a rock from the roadway, even though he knew it was a menace to traffic.

In each case the moral duty was plain enough. But the courts all agreed that moral duties were a matter of conscience, not law.

IN RECENT YEARS, however, the law has been requiring people to lend a hand in an increasing number of situations — notably, when there is a special relationship between the parties.

Thus, courts have imposed an affirmative duty on a host toward his guest, on a store toward its customer, on a hotel toward its patron, on a railroad toward its passengers.

Legislators, too, may create a duty to act in specific circumstances. Under hit-and-run statutes, for instance, a motorist may be required to give aid to accident victims regardless of whether he was legally to blame for the accident.

This kind of responsibility is based neither on fault nor on any special relationship. Rather, it is based on a humanitarian feeling that when the moral duty is so clear, the law ought to put muscle behind it.

COLUMBUS — The board of directors of BancOhio Corp. Wednesday declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per common share payable Sept. 14, to shareholders of record Aug. 31, Philip F. Searle, president and chief executive officer of BancOhio, announces.

Shareholders of BancOhio stock may have these cash dividends reinvested in additional shares of the corporation's common stock through the automatic dividend reinvestment service. If shareholders, who are not currently enrolled, sign the agreement prior to Aug. 31, the September dividend would be reinvested in full or fractional shares which would begin to earn dividends immediately.

BancOhio Corp., Ohio's largest multi-bank holding company since its incorporation in 1929, reported 36 affiliate banks which operate 177 banking offices on June 30. On that same date, BancOhio showed total consolidated assets in excess of $2.7 billion.

3 motorcycle club members arraigned in dynamite case

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Arraignment for three members of the Outlaws Motorcycle Club was set for today in Hamilton County Criminal Court.

The three were apprehended early Wednesday when police stopped a truck belonging to club president Thor Hansen. Hansen is sought in connection with three dynamite bombings of a rival gang.

Glen McPhee, 22, Bay City, Mich.; Allen Wolfe, 26, Youngstown, Ohio and William Hoecker, 24, New Baltimore, were charged with carrying concealed firearms.

Mrs. Donahey to run again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Treasurer Gertrude W. Donahey Wednesday turned down nomination for a post on the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. saying she will run for re-election next year.

Mrs. Donahey made her decision known to Sen. Robert A. Taft Jr., R-Ohio, who had nominated her.

"Since I am the first woman elected to a state executive office in this state, I feel it incumbent upon me to place my record before the voters for their opinion of the service I have rendered," she said.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Fire Prevention Is Essential

One of the most gratifying experiences in my total practice of medicine occurred the other day.

I received a letter form a family who said that they owed their lives to a suggestion I had made in one of my columns.

This waste can be eliminated by concentration on the preventable causes of fire. Even with such effort, fires do occur. In such situations, proper fire drills can at least spare the lives of children and adults.

It is absolutely essential that everyone in the home be prepared for a fire emergency. National and local fire prevention agencies have for years had educational campaigns designed to save lives in the home, the school, in office buildings and factories.

There is no need to terrify anyone during fire drills. Children in the home can in fact learn the life-saving program almost as a game to insure their understanding of the need for protection.

As children grow older, their obligation to younger children in the family gives them new responsibilities.

A good deal of information is available in pamphlets and booklets provided by your local Fire Dpeartment. Your family will then know the importance of closing doors in certain situations, and how to curtail the spread of an early smoldering fire.

Prevention of fires and the methods by which small fires can be extinguished are all part of this planned anti-fire program.

A vast amount of money is spent on hospitals, medicines, and physicians in an effort to restore the health of a single member of the family.

It is a paradox, therefore, that these families can rarely be induced to ferret out the danger spots and fire hazards that lie within the so-called "safety" of their homes.

It may be just a small town, but it's all his

LOTTS CREEK, Iowa (AP) — Realtor Oliver Carlson has bought himself the near-ghost town of Lotts Creek for $4,400 and plans to pump some life into it and into his pocketbook.

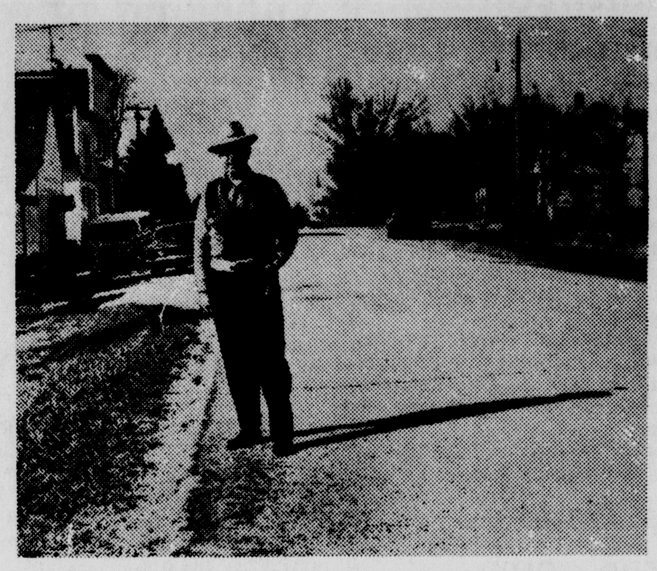
The decision came when the Algona, Iowa, man was having coffee with a fellow realtor who suggested, "Why don't you buy Lotts Creek."

That was in August 1971. Carlson bought one side of the street then and recently completed purchase of the other side of the block-long "downtown" area of this town near the Minnesota Border.

His six buildings include a former general store, hardware store, locker plant, feed store, creamery turned into a cheese factory, and what once was a buttermaker's residence.

Carlson, who allows that some folks "think I'm a little eccentric," says he also owns Oak Lake near Algona along with four other persons. It's a 100-acre sports oasis for snowmobiling and skiing if you like being towed, and "minor league" fishermen can go after bullheads.

At Lotts Creek, Carlson would like to convert the general store and hardware store into vintage museums and antique sales shops.



TOWN OWNER--Realtor Oliver Carlson of Algona, Iowa, stands on the street of Lotts Creek, Iowa, which he recently purchased. The village has six old commercial buildings and a residence.

HE'D OFFER the brick creamery to a small business, explaining, "I'd like to see one that would employ a dozen or 15 people. We need small industries so our young people don't have to go somewhere else."

Right now, Lotts Creek has a population of three in the heart of town — Carl Pijahn, 63, who's lived there since 1919, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pijohn. They own their own place.

If you want to stretch the boundaries half a mile north, you could take n a couple of farms, a church and vacant church school building, plus three other residences.

Carlson, a talkative 49-year-old, would like to restore buildings on both sides the streets much like they were in the 1800s. He has a photograph to work from.

"WE HAVE to preserve some old landmarks or there won't be any left to preserve," said Carlson, who says he has his eyes on a couple of upcoming celebrations with which to coordinate his ideas for rural restoration.

One is the centennial of Lotts Creek Lutheran Church in 1975.

The other is the U.S. bicentennial in 1976, and Carlson is convinced the itch for antique buying among many Americans will increase through that time.

Lotts Creek also has some Indian-settlers lore. Heny Lott reportedly was the first white settler in the area. He clashed with Indians after some of them invaded his place, so the story goes, and slew Chief Sidominduta, a Sisseton Sioux and others in the redman's family.

That brought Indian revenge against white settlers which some historical accounts call the Spirit Lake massacre.

Nutrition gets buyer attention

NEW YORK (AP) — Nutrition ranks second only to price as a food-buying consideration, according to an in-depth study of homemaker attitudes conducted by Hoffmann-La Roche Inc.

The study also indicated that the homemaker believes that breakfast is the most important meal — and the meal that most needs nutritional improvement.

The research was based on a series of panel discussions involving women whose ages, educations and incomes varied widely.

"The study focused on the homemaker because she purchases about 90 per cent of the food products, and is chiefly responsible for preparing and distributing food to her family," said John W. Gage, food nutrition marketing manager.

Fat and fast

CONWAY, Wales (AP) — Scientists at a government experimental station here have discovered that oysters have moods.

The scientists have found by monitoring the heartbeat of the crustaceans that they grow plumper and faster when they are happy.

ON THE HOUSE

That includes drapes, blinds, pictures and knick-knacks as well as the regular furniture.

Refinishing a floor generally means sanding it down to the bare wood and then applying either a penetrating or a surface finish. At best, it's a rather tough and somewhat messy job.

Even though the drum-type floor sander which you will rent has a dust bag attached to it, there is no way to prevent a certain amount of grit from settling on everything, including the walls and ceiling.

The cleanup task, which must be done before the finishing material is applies, is a lot easier when everything removable has been taken out of the room.

When renting a sander, rent an edging machine at the same time. It will enable you to sand close to the wall and in other areas which cannot be reached by the big sander. And be sure you take possession of the sander on the day you are going to use it.

Too many persons rent the sander for a Tuesday, for example, then spend part of that day removing furniture, taking down drapes, replacing protruding nailheads and tightening loose boards — only to discover they can't really get to the sander until the next day, thus paying for an extra day's rental unnecessarily.

Have the dealer show you how to operate the machine and change the sandpaper, since you will be using three different grades of paper — coarse, medium and fine.

While there are some authorities who recommend sanding the floor diagonally across the boards on the first cut, others say that all three cuts should be parallel with the boards.

I agree with the latter school of thought, with the possible exception of a floor in usually bad shape. Of course, the first cut will be with the coarse paper, the second with the medium and the third with the fine.

THE MACHINE is always started when the sanding drum is tilted back away from the floor.

If you start the motor while the drum is on the floor, an unwanted grove will be made. In the same way, just before you complete the length of the floor and must change position, tilt back the drum, then stop the motor.

To sum it up, the only time the sanding drum should be in contact with the floor is when you are pushing the machine.

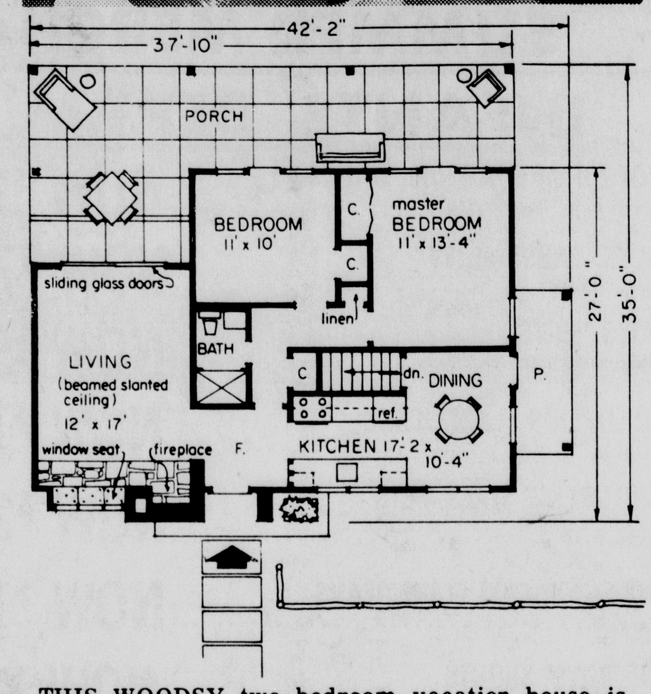
After the floor has been sanded, vacuum every inch of surface in the room — walls, ceiling, floor and woodwork.

There is a wide choice of finishing materials. Varnish, shellac and the many synthetics are surface coatings. The penetrating finishes sink into the wood.

Whichever type you use, a coat of wax will add to its durability. If you don't have a buffing machine, you can rent one.

Here, too, it is wise to arrange the rental so that the buffer doesn't say around the house a couple of days without being used.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS



THIS WOODSY two bedroom vacation house is modest in size. Since outdoor living is of prime importance in a summer home, the rear porch provides almost half the amount of living space as the indoors. Both bedrooms and the living room have direct access to the porch. The fireplace and window seat are designed as an integral unit with a slate hearth spanning the entire width of the living room. The single bathroom is so located to serve as a powder room near the foyer. Plan HA788M has 863 square feet. Anyone interested in knowing the price of the blueprint may write to architect Rudolph A. Mantern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N.Y. 11501.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures
By SYD KRONISH

Did you know that the U.S. Postal Service has a rival system handling mail in this country — one that issues its own stamps?

It is called the Independent Postal System of America, founded five years ago in Oklahoma City and operating in some 30 states where it distributes 2nd, 3rd and 4th class mail. The IPSA does not have first class items.

The U.S. Postal Service, naturally, does not allow the IPSA mail to be handled through its channels and has been waging a vigorous campaign to curtail the inroads made by its competitor.

The private, nongovernmental organization has been issuing its own stamps to place on the mail it carries. The first set was issued five years ago and the second series of IPSA stamps is now off the presses. The new stamps are in five denominations — 4, 5, 20, 25 and 75 cents.

Stamp collectors, a hardy breed of hobbyists, are keeping a sticky eye on the issuances of the IPSA stamps and some may even be getting the items and placing them in a book marked "for future reference."

Thomas M. Murray, founder and head of IPSA, drew national attention and the concern of U.S. officials when he offered to deliver a hundred million Christmas cards with the first IPSA 5-cent holiday stamp in 1971 and give the 3 cent profit differential back to Uncle Sam.

A court order prevented federal use of this stamp but did not interfere with the distribution and use of the IPSA stamps in the course of its own delivery service.

LYNDON B. JOHNSON'S favorite portrait of himself appears on the U.S. memorial 8-cent stamp to be issued Aug. 27 in Austin, Tex., not far from the ranch where he died Jan. 22. The portrait by Madame Elizabeth Shoumatoff hangs in the White House.

As previously reported in this column, the new stamp honoring the 36th President was scheduled to coincide with his 65th birthday and first day ceremonies will be held at the LBJ Library.

The U.S. Postal Service traditionally

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send their requests to "Johnson Stamp, Postmaster, Austin, Tex. 78710." Enclose the proper remittance (certified check or money order) and mail it no later than Aug. 27.

The Weeders Guide

The term "organic," according to Dr. Maurice L. Vitosh of Michigan State University, generally refers to growing crops with natural fertilizers (plant and animal materials) without the help of manufactured chemical fertilizers.

"In comparing organic and inorganic materials, it is a fallacy to think plants considered organically grown are produced from organic nutrients," says Vitosh.

"Before a plant can take up nutrients from organic materials in the soil, the material must first be broken down and converted to inorganic nutrients. Therefore, the so-called organically produced food actually is inorganically grown."

This means that when a plant takes up a nutrient from the soil, it neither knows nor cares whether the nutrient was manufactured in a chemical fertilizer or grew naturally in plant or animal materials.

"Chemical fertilizers," Vitosh adds, "can provide a readily available source of nutrients where optimum conditions do not exist for organic materials in the soil to decompose or convert to nutrients."

It is a matter of economics whether to use chemical fertilizer, he says. Several tons per acre of organic fertilizer are needed to prevent nutrient deficiencies in many field crops. Use organic fertilizer where it is available inexpensively, he advises gardeners.

Vitosh says the inorganic fertilizer, nitrogen, actually creates organic matter in soil. It helps plant growth, thus increasing the quality of organic plant residues returned to the soil as stalks, stems, leaves and roots. And in his defense of inorganic fertilizers, Vitosh says there was no scientific evidence that food grown without them was more nutritional or better tasting.

THE ANIMAL topiary gardens of the late Miss Alice Brayton at Portsmouth, R.I., is open to the public this summer for the first time. The 80 sculptured trees and shrubs include a policeman, sailboat, peacock, elephant, giraffe, cat, dog and lion.

BITTERNUT SQUASH should remain on the vine until fully mature. Gather before fall frost, harvesting with part of the stem attached. Store for winter in 45-55 degree temperature.

Slice lengthways and cook until tender with the seeds removed. They are great with the Thanksgiving dinner and make a good potato substitute, even as French fries.

THEY SAY: Blue among flowers is the least common color because it is the color of the sky, against which most flowers must contrast to attract insects for pollination. Blue flowers are mostly low growing (forget-me-nots, ageratum and pansies) to contrast with foliage.

There are many perennials in the world of flowers. Do you know any perennial vegetables? The two most popular are asparagus and rhubarb. Many gardners buy these as roots for fast results but they may be raised from seed.

Rhubarb from seed requires two years to reach adequate size. Asparagus will take at least three years before they should be cut regularly and fully.

Here's the Answer

Q. — I will be putting up some shelves soon. I have bought metal brackets and intend to screw them into the wall studs, but I am puzzled as to whether the long or shot leg of each bracket should be attached to the wall.

A. — If you have the proper size bracket, the chances are that placement of the long leg under the shelf would make it extend beyond the undersurface of the wood.

Since that would be unsightly as well as impractical, it is obvious that the short leg always goes under the wood or, to put it another way, the long leg always is attached to the wall.

Q. — Two years ago, I placed some wooden fence posts into the ground. All of them have loosened even though I set them in concrete after first resting them on about 2 inches of gravel.

A neighbor says I didn't set them deep enough. I am going to take them up and start over again. How much should the posts go into the ground?

A. — The hole for the post should be about 1½ to 4 feet deep, depending on the length of the post. A rough rule-of-thumb is that about one-third of the post should be in the ground. Also, the bottom of the hole should be a bit wider than the top, which should be between 8 and 12 inches.

When the post is in the ground and the concrete mix poured, trowel the mix at ground level so that it slopes away from the post, permitting rain water to flow away from the post.

Q. — I frequently use the premixed cement products. I find them satisfactory, but I can never seem to figure out how much is needed for a particular job, with the result that sometimes I mix too much, sometimes too little. Is there any way of deciding how much to use?

A. — The manufacturers of premixed cements have a chart which gives you an idea of the proper quantities to mix with water.

But first let's establish that the gravel mix is for strong concrete, the sand mix for stucco and concrete patching, the mortar mix for laying bricks, stones and blocks. An 80-pound bag of sand mix covers 8 square feet one inch thick.

An 80-pound bag of mortar mix will lay approximately 40 bricks or 14 blocks with a half-inch joint. A 90-pound bag of gravel mix will make 4 square feet of concrete 2 inches thick.

Q. — What is meant by a "wash" coat of shellac?

A. — It's a rather general term meaning a small portion of shellac to a large portion of denatured alcohol. It can range from three to 10 times the amount of alcohol to shellac.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON — Just before the July 4 recess, Congress approved a 5.6 per cent increase in Social Security benefits effective the month of June 1974. This increase is a full six months ahead of the first scheduled automatic increase adjustment which Congress provided for last year.

The reason for the early increase is that prices rose so rapidly this year — much faster than anticipated when Congress first approved the automatic cost-of-living increase schedule for Social Security benefits.

With prices jumping a full 5.6 per cent, it became obvious that those living on fixed incomes, particularly those depending on their Social Security benefits, would be extremely hard pressed to make ends meet until the first regularly scheduled increase was made.

Essentially, this latest legislation allows the Social Security beneficiaries to receive a portion of this first automatic benefit increase in their checks for June of next year.

In addition, it raises the maximum a Social Security recipient can earn without loss of benefits from $2,100 a year to $2,400, effective Jan. 1, 1974.

This change in the retirement test will provide for additional benefits of $200 million for 1974 for approximately one-and-a-half-million beneficiaries.

THE LAW also increases the Social Security taxable wage base to $12,600 next Jan. 1 to help pay for the new benefits, thus boosting the maximum tax in 1974 from $702 to $738.

Finally, the new law raises the federal welfare guarantees for the aged, blind and disabled from $130 to $140 a month for single persons and from $195 a month to $210 for couples, effective next July 1, and requires the states to make up the difference if their welfare payments are higher than the federal guarantees.

With all of these changes, the average monthly Social Security pensions will go up from $161 to $170 for an individual and from $277 to $293 for a couple.

During the debate in the House on these increases. however, the question of how this Social Security raise would affect beneficiaries also receiving veterans' pensions was discussed at length. Last year, with the 20 per cent Social Security increase, many such individuals either lost their veterans' pensions altogether or saw them reduced because their Social Security benefits were included in the VA income limitation category.

THIS IS a matter over which I am deeply concerned, and I have introduced legislation to correct the problem.

Members of the Veterans Affairs Committee, which deals with this matter, explained that they are now in the process of investigating ways to alleviate this situation, and it is possible that by next year remedial legislation could be enacted to protect veterans' pensions inadvertently lowered by Social Security increases.

It is important to note, however, that the new 5.6 per cent Social Security increase would not become effective until June 1, 1974. Under the veterans' law, because of the end-of-the-year rule, no pensioner under the VA programs would be required to report or count the additional Social Security increase until January 1975.

Therefore, even though the Social Security recipients would begin to receive their increased benefits on July 3, 1974, their VA pensions would not be affected by the increase until the following January.

Before any such pension reductions are made, however, I am hopeful that legislation can be enacted to prevent this. We must insure that all Social Security and VA pension recipients receive the full benefits to which they are justly entitled.

County is low in per-pupil school costs

Fayette County is in the lower 35 per cent of Ohio counties in the per pupil cost of operating public schools.

The average per-pupil cost here is estimated at $622 compared with an average of $818 throughout the state, according to the Ohio Public Expenditure Council.

Within the county, the rates, according to the Council, are $615 per pupil for the Miami Trace District, and $632 for city schools. Of the 620 school districts in the state, Miami Trace is 20th from the bottom in the per pupil total cost.

In the city district, the $632 includes $304 per pupil in State Foundation Program Aid and estimated property taxes of $328. In the county system, the $615 figures include $238 in Foundation aid and $377 in property taxes.

School taxes in Fayette County average $24.37 per $1,000 of taxable value. The county rate is $21.95 and the city rate is $29.25. The levies for operation of the schools are $20.25 for county schools, and $24.55 in the city for a county average of $21.68. The state average is $30.59 for operation and $34.87 for operation and building programs.

According to the Council there are 3,826 students in the Miami Trace system and 2,655 in the city schools.

Kosco stars as Reds win

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Reserve outfielder Andy Kosco of Cincinnati says a new attitude helps him believe he can "hit anyone."

Wednesday night, he tried his positive thinking on Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton and liked the results.

Kosco, making one of his rare starts, drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a double to lead the Reds to a 7-3 victory over Philadelphia.

"About 90 per cent of this game is mental," said Kosco, who nearly quit baseball this spring when shipped to the minor leagues.

Cincinnati acquired Kosco and Phil Gagliano from Boston this spring for pitcher Mel Behney, Kosco was assigned to the Reds' farm team at Indianapolis.

"After you've been in the big leagues for six or seven years, you get spoiled," said Kosco. "I went home for four or five days to think about it. I wasn't sure what I wanted to do."

A series of trades last month left the Reds looking for depth and Kosco was called up to join the seventh major league club of his 14-year career.

One of the best tips Kosco received after his promotion came last week from a former Philadelphia second baseman who often had problems with a bat.

His name was Sparky Anderson, who in 1959 had a career-low batting of .218 with the Phils.

Anderson told Kosco he was moving his body into a pitch too fast to get power in his swing. Kosco responded during his next at-bat with a homer.

"Sparky told me he didn't care how many times I struck out as long as I was swinging the bat hard," he said.

Batting instructor Ted Kluzewski also detected a flaw.

"Most batting instructors try to change everything. Klu was simple and changed just one thing. It really helped me and I don't think I'll stop hitting for some time," Kosco said.

"Now I don't believe anyone can get me out," said Kosco, who had only a .100 batting average a week ago.

Carlton was cruising along with a 1-0 lead after five innings when the Reds broke through with three straight doubles by Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and Dave Concepcion. An intentional walk to Johnny Bench backfired when Kosco hit his homer to deal Carlton his 10th loss of the season. Carlton has nine wins.

Left Tom Hall upped his record to 6-4 with a 10-strikeout performance that produced Cincinnati's 14th win against five losses in July. The victory allowed the Reds to finish their season play against the Phils with an 8-4 mark.

The Reds, who reached the million mark in attendance for the fourth consecutive year, open a four-game series with Montreal tonight. Ross Grimsley, 9-5, will oppose Bill Stoneman, 4-5.

Padres stop fading Cubs, 8-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I've always believed that August and September are the crucial months of the season," says Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell. Whitey Lockman of the Chicago Cubs isn't even thinking that far ahead.

"Losing six in a row is not what I consider real adversity," Lockman said Wednesday after his Cubs lost 8-5 to San Diego in Chicago and nearly handed their first-place berth in the National League East to St. Louis. "The Cardinals are hot, but by the time we play them here the last weekend of July, we might be six or seven games ahead of them."

In the rest of the National League, Pittsburgh downed Los Angeles 3-2, the New York Mets lambasted Atlanta 12-2, Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 7-3 and Montreal edged Houston 3-2 in 10 innings.

Giants 8, Cardinals 3

The Cards were victimized by San Francisco's 14-hit attack. Gary Matthews led it with a two-run homer and a run-scoring double and Tito Fuentes kicked in with a pair of RBI singles in the Giants' 8-3 victory.

But St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst was hardly pessimistic after failing to take over first place, recalling that the Cards tried and failed four times before finally getting to the .500 break-even point.

Pirates 3, Dodgers 2

Stargell's 27th home run of the season in the sixth inning snapped a tie, gave Pittsburgh a 3-2 decision and halted Los Angeles' winning streak at seven games.

He had a perfect four-for-four night with two singles, a double and the home run.

Mets 12, Braves 2

Rusty Staub led the Mets' 15-hit, 12-2 stampeding of the Braves with five runs batted in on a pair of homers, his ninth and 10th of the season, and a bases-loaded walk.

Reds 7, Phillies 3

Andy Kosco had a hand in both of the rallies that carried Cincinnati past the Steve Carlton and the Phillies 7-3. Successive doubles by Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and Dave Concepcion gave the Reds two quick runs in the sixth inning and, after a walk, Kosco gave them three more with his second home run.

Expos 3, Astros 2

The Expos' Ron Hunt, who has a habit of getting hit by pitches, did it again—for the 22nd time this year and the (ouch!) 225th time of his black-and-blue career. It happened leading off the 10th inning against Houston's Cecil Upshaw.

Upshaw wasn't around long enough to get upset. Juan Pizarro took the mound immediately—and a few minutes later, with Hunt on third, unleashed a wild pitch that let Hunt come home with the decisive run.

JUST FOR KICKS — George Blanda, veteran Oakland Raider quarterback, was unsuccessful with this kick. The aging star tried to boot a football across a river in Chicago, but the banks were too far apart.

LL stars win, 5-4

Washington C.H.'s Little League all-stars, with a sparkling defensive performance, edged Dayton View 5-4 Wednesday night in Dayton to take the first step in the district tournament.

Washington C.H., by virtue of the victory, will host Fairborn American at 3 p.m. Saturday at Wilson Field. Fairborn American was the winner of its opening round game Wednesday.

Playing as the home team, Washington C.H. scored two runs in its half of the first inning on two hits, and held on to the lead the rest of the way.

In the second inning, manager Chuck Howard's team came up with two hits but couldn't score. Washington C.H. wrapped up the triumph in the fifth frame, scoring three times on two hits.

Joe Smith led the WCH offensive thrust with a single and a double. Adding singles were Fred Jones, Glen Cobb, Marty Huffman and Ron West.

Although Washington C.H. benefited from good pitching and timely hitting, the key to the victory was slick fielding. Several players turned in fine plays.

Royal Blue wins twice

Royal Blue won two games Wednesday in Jeffersonville Little League play, one of them the completion of a game stopped earlier in the season. In the completed game, Royal Blue edged Fayette County Bank 5-4. In the regular game, it was 16-9. The Merchants dumped Dinkler Plastics 7-0 in the other game.

Darrell Williams was the winning pitcher in the suspended game, while Kevin Anderson took the loss. Tony Knox singled twice and Williams had a double for Royal Blue, while Anderson tripled and homered and Tom Valentine singled twice for the Bank.

In the regular game, Kirk McDonald was the winning pitcher and had a double. Tim Glispie singled and doubled and Knox had two singles for Royal Blue, while Anderson had a double and two singles for the Bank. Dale Jordan was the losing pitcher.

Do Do Time wins Scioto Downs race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Do Do Time came on strong in the stretch to win the featured race at Scioto Downs by three-quarters of a length Wednesday night and returned $12.40, $5.60 and $3.40.

Slick Time paid $9 and $5.40 for second and Principal, $3 for show.

Old Blue and Hideaway Butch combined for a 2-6 daily double payoff of $29. The 3-4 quinella was worth $24.30.

Lee pitches Red Sox to win over Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As American League pitchers go, Bill Lee and Jim Colborn are not exactly household names.

Both were named to the American League All-Star team earlier this week, however, and Wednesday they showed why.

Lee, rumored to be on Boston's trading block this spring, pitched the Red Sox to a 6-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox, scattering eight hits. The victory moved Boston 1½ games behind the first-place New York Yankees in the AL East.

Tommy Harper provided the batting support for Lee against the White Sox, belting a three-run home run — his fourth homer in the past week.

Colborn, meanwhile, hurled a five-hitter—despite having his disagreements with home plate umpire Joe Brinkman—as the Milwaukee Brewers posted a 3-0 win over the Texas Rangers.

"He made me fight all the way tonight," noted Colborn.

"I understand he later called me a crybaby. It's a good thing I didn't hear him say that, or I would have been kicked out of the game."

Dave May cracked a two-run homer to back Colborn up.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Minnesota Twins blanked the New York Yankees 3-0, the Detroit Tigers routed the Kansas City Royals 14-4, the Baltimore Orioles stopped the Oakland A's 5-2 and the Cleveland Indians beat the California Angels 10-8 in 11 innings.

Twins 3, Yankees 0

Veteran Jim Kaat scattered six hits and designated hitter Tony Oliva smacked a two-run homer, leading the Twins to a 3-0 decision over New York at Yankee Stadium.

"I had my best stuff today, even better than when I pitched a one-hitter at California earlier this month," Kaat said.

Tigers 14, Royals 4

The Tigers tied their season highs for runs and hits, routing the Royals 14-4 with an 18-hit barrage highlighted by three-run homers by Gates Brown and Dick McAuliffe.

Micky Stanley and Duke Sims also homered for Detroit, while little Freddie Patek homered for Kansas City.

Orioles 5, A's 2

Merv Rettenmund led off the game with a homer, then added a two-run blast in the second inning, sending the Orioles on their way to a 5-2 decision over the Oakland A's.

Jim Palmer, 10-6, fired a six-hitter for Baltimore. Oakland's runs came on a two-run homer by Gene Tenace in the second inning, his 17th of the season.

Indians 10, Angels 8

John Ellis' two-out, two-run homer in the 11th inning lifted the Indians to a 10-8 decision over the Angels.

California had jumped out to an 8-3 lead on the strength of a five-run second inning. But Cleveland chipped away at the lead, tying the score with two runs in the ninth on singles by Buddy Bell and Oscar Gamble, a wild pitch and a single by Charlie Spikes.

Lilly's grid future uncertain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All-Pro defensive tackle Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys has canceled a news conference today in Dallas at which he had been expected to announce his retirement from the National Football League.

A team spokesman said late Wednesday night that the unhappy Lilly will fly back today to Thousand Oaks, Calif., where the team is training, with Tex Schramm, the club's general manager.

The spokesman, said, however, that Lilly has not reached a firm decision on whether to play another season in the NFL. An associate said the 33-year-old Lilly's decision to retire was caused by "a combination of a lot of things. There are a lot of unhappy players in camp."

If Lilly does not yield the Schramm's entreaties, he would become one of a long line of Cowboys who have retired since the end of last season. Center Dave Manders retired Tuesday, while off-season exits included such Cowboy stars as Lance Alworth, Chuck Howley, Mike Ditka and George Andrea.

Quarterback Craig Morton has also absented himself from the Cowboy camp because of a contract hassle.

While departures were worrying the Cowboy coaching staff, it was the return of running back Duane Thomas that was creating a stir in the training camp of the San Diego Chargers.

Coach Harland Svare lifted the suspension he had placed on the moody former Dallas Cowboy star when he failed to report on time Sunday. Svare said, however, that an undisclosed fine would stick despite Thomas' return. Svare said Thomas phoned him Tuesday night and asked to come to camp.

Teammates are still waiting to welcome Larry Brown who is trying something that is a new first in the bizarre world of contract negotiations.

The 1972 NFL most valuable player has not reported to the Wasington Redskins training camp at Carlisle, Pa. because he said he wants an agreement on a multi-year contract, beginning with 1974, after his current three-year pact ends.

In effect, what Brown is doing is holding out a year in advance, and Edward Bennett Williams, Redskins president, is having none of it.

Dennis Homan announced that he was retiring from pro football, after three years at Dallas and two at Kansas City. The pass catcher was sidelined much of last season with a hamstring injury.

Veteran running back Greg Jones left the San Francisco 49er camp, apparently ending his football career, while the 49ers placed eight other players on waivers.

The Dolphins announced that Larry Csonka had pulled a thigh muscle during a training camp workout and might miss the July 27 game against the College All-Stars in Chicago. Coach Don Shula said the injury will sideline Csonka for seven to 10 days.

The Philadelphia Eagles suffered their second major injury of the preseason when 260-pound rookie tackle Branislav Keser tore ligaments in his leg.

Dixie 500 time trials start today

HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) — It will be David Pearson in his Wood brothers' Mercury against Bobby Allison and Cale Yarborough in fast Chevrolets today in the race for the pole position of Sunday's Dixie 500 stock car race.

Pearson, winner of eight of his last nine races in the Mercury and about to become only the second million dollar winner in the racing sport, tops the list of driving aces shooting for the initial 12 spots in the starting field of 40.

Twelve other positions will be filled in time trials Friday and the final 16 spots on Saturday. The $102,880 race, a 500-mile test over the 1.52-mile, high-banked Atlanta International Raceway asphalt oval, is slated for 1:30 p.m., EDT, Sunday.

Pearson, 38, in his 14th year on the Grand National circuit, has earned $970,500. Sunday's race is worth $16,000 to the winner.

Kennedy to retire from NBA when pact runs out in 1975

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Kennedy, who has announced his retirement as National Basketball Association commissioner when his contract expires on June 1, 1975, says he has no intention of being a "lame-duck" czar in the next two years.

"I won't be a lame-duck, nor will I be a dead duck," the affable Kennedy said at a news conference Wednesday in disclosing his future plans. "I hope to be a live goose."

Kennedy, commissioner since Sept. 1, 1963, will help choose his successor in addition to tending to his duties as commissioner for the next two years. He and Ned Irish, president of the New York Knicks and a founder of the league since its inception in 1946 as the Basketball Association of America, have been named by the league's owners as members of the screening committee to find a successor to the outgoing commissioner.

Kennedy, who will be 62 when he retires, emphasized there was no pressure on him to relinquish his position, despite two published reports in the past two months that he would be fired.

"I owe it to my family (his wife, three children and two grandchildren) to devote more time to them, to do more traveling, which I enjoy, and to do more work for the public service organizations of which I am a member," he said.

However, when he relinquishes his post as commissioner, the devoted Kennedy will not completely sever his ties with the NBA. He will be a consultant for the league, at a salary in excess of $500,000 for 10 years.

Irish also said that the League's Board of Governors, at its meeting in Beverly Hills, Calif., late last month, had offered Kennedy an extension of his present five-year contract, but he rejected it.

Trevino sets busy summer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lee Trevino is back on his old, hardworking routine, a schedule that made him pro golf's fastest millionaire and an almost instant superstar.

"I'm going to play at least eight weeks in a row," Trevino said before teeing off today in the first round of the $210,000 St. Louis Childrens' Hospital Classic.

Earlier this year, Trevino experimented by taking time off to prepare for the big events— skipping competition in weeks prior to the American and British Opens. He didn't win either tourney.

In fact, he hasn't won since early in March, has only two triumphs this year and has collected only some $30,000 in the past three months.

3 rookie running backs look good to Brown

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals coach Paul Brown Wednesday tabbed three rookie running backs who are giving the veterans a run for their money—and their jobs.

Brown said Charles Clark of Bethune-Cookman, Bob McCall of Arizona and Joe Wilson of Holy Cross have definite possibilities.

NEW SCOREBOARD — Workmen completed installation of the new football scoreboard at Gardner Park Stadium Tuesday. The board was purchased by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. for about $2,200. The main feature of the new facility is a digital clock, replacing the often-confusing circular model. The old scoreboard was in use about 15 years.

Cook determined to play or quit

"I'll quit before I sit on the bench," said the Cincinnati Bengals quarterback as he attempts a comeback after three years out of football.

"I've never been No. 2 and I don't plan to be now," said Cook, who was touted as a blond Joe Namath after his sensational rookie season in 1969.

"I'm still not back to what I can be or will," the trim, floppy-haired Cook says confidently. "All I need to do though is throw, throw, throw."

"It's been a lot of hills and valleys, but mostly one big valley," said Cook of his forced retirement.

"It's been a big void being away from football," he said as the Bengals work out in preparation for their Aug. 4 exhibition opener against World Champion Miami.

Cook, whose passing helped produce a 4-9-1 record in 1969— best mark ever by a second-year expansion club — says the difference between the Bengals four years ago and now "is like night and day. On paper we have an excellent team.

"We're so much better off now. We've got so much more experience and better people per position," said Cook, who passed for 1,854 yards and 15 touchdowns in his initial season.

The 6-foot-4, 212-pound former University of Cincinnati passing standout was considered one of football's bright young prospects after leading the Bengals to three major upsets in 1969.

"We're not pressing him," Brown said. "He gets exasperated with himself. He knows what he was before and keeps thinking about it."

Jeff, Willis score wins in BR play

Willis Insurance and Jeffersonville posted wins Wednesday in Fayette Babe Ruth League play, keeping them both in the thick of the pennant scramble with 8-4 records. Willis rolled over the Medics 13-0 at Roszmann Field while Jeffersonville bopped visiting Bloomingburg 8-4.

Willis banged 12 hits in the abbreviated contest, with Stackhouse and Wilson belting three apiece. Doug Maddux drove in four runs, with English and Wilson knocking in three apiece.

Willis plated four runs in the second inning, three in the third and six in the fourth.

Jeffersonville erupted for seven runs in the first inning and coasted on to its win over Bloomingburg.

Smith cracked a pair of doubles and Spears had a double and a single to lead Jeffersonville's eight-hit attack.

Bobbitt was the winning pitcher, with four strikeouts. He yielded four hits.

Connors took the loss for Bloomingburg. He fanned seven.

Scottie S victorious at Latonia Raceway

3 Dodgers chosen for NL all-stars

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cincinnati Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson, has shown his respect for the Los Angeles pitching staff in making his selections for a pitching staff for the National League All-Star team.

Starters Claude Osteen, 11-6, and Don Sutton, 12-5, and reliever Jim Brewer were among the eight pitchers Anderson selected for the National League All-Star team that will face the American League next Tuesday night in Kansas City.

Anderson's other All-Star pitchers will be Jack Billingham of the Reds, Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, Wayne Twitchell of Philadelphia, Rick Wise of St. Louis and Dave Giusti of Piitsburgh.

Seaver was picked to play in the midsummer baseball classic a seventh straight year. Osteen and Sutton are the only other 1973 selections who have seen All-Star Game action.

Anderson chose six righthanders and just two lefties— Osteen and Brewer.

Anderson will announce the remainder of the National League squad Friday. League batting leader Manny Mota of the Dodgers is among the players hoping for admission to the team then.

Mixed reaction to Phase 4 in Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation reacted to President Nixon's new Phase 4 price rules Wednesday with general approval and predictions of fast-rising food prices.

But a supermarket chain condemned the regulations as more "artificial restraints" and a labor leader predicted the effects of the program would be disastrous.

C. William Swank of the Farm Bureau said that under Phase 4, the nation's food supplies and prices should get back to normal.

"However, I don't think food prices will ever get back to as low as they were before," he added.

Swank said he didn't feel food prices should be lowered to previous standards because "food prices are just now starting to catch up with the rest of the economy."

He predicted food prices would rise 15 or 20 per cent "as soon as it is legally possible," and then level off about 10 per cent over current prices by October.

Swank said meat prices would depend on the cost of grain. "If grain prices rise, farmers will sell grain rather than livestock," he said.

Swank had one criticism of the new price rules.

"I don't understand the continued price freeze on beef. It only means that the public will be without beef for that much longer," he said.

He said Americans would have to give up other luxuries now because they will have to bid with the rest of the world for food.

Under Phase 4, price increases will be permitted only when they reflect an actual dollar-for-dollar increase in the cost of raw agricultural products since June 8.

Beef prices will remain frozen until Sept. 12, when manufacturers and processors will be allowed to pass on all cost increases on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

The freeze will remain on other sectors of the economy until Aug. 12, when increases can only reflect actual cost hikes.

The 5.5 per cent guideline on wages continues.

The Kroger Co., headquartered in Cincinnati, predicted that the "artificial restraints" will cause some products to disappear from store shelves.

The company said those restraints would also prolong price increases which it said will be necessary if supermarkets are to stay in business.

A spokesman for the company said the supermarket industry is already under stress because it is the only industry which has been consistently under strict controls and unable to pass along all its increased costs since August, 1971.

"With industry profits already at an all-time low of six-tenths of one penny per dollar of sales, there is no leeway to absorb continued increases in operating costs, for example taxes, wages and fuels," Kroger said.

Frank King, president of the Ohio AFL-CIO, said Phase 4 will be a disaster.

"It's another one of those hit and miss deals—they always hit the working man and miss the other guy," he said.

King said the real "hooker" in the program is the provision for allowing price increases.

"Who determines what their costs are?" he asked. "How can the working man know what their costs are?"

Carl Fazio, chairman of the board of the Fisher-Fazio-Costa supermarket chain in Cleveland, said increased costs for food at his stores will be passed on to the consumer dollar-for-dollar, with nothing added for more profits.

"We will cooperate fully with the government as we have always done," Fazio continued. "The free economy system is best for the country. Hopefully we will get back to the free enterprise system where prices are determined by supply and demand."

Arthur Genshaft, president of Superior's Barn Meats, Inc. in Massillon, said he'll rehire the 100 employes he laid off a week ago as soon as prices stabilize and "we can come out alive.

"If producers are holding back, and enough supplies come in, prices might level off quickly," Genshaft noted. "We are at the mercy of livestock producers."

A representative of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. said the President's message "removes what might have been a major barrier to the increase we need." The phone company is currently seeking a $98 million rate increase from the Ohio Public Utilities Commission.

Spokesmen for Standard Oil of Ohio said they don't expect ceilings on gasoline and crude oil to have any big effect on the company because the firm's wholesale price hasn't changed in three years.

Defense offers its testimony in heroin trial

The state rested and the defense opened its case Wednesday in the case of Tommy Lee James, alleged seller of heroin in the Lima area, who was brought here for trial after an Allen County jury failed to reach a verdict.

An official of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs from Cleveland testified that a "white powder" allegedly bought from James was in fact heroin.

The defense opened with the Allen County sheriff and clerk of courts who testified to the background of the state's key witness, Bate LeMaster. They brought documents showing his criminal record which indicated that he had been arrested on numerous occasions, including a conviction for use of heroin a few months prior to the arrest of James.

Four other witnesses appeared for the defense Wednesday. They have been lodged in correctional institutions after pleading guilty to drug charges. All had been arrested during the raid which resulted in James' arrest.

Their testimony was filled with contradiction. One stated she had seen no drugs at the apartment the night of the raid, but during cross-examination admitted that a strip search at the Allen County Jail the night of the raid had disclosed $500 worth of heroin hidden on her person.

Three of the witnesses testified that LeMaster, the alleged buyer and police informer, had come to the apartment, but was told to get out. They said that he asked for drugs, but was told that he could get none there. The Fourth testified that he was in the apartment all day and all night, and that LeMaster never came there at all.

The defense will call two more witnesses before James himself takes the stand later Thursday.

REV. AND MRS. WILEY R. BAKER

New minister named for rural churches

STAUNTON — The Rev. Wiley R. Baker has accepted the pastorate of the Staunton and White Oak Grove churches, following 15 days of retirement from another church. He replaces Rev. Henry Simmons who has left the ministry for health reasons.

He had served in the ministry for 30 years prior to his retirement in June, but 15 days later the district superintendent asked him to serve at Staunton and White Oak. After meeting some members of the congregations, the Rev. Mr. Baker accepted the position.

Mr. Baker had begun his ministry in West Virginia but transferred to the West Ohio Conference in 1960.

The Rev. and Mrs. Baker have moved into the Gardner Retirement Center, 223 W. Circle Ave.

Minimum pay bill passage set; Nixon veto expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans say that unless a bill to raise the minimum wage to $2.20 an hour is scaled down, it faces an almost certain veto by President Nixon.

A final vote on the measure was set for today after the Senate on Wednesday rebuffed attempts to substitute the GOP proposal, generally acceptable to the Nixon administration, for the bill drawn by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

Sponsors of the GOP substitute, turned down 57 to 40, said they are now hoping to amend the bill section by section. They claim the bill will speed inflation unless modified.

The vote against the less-generous substitute came despite cautioning from Republicans that the committee bill would probably be vetoed by President Nixon.

Sens. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., main sponsors of the committee bill, were expected to defend it today against the renewed Republican attacks.

Although the GOP substitute would raise the basic minimum wage to $2.30 an hour by 1977, rather than to $2.20 in 1974, there were major differences involving who would be eligible for the minimum.

The Republican version would extend minimum-wage coverage—but not overtime—to five million federal, state and local government employes. It would not change existing exemptions or create new ones.

The committee bill would extend coverage—with overtime— to the same government employes. In addition, it would bring one million domestic servants under minimum wage, and extend coverage, with overtime, to 562,000 employes of small businesses, and to workers in such small manufacturing-selling operations as bakeries and lumber yards.

The main bill also would repeal exemptions that have denied the minimum wage to migrant and seasonal farm workers.

Backers of the committee bill described it as a humanitarian approach to helping low-income workers. But opponents pictured it as a threat to Nixon's economic-stabilization program.

Williams said his committee rejected the contention that a successful anti-inflation program "depends upon keeping the income of millions of American workers below officially established poverty levels."

Viet bonus plan OKd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A joint conference committee of the Ohio legislature reached agreement today on a constitutional resolution to pay bonuses of up to $500 each to the state's Vietnam war veterans.

The action virtually assured approval by the two chambers. Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, the main sponsor, said the House and Senate probably will vote on the proposal Monday or Tuesday.

It would go before voters in November.

Riffe said the conferees agreed for the bonus to be funded from the general revenue fund in anticipation of proceeds from a state lottery.

Families of deceased veterans would get $1,000.

Summer activities and out-of-town business prevented any action by the Washington Zoning Board of Appeals at its Wednesday night meeting. Due to a lack of a quorum the meeting was continued.

One member is in Europe, another was out-of-town on business, and a third member was in Dayton with a Little League baseball team.

Two cases are currently pending before the board.

The SX-70 is here.

Perhaps once or twice in a lifetime, there comes an invention so radically new, it actually changes the way we live our lives.

The virtual cascade of revolutions, mechanical, chemical, optical and electronic, that made the SX-70 possible had only one purpose: to free you from everything cumbersome and tedious about picture-taking, so that it could become at last the simple creative act it should be.

Now that all you need to do is frame your picture, bring it instantly into perfect focus and push a button, now that the picture is automatically delivered into your hand in less than two seconds, to time itself and develop into a photograph of a depth and brilliance unparalleled in amateur photography, what might once have seemed like a family duty or even just an interesting hobby, can become a spontaneous and constant pleasure in your daily life.
